Was This O'Neill Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pillsa stimulant diuretic. This O'Neill case is one of many:

Mrs. M. D. Murphy, says: "I was so lame I couldn't straighten up and at night I was restless and unable to sleep. Mornings I got up feeling all "CASH PAID FOR FALSE TEETH, tired out and miserable. I had known of Doan's Pills doing good for others and this led me to try them. I got a box at Stout's Drug Store and I felt FORM AND RANCH LOANS, 5 AND much better after using them. I believe Doan's to be the best kidney remedy of all."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy-get Doan's Pills-the same that Mrs. Murphy had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ancient Harvest Rite

Whalton and one or two other oldashioned villages in Northumberland still preserve certain historic and curlous harvest festival rites, which many selieve date back to certain ceremonies of the ancient Druids. One of them is that of the "Kern Baby." The last sheaf of corn is deftly made into a doll. This is dressed in a white trock and ribbons and is carried in front of the last load to the village church for blessing.-London Answers.

Memorial to Peace The Portal of Peace is a massive concrete structure in the form of a gateway. It is located at Blaine, Wash., and was dedicated September 5, 1921, in honor of the peace between the United States and Canada, which had lasted for more than 100 years without a break. The memorial, which cost $40,000, stands 100 yards from the international boundary where the forty-ninth parallel meets Boundary

Smiles

"You can usually tell whether a smile is sincere or not," explained a young lawyer whose hobby is psychology. "A smile that appears quickly and disappears abruptly is hypocritical and forced. Sincerity is indicated when the smile dies away slowly. In the latter instance, the muscles resume their normal position progressively; the crease of good will and pleasure obliterate themselves gradually."

Few Sharks Attack Humans

The bureau of fisheries says that sharks sometimes enter relatively shallow water. Danger of attack from this form is very slight. That atarks do occasionally attack human beings is admitted, but the danger is far more remote than ordinary hazards of life, such as being killed by an automobile or death from the more common forms of disease.

ACROSS THE WAY

By SUSAN E. CLAGETT.

The cottage sat somewhat back from

"It will do, if I can only make the others see it," she thought. "Even if the roof leaks there must be one or two of the rooms that are habitable and the place will be a riot of beauty However, I see its possibilities because I so desire it. The place is really forlorn."

"Stick to the possibilities," a pleasant voice said behind her. "When the tery. weeds are cut and a few nails are driven into missing palings you will not know it."

The girl turned with a start, her eyes cold. She had not realized she had spoken aloud.

"It does look uncared for," the man continued, critically examining the cottage and its surroundings, "but I know its possibilities. If you wish, I will have it put in order at once."

"Are you the owner?" "I was born here. Strange how one lets the years pass without coming back. I have always meant to come, but never did. I think," he said refor just this." He turned and looked at her for the first time. "You are a stranger to the place."

She nodded toward the big house across the way. "I am visiting friends, but I would like to remain all summer if the cottage is practicable."

"It will be ready when you are ready," he declared.

At the dinner table that night she told of what she had done. Margaret Alden listened with troubled face. "How could you, Nan?" she said at last. "You know how we want you with us." "I know," Nan answered soberly, "but I must lead my own life, Margaret. Over there will be home, across the way will be you, my dearest "Did he say what brought him?" Tom Alden interrupted.

"Who?" "The doctor-your prospective landder—yes, I did tell him you were stay- journed until 1 o'clock p. m. ing with us. He seemed interested."

"Why, I never before saw the man." She had been in her home a month when the accident occurred that materially altered her outlook upon life. Up to that time she had been absorbed in her work as an illustrator and had succeeded beyond her utmost expectations. Then the seemingly impossible happened. She fell and broke her right arm and wrist-slipped upon the topmost step of the little stairway and fell to the bottom. Her mammy found her, a crumpled heap on the floor, and officers. picked her up as Wallace Irwin knocked at the open door.

He did not hesitate. With skillful fingers and a sure knowledge as to what he was about he made the girl comfortable. As he put the finishing touches to the bandages she opened her eyes and looked straight into the keen gray ones above her. Even in her pain their expression puzzled her. She had seen that look in the eyes of other men, but that it should lie in Wal lace Irwin's caused her wonderment and annoyance. Nan drew more within herself and he knew her reserve was due to his one moment of self-betrayal. Thereafter he was on his guard, but being the General fund: a man of swift action he could not long tolerate delay, and a few days after the accident he demanded her

"Why did you run away from me wo years ago, Nan?"

"Run away? Why should I?" She hesitated, looking at him oddly. "Is it really you? I did not know it."

"I have searched for you everywhere," he answered gravely.

"That was unnecessary." Her eyes flashed. "Uncle Dick had no right to make me a party to such a will-to parcel me out as he did his stocks and bonds. I preferred to make my Paddock Twp. own living, as I have done." "True. But he did leave you to me with the stocks and bonds, and it was Crescent Paint Co. up to me to find you."

Her glance was curious. "Were you Thos. Mains pleased to have a wife thrust upon you John Shald so arbitrary a manner—to be Harry Kopp forced to marry a girl, a stranger, be- O'Neill National Bank cause of the knoweldge she would be The Frontier penniless if you did not?"
