The following article, relative to Bert Grover formerly of this vicinity, appeared in Sunday's State Journal

Bert Grover, Lincoln pitcher who has been sold to Des Moines, ambled in here last spring, paying his own carfare when Howard Wakefield, the manager, did not call him. Grover was on the reserve list, which came to Lincoln with the Sioux City franchise. Grover gave the club good pitching. He is classed among the smartest twirlers in the league. "Bugs" had a habit of provoking a batter by playing with the ball in such a manner between pitches that the batter would begin to believe Grover was lifting stitches or roughing the pellet. It got on the hitter's nerves. He worked in thirty-one games last season, losing eighteen and winning thirteen with a club that was never in the first division all season.

O'NEILL DOGS COP HONORS AT MID-WEST DOG SHOW

O'Neill dogdom is all swelled up and even its tramp dogs are swaggering a little over the return from the Omaha kennel show of four members of its aristocracy with enough silverware to stock a jewelry shop and sufficient ribbons to make a crazy quilt. The blue bloods of which it is so proud are Purcell Peggy O'Neill, Purcell Maggie O'Neill and Purcell Jiggs O'Neill, the property of E. N. Purcell; and X. L. Jingo, owned by Ed O'Donnell. Peggy, Maggie and Jiggs are Irish water spaniels. X. L. Jingo is a pointer. Peggy, a two year old bitch, won a first against all bitches. Maggie, a puppy bitch, won a silver medal and a first as the best bitch in her class. Jiggs, a puppy dog, won first against all dogs winners in his class and a silver medal as the best dog in the show. Then competing against Maggie, he won a silver tray, as the best of the breed at the show.

X. L. Jingo in the Nebraska Field Trial club competition won first as the best in the American bred class, a silver medal as winner in special classes and a silver vase and the sweepstakes for all pointers.

There were 403 dogs on exhibition at the show, from nineteen different states, and a total of 606 entries in the several classes.

LEAVES FROM THE BOOK OF NEBRASKA

With a tree for a town hall

WHEN the Overland Trail was the busiest highway in America, with thousands of Mormons on their way, and endless wagon trains, with tens of thousands of gold seekers bound for California, and home-seekers heading for the Oregon country, a single cottonwood growing near the present site of Central City was a landmark on the long, weary journey.

Afterward, in the early homesteading days of Nebraska, this tree served as a community center where public questions were discussed and neighborhood business transacted.

The railroad passed close by. But not far away were the tepees of the Sioux. Battle, murder and sudden death claimed many of the brave pioneers—both men and women—who laid the foundations of prosperous, peaceful Nebraska.

Paved streets, electric lights, comfortable homes shaded by trees, and the luxuries of modern civilization which Central City and scores of other Nebraska communities enjoy today, are the result and the reward of the bold pioneer spirit. It drives Nebraska forward to new triumphs.

Today, Nebraska has an automobile and a telephone for every five inhabitants. The average value of a Nebraska farm is three times the value of the average farm throughout the nation. Her annual income from agricultural products exceeds half a billion dollars. The income from her other industries is even larger. Here is a proud record and an inspiration.

When the sod houses rose on the buffalo plains in all parts of the state, there came the need of oil for the lamps and lanterns and later for the labor-saving oil cook stoves and heaters. With the coming of automobiles, tractors and individual home lighting plants and water systems, convenient supplies of gasoline became a necessity.

In the development of a state-wide service of supply, first of kerosene and later of gasoline and lubricating oils for all purposes, the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska was the pioneer, sharing both hard times and prosperity.

Directed and operated in and for Nebraska, the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska is a Nebraska institution that seeks to render service adequate to the needs of every community in the state—to every resident.
