The O'Neill National Bank

Mrs. A. L. Willcox and Miss Helen Willcox visited relatives at Chambers Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilcox, now of Norfolk, drove up and visited O'Neill friends and relatives over Sunday.

The Woman's Working Society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. C. B. Scott Thursday, July 9th.

Mrs. Jesse Mills and children, of Omaha, are visiting her father, Emil Sniggs, and her grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca Davidson.

Dr. W. F. Finley left early Monday morning by auto for a ten days visit with his little daughter, Mary Joan, and relatives, at St. Paul, Minn.

Sumner Downey and son of the O'Neill Photo company, left Wednesday morning for Bonesteel and Winner, after which they will go on to the Black Hills in the interests of the company.

Judge W. H. Westover, of Rushville, came down to O'Neill Monday morning to preside at the hearing in district court of the case of the O'Neill National Bank vs. Brady brothers, a litigation over the transfer of property.

Dr. F. J. Kubitschek left Sunday morning for a several weeks vacation and visit with friends and relatives at Omaha and in Iowa. Mrs. Kubitschek and children, who preceded him a week, will return with him.

The cutting of small grain in Holt county now is in full progress. The grain is spotted, in many instances excellent stands being reported, while in others an exceedingly short stand. Corn is doing fine and one or two fields, including one belonging to Will Shaughnessy just east of town is ready to lay by. Haying will begin soon after the Fourth. Hay will be short this year, but of superior quality, the hay ranchmen and dealers report.

The regular bi-weekly dance at the country club was held Wednesday evening.

Henry Watterson Tomlinson gave another one of his highly enjoyable oldtime dances at the K. C. hall Tuesday evening.

W. F. Willging left Sunday evening for Deadwood and Lead, South Dakota, where he will visit friends and relatives over the Fourth, returning with Mrs. Willging, who has been visiting her parents at Lead for several weeks.

The Music Department of the Woman's Club has received a very fine set of reference books, The Grove's Musical Dictionary in Six Volumes. These have been placed in the Library, and are available for the use of the members of the club.

It is practically impossible to keep golf championships at home these days. Joe Baldwin of Ainsworth, won the O'Neill tournament, an outsider won the trans-Mississippi at the Omaha Field Club and now Fred Jungman of Atkinson has copped the grapes down at the Neligh tournament.

The big county crow hunt which been in progress for several months under command of Major General James McPharlin for the east side and Field Marshal Mose Campbell, of Atkinson, for the west side, concluded at midnight Tuesday. Official count of the crow casualties has not yet been completed.

"77" Wade, Joe Hunter, Henry Grady, Ed Peterson, Pat Shea and Ambrose Slatery composed a fishing party on the Elkhorn river below town Monday. No one got the limit. The affair was more to let "77" Wade try out his new casting rod and reel than to fish and the boys attribute their poor luck to the disturbance created in the water by Mr. Wade.

Judge Robert R. Dickson and C. B. Scott returned Sunday morning from Rat and Beaver lakes in Cherry county with their limit in bass. The bass were biting good, they report, but no large ones were secured. They did see a six pound bass, though, on their return from Rat and Beaver. The big fish had been captured at Marsh lake a few minutes before they reached the Marsh lake club house.

County Treasurer William Conklin has issued a call for all outstanding registered county warrants and the county now is on a cash basis for the first time in many years. The condition is due to heavy payments of back taxes some of them overdue for several years. It is estimated that taxes still due and to be paid this year will be sufficient to take care of current expenses and meet pending claims not yet allowed without the necessity of again registering warrants.

Ross Harris suffered a serious wound on the right arm Wednesday morning at Emmet as he was preparing to come to O'Neill. Mr. Harris had started his car and backed it out of the garage, leaving it idle while talking to Mrs. Harris. The vibration of the engine in some manner jarred the car into gear. A long gash requiring twelve stitches to close was cut in Mr. Harris right arm by the glass in the car door when he reached into the starting car to shut it off.

The strite soon may take over Goose Lake in southern Holt county as a state hunting and fishing resort and preserve. A conditional sales contract has been entered into with H. H. Dierks, the owner, under which Mr. Dierks is to sink a test well to ascertain whether a flow sufficient to supply the lake and insure it from going dry during years of extreme drouth. The tract included in the proposed purchase comprises approximately 400 acres, including the Hayes grove of about thirty acres.

The city of Omaha following the present custom of regulating everything by law has decided to let the city council regulate the weather by resolution instead of leaving this important function to mere government weather prophets. The weather forecast in the World Herald of Monday morning read: "By order of the city council: For Nebraska, fair and warmer." The council's action was made necessary by the recent cloudbursts, baby tornadoes and hail storms turned loose in the vicinity of the metropolis by irresponsible persons. Out-state attorneys however express grave doubts as to the right of the Omaha city council to regulate the weather anywhere in the state outside of the corporate limits of the city and point out that such a practice might result in untold harm to the agricultural interests of the central and western portion of Nebraska, which might need rain and need it badly while the city was pulling off some public gathering for which the council had ordered fair weather.

WHY MILK REMAINS SWEET

I have just installed a new Reid Milk Cooler and Aerator. The milk passes over the coils and cold water passes through them. The milk is cooled from 98 degrees to 55 degrees as fast as it is milked. The milk loses all the animal heat before being bottled and will remain sweet much longer. Due to the rapid increase in business since installing the cooler I believe it is a great help to my customers.

I have also built a large cooler holding 1200 pounds of ice for storing our butter and other dairy products. This insures you receiving them in the best of shape.

All the leading dealers in town handle our butter! When buying, ask them for it.
