O'NEILL OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATS STUART THURSDAY AFTERNOON

O'Neill this afternoon before the largest crowd assembled at a regular game this season defeated Stuart the most decisively the westenders have been walloped this year. The score was 9 to 3, which almost if not quite wipes out the sting of the defeats suffered at the hands of Holliday's boys earlier in the season. The way the O'Neill sluggers batted Mr. Miller around was scandalous and at times brutal. Fourteen hits were accumulated off him in the eight innings in which O'Neill was at bat, while in nine innings of trying the Stuart men only succeeded in hitting four of Allen's fancy ones. Two of these latter hits were in the first inning, Allman of Stuart, taking the first one and Higgenbotham bringing him in and also scoring a homer by knocking one over among the cars which extended well down into right field. The homerun which was the only one made in the game, was due to the failure to make the customary ground rule which only allows two bases on such occasions. However the absence of the rule was as fair to one side as another and Allen, who in addition to being a pitching ace is also O'Neill's most dependable batter, knocked two down in the same garden only to have them strike auto tires and bound back in. Stuart's two scores in the first inning may have caused them to opine that the game was to be easy pickings, but Allen was only fooling them in the first and the only other run allowed was in the fourth, after which came a long, long row of blanks. Brunning, Stuart's shortstop, made the only error the official scorer chalked up against them, and O'Neill was charged with four. All excusable however.

Fritz Doyle in center field and Joe Bazelman at second featured in the game. Bazelman accepted all that came to him and handled them in his faultless manner and the score book shows that Fritz in five times at bat crossed the homeplate three times and that Bazelman in four times up scored two of O'Neill's nine. The first double play on the home grounds this season came in the sixth, when Bishop for O'Neill on short, handled a hot one from Carroll of Stuart and passed it on to Bazelman, forced out Allman coming down from first and then completed the play to Person at first. All the O'Neill players were on their toes all of the time and the machine backing up Allen's masterful pitching moved like clockwork all of the time. Ross Harris of O'Neill umpired the strikes and balls. Allman of Stuart started out to umpire bases, but made an unfortunate, although unintentional, rank decision at second, and then retired in favor of Will Russ of Chambers. The umpiring was remarkably clean and clear of bias and members of both teams were united in praising the decisions of Mr. Harris behind the bat. But one unpleasant occurrence marred an otherwise perfect afternoon for O'Neill baseball fans who did not have their money on the opposing team. That was when an O'Neill fan, perhaps because of personal dislike or jealousy, attempted to rattle Umpire Harris by declaring that he had $10 on Stuart for the game. The insulting insinuation naturally aroused the manly ire of the umpire, who tendered his mask and plate to the intruder. The management and Chief of Police Hough in the future should be prompt and serve in suppressing such outbreaks.

Following are the statistics of the game:
Stuart—Allman, rf; Carroll, 2b; Holliday, 1b; Higgenbotham, lf; Hamilton, 3b; Murphy, c; DeLong, cf; Miller, p; Brunning, ss; Giblin, batted for Brunning in 9th.
O'Neill—F. Doyle, cf; E. Doyle, c; Harrington, 3b; Allen, p; Persons, 1b; Rouse, rf; Beha, lf; Bishop, ss; Bazelman, 2b

Batteries, Stuart, Miller and Murphy; O'Neill, Allen and Doyle. Two base hits, F. Doyle and Persons; Double plays, Bishop to Bazelman to Persons; Home run, Higgenbotham; Base Hits, off Miller 14, off Allen 4; Struck out by Miller 8; by Allen 13; Bases on balls off Miller 1, off Allen 3; Hit by pitcher by Miller 2, by Allen 2; Errors Stuart 1, O'Neill 4.

Immediately following the ball game the crowd gathered at the Bazelman corner on south fourth street where the water fight took place between the Orchard and O'Neill firemen teams. The personnel of the visiting team was Glen Miller, Harold Browning and Homer Walmer, the same fighting team that won the water fight here July 4th; Jim Davidson, Bert Gunn and Ed Hagensick composed the O'Neill team. Both teams were evenly matched and put up an excellent exhibition. The fight was decided a draw after about fifteen minutes of fighting, neither side having made a material gain on the other. The boys on each team were stickers and stood against the heavy pressure unflinchingly. No doubt another fight will be arranged later to settle the question of "who is the best."

LATTER DAY SAINTS REUNION.

The annual reunion of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints opened at Inman on Friday of last week. This is an event of long standing among the members of the church in central Nebraska, the reunion having been held at Inman for many years. The people gathered from various places, camping, others living in wagons, or boarding during their stay. The reunion lasts for ten days, each day being occupied in religious and social activities. Devotional and class hours for old and young fill the forenoon and a part of the afternoon, daily. Volley ball and other social games fill the leisure time. Elkhorn River affords fine swimming in the late afternoons. Preaching services are held each evening.

A happy group of young women, Temple Builders, from Neligh, are in camp with Mrs. Pearl Allen as their guardian. They are enjoying real camp life and participating in the services of the reunion. On Sundays the attendance is augmented by auto loads from Neligh, Clearwater, Valentine, the region of Swan Lake, and other parts of the state.

Elder Levi Gamet, of Inman, is president of the reunion. Apostle J. E. Gleazer, of Independence, Missouri, Bishop A. B. Phillips, of Lamoine, Iowa, Elder George Jenkins, Missionary to Nebraska, and Elder C. B. Woodstock, of Lamoine, General Superintendent of the Sunday school, with the local ministry, are assisting in the conduct of the reunion. Elder C. J. Smith, of Sioux City, spent a few days in camp early in the week. It is worthy of note that the membership of the church includes many men holding positions of trust in central Nebraska. In a large degree the membership are honest, intelligent, industrious, worthy citizens of the commonwealth. In religious faith and belief they differ from other churches, but they gladly join in every effort to promote human happiness and public welfare. They accept the Bible as the word of God preserved among the Jews and the Book of Mormon as a record kept by the ancestors of the American Indian, divinely preserved and brought forth in our day as a second testimony to the mission of Christ and to the power of God in the salvation of mankind. Both of these books strongly denounce polygamy and other nefarious teachings of the Mormon church in Utah.

COX-HANNA.

C. Ralph Cox, of Mirable, Missouri, and Ethel N. Hanna, of Holden, Missouri, were married by County Judge C. J. Malone at his offices late Saturday.

Romeo, the prize head of the flocks at Charley Harding's poultry ranch just north of Beaver Flats, is dead of heat exhaustion, due to a mistake in judgment attributed to injuries sustained by the blooded rooster in a heavy electric storm which visited the Calamas Valley recently. The direct cause of death as given by Doc Wilkinson was eating worker honey bees. Romeo early in life discovered that drone bees were not possessed of stings and also that they were delicious morsels of food. He also learned after one or two trials to distinguish between them and the stinging worker bees by the difference in the pitch of their hum when in flight and of their size when at rest. Years of practice made him expert in catching them in flight, sorting them out of the air from among their fellows and on occasion pursuing them to the very opening of the hive, then ducking around the stands and making off before he could be attacked by the more warlike members of the colony. Romeo was highly prized by Mr. Harding, not only because of his breeding, but also because his appetite for drones kept the colonies sufficiently reduced that they ceased to swarm. Romeo, while grasshopper hunting last Tuesday, was caught out in a severe storm while some distance from shelter, and after the disturbance was found in a nearby field by his master, stunned and somewhat dazed. He recovered sufficiently to be about again after several days' treatment, but with both his eyesight and hearing impaired from his terrible experience. These infirmities resulted Saturday in his swallowing a number of worker bees before he discovered his mistake and his death of heat exhaustion from running in the hot sun in the mistaken effort to get away from internal pains when they began to sting.
