Mark Twain's Reason for Not Asking Loan

Dr. Clarence C. Rice of New York, who introduced Mark Twain to H. H. Rogers in 1894, when the fortunes of the writer had failed, and thus got the American humorist back on his feet financially, has told his experiences with Mark Twain as a patient, says a writer in the Mentor.

According to Doctor Rice, Mark Twain was never seriously ill till the final illness. Doctor Rice writes: "Mark Twain was never ill—just colds. I would take his temperature occasionally, but he generally insisted that it was only a bluff and that the thermometer was put in his mouth to keep him from talking. He told me that old yarn of the patient who obtained a prescription from his physician and, after looking at the paper, asked how much the medicine would cost. When the doctor told him that it would cost about $2 the patient requested the physician to loan him the $2. The indignant doctor finally said: 'Here are the $2; give me the prescription. I want to make an alteration. I'm scratching out the nerve tonic; you won't need that.' Mark Twain observed: 'I have always admired that man. That was a noble piece of graft. I have thought of trying the game on you, but I've never seen the time when I thought you had the $2.'"

Got Her Clock Back

In "My Garden of Memory," Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, the famous authoress, tells a story of the time when she was the guest of some friends, and was kept from sleeping by the ticking of a clock in her bedroom. Finally, she had to place the clock among some blankets in a drawer. Leaving early next morning, she forgot to tell the maid about the clock, writes Puck in London Tit-Bits.

Three months afterward, in Germany she remembered it. She would have cabled, but it seemed bizarre to say, after an interval of many months: "Clock buried in guest room between blankets in bottom drawer. Impossible to sleep with it! Forgive!"

Instead, she wrote, and by copy came word from her former hostess that her new chambermaid had searched for and recovered the clock.

BREAKING A MULE.

(By F. O. Hazen.)

'Tho you're all used to it,
Open your mouth and take this bit!
You've stood and ate my grain and hay
But now you've some thing to learn today.

Get over a little! Now stand still!
You've something to do 'sides eat your fill.

Turn 'round, you brute! I don't know which
End of you I'd better hitch.

I guess there ain't no settled rule
By which a fellow can hitch a mule.

Whoa, there Molly, Don't have a bug!
Just wait 'till I hitch that other tug.
Now perk your ears and we're for town;

It wouldn't look nice to have them down.

Get up! Get up! Say are you dead
You haven't even wiggled your head.
Come on! Let's go! What ails you now

You're just as stubborn as a cow.
Why don't you start? You old Galoot,
Has all four feet took solid root?

Oh! Here we go and blast your hide.
The faster you go, the faster I ride.

But say, That bit is to guide you by!
A lot I care just to look at your eye.

Hey, Quit that kicking! Ain't you got no sense!

There goes the dash-board over the fence.

Gosh! That foot came close to me!
I'll bet the're laughing in that school,
Gee, its fierce to drive a mule.

Whoa, Molly! Whoa, Molly! Whoa, Molly! Whoa!

I couldn't get you started a while ago;
Now, you brute, you'll stop by heck,
Or I'll twist your head 'till I break your neck!

No! No! Molly: Come over this way,
You can never get over that stack of hay.

Well! I figured a mule did have some sense,
But you went thru that barbed wire fence.

Hey, Molly! You better wait a minute;
That creek has got water in it!
A fellow must be calm and cool,
If he's going to break a pesky mule.

Say, you mule. When will you stop?
I'm not good for another flip-flop.
I see, in the fracas, we lost a wheel,
It's busted up just like I feel.

Now listen, mule; plague take your soul,

I'm still a hanging, 'tho I've lost control!

But sooner, or later, you'll go home, I'll bet!

And the folks will find I'm with you yet.

The folks may say, I'm a blasted fool;
But they can't say, I gave up the mule!

EMMET NEWS.

Lee Steskal has purchased a coupe from Tom Strong.

J. C. Graham is in Omaha this week purchasing his stock of winter goods from the wholesale dry goods houses.

J. B. Ryan sold his 320 acres, three miles northeast of Emmet, to a man from Clearwater. Guy Beckwith made the sale.

Will McCaffrey has accepted a position as traveling salesman for Crane & Co. His present headquarters is Grand Island, Nebr.

John Lowry and J. H. Bailey went to Garfield County on a hunting trip last Wednesday, the day before the blizzard. They are probably snowed in at some ranch house.

Joe McCaffrey and wife left on November 27th for their new home at Boulder, Col. They will make their future home with Leo McCaffrey who is janitor at the University of Colorado, at Boulder.

The snow storm hit Emmet hard. The snow is piled in places four feet high. And what makes it worse is that there are some people who do not clean the snow off their sidewalks.

Tom Strong has purchased from Herman Janzing, Sr., the McCaffrey house of ten rooms in Emmet. Tom has already taken possession and is going to run a rooming and boarding house. A place of this kind is badly needed in Emmet as the old hotel building is now used as a cold storage for wild animal skins.

While Jim Shorthill was working on the section last Saturday he saw a large coyote scratching in the snow. Jim ran to the depot for Ward Cosgrove's high powered rifle. Jim killed the coyote with one shot at an actual measured distance of two hundred and ten yards. Jim put a bullet through the coyote's eye. He says that is the way he always kills coyotes by hitting them in the eye.
