English Replanting Trees In an effort to replace English forests depleted during the war, the forestry commission has planted 30,000,000 trees, which cover 16,000 acres. This number will be doubled next year, and the work continued afterward.

Tired, Lame, Achy? Are you dragging around with a constant backache? Feel weak, worn and achy? So miserable you can't enjoy a moment's comfort? How about your kidneys? Well kidneys filter out body poisons. But when the kidneys slow up, poisons accumulate and upset the system. Backache is apt to follow, with sharp pains, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities. Don't delay! If you suspect faulty kidney action, use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands—are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case Mrs. W. Rosine, 1612 Eleventh Ave., Eldorado, Iowa, says: "My back gave out and ached and pained so I was miserable. When I swept the floor, my back hurt so that I had to stop and rest. My kidneys acted too freely and when I took cold, the trouble was worse. Doan's Pills relieved me." DOAN'S PILLS 60c STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS Foster-Milburn Co., Mig. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

TODAY BY ARTHUR BRISBANE Busy days in Tennessee, where the actual monkey trial is being held. It is a silly trial, but good will come of it. Revivalists bring their tents to preach the Word as they see it. That will do good.—Any sincere religion is better than none.

Peddlers are selling Bibles to many that haven't read the Book for years. That's good. Whether you take Jonah and the whale literally or figuratively, you cannot deny that the Bible is the most beautiful and powerfully written of all books.

There is one feature not so good in Dayton. They use the expression "hot monkeys" instead of "hot dogs," and that is not respectful, whether monkeys are or are not our ancestors. And they sell corn whisky from the mountains at $10 a gallon. Ten-dollar-a-gallon whisky is even worse than "hot monkey" for the human interior.

Those that believe in the Bible word for word and fear that evolution may destroy Christianity are advised to read once more these three verses from the 101st Psalm. "Of old, Thou hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the work of Thy hands. They shall perish, but Thou shalt endure: Yea, all of them shall wax old like a garment; as a vesture shalt Thou change them, and they shall be changed: "But Thou art the same, and Thy years shall have no end."

The courage and genuine faith of the old psalmist writer would considerably strengthen the backbone of Mr. Bryan and other tremblers. Whoever, thinks one small monkey, or a whole army of monkeys and Darwins can pull down a religion expressing the will of God, cannot have a high opinion of God's power.

James Speyer, New York, banker, will spend $50,000 bringing professors from Germany to study who work at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore. That is money well spent. German men of science, second to none in the world, will learn from the Americans, who will learn from them and the whole world will profit. More good will come from Speyer's $50,000 than Mr. Barauch's $250,000, given "to take the profit out of war." To discourage war and profiteering, increase knowledge.

If you looked at the sky last night, as we all should every night and do rarely, you saw three beautiful planets, Venus, Mars and Mercury, shining close together.

Men reproduce themselves in their maps of the heavens and in their creation of religions. They put Venus, Mars and Mercury, representing love, war and commerce, in the sky. They attribute to the gods with whom they people that sky their own emotions, hatred, jealousy, vengefulness, etc. More primitive religions even represent their gods as liars, cheats and destroyers of earth women. "If the camels had a god," said the ancient Greek philosopher, "their god would have four legs and a hump."

Influenza is raging in Alaska, sweeping away Indian populations as our population would melt away before yellow fever or Asiatic cholera. We are partly protected from diseases, including tuberculosis, measles, etc., because we have got used to them. The thing we don't know is what conquers us. You remember how whisky conquered the Indians.

Just as the white people had begun to conquer ordinary whisky by getting used to it—drunkenness steadily diminishing in consequence every year—prohibition and a new kind of As it is Spoken, From the Chicago News. A man took his wife with him on a visit to Paris. As neither had been to the French capital before, they promised themselves a good time. They began by treating themselves to a good dinner. Toward the end of the meal the man was telling his wife that her French pronunciation was all wrong, and that she shouldn't say "merci" as it were "ur English word "mercy." "Now I'll give that waiter 10 francs," he told her, "and you listen carefully." He handed the man a 10-franc note, and the reply was, "Thanks, very much, sir."

Probes Crash

GOVERNOR FULLER

An investigation to fix responsibility for the collapse of the Pickwick Club's building in Boston, has been launched by Governor Alvan T. Fuller. More than forty persons lost their lives in the disaster.

whisky came in. Whether anybody can ever get used to that is doubtful.

The British know what they are about. They recognized the bolshevist government promptly and made commercial treaties with Russia, although the czar, killed by the bolshevists, was a cousin of King George. Now one single bolshevist envoy, Rakovsky, brings to London from Moscow orders for British firms amounting to $72,750,000.

Lord Beaverbrook, when he was last here, said: "Of course, we do business with Russia. Why shouldn't we? We'd do business with cannibals if they could buy our goods." We are more virtuous than that in America, but we lose by it.

Lady Astor, the young woman given to Britain's house of commons by the state of Virginia, has made British lawmakers realize that women, even the most unfortunate, have rights.

Every year in London 5,000 or 6,000 women, on the mere say so of a policeman, without any corroboration, are marked with an infamous brand. Many things have been tried—rescue homes retention, all except common justice said Lady Astor. The house cheered that.

Is flying dangerous? If the pilot uses common sense, it is less dangerous than crossing a crowded street. In 25 months pilots from Mitchell field have flown 1,827,000 miles, in 31,363 separate flights. Only three have been killed, although pilots have turned endless somersaults and committed much other foolishness in the air. Sixty years hence cautious old ladies will refuse to ride in automobiles or earth trains. They will say: "at my age they are too dangerous. I only fly and at a safe height."

An increase in the price of rubber drives manufacturers to plan for smaller tires. Some man of intelligence will find a way to substitute steel springs for rubber and produce a tire better than a rubber tire.

Misjudgment "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." The other day When fever racked and ran like lurid flame So low I lay. When Life seemed very little and not worth the game She who was my wife, my dearest love, came to my bed. E'en now, altho' I'm sane again, I still can sense the fragrance Of her garments as she crossed the room and laid Her cool dear fingers on my head. I dared not raise an eyelid, nor breathe, lest she should vanish And go back to those dim vistas where our loved ones go When He who rules this universe deems it is better so.

Then she was gone. But still throughout the room Her presence left with me a rare perfume, her favorite flower. Then she was truly here, and I must hasten to perform The task she set me. Ah, it is not easy when the years have proved You wrong, to ask for pardon. And I am only mortal, But I would not prolong for her I love, unhappiness and These her words to me, "Dear Love, nor you, nor I, nor yet our child Can ever happy be, till you have penance done and pardon asked Then God will gracious be."

"Silas Warner" By George Elliot In Silas Warner the authoress pictures human characters as we find them in everyday life today. Silas Warner, the man wrongfully accused, shunning his fellow men, Dunstan Cass, the blackmailer, knowing of his brother's crime and using this knowledge to enrich himself at his brother's expense. Goodfrey, a weak character, trying to make amends when too late. Nancy, his wife, too good to be natural, and Eppie, the soul of loyalty and gratitude.

The story proves how the finest characters may be found among the humble, while some in the upper walks of life may be very vile.

"Autobiography of a Super-Tramp" By William H. Davies. (Alfred A. Knopf Company) See America through the eyes of a tramp, an Englishman recently come to fame as a poet. Beating his way, lodging in jails, the super-tramp has weathered Canadian snow storms and the malaria of the Mississippi. He has witnessed lynchings and the building of railroads and canals. In a rush to the Klondyke the accident occurred which changed the course of his life and saved for England another poet.

Man and Scarecrow. From the Youngstown Telegram. A traveler stopping near a small shack by the roadside in Kentucky said to the woman who came to the door: "Where is your husband?" "Down yender in the field," the woman replied. "Which one of those two men is your husband?" "They's only one man down yender. Tother one is a scarecrow."

"All right, I'll go down there and see him." Dryly, the woman remarked: "Look and see which one moves the most, and tother one will be Hank."

Modern Authors

Growing Modest Authors are getting very modest. J. C. Squire writes, in the London Observer. I have just been reading a book of verse of which every page is perforated all along the inner margin as the divisions between stanzas on a sheet are perforated.

At the beginning of the considerate bard had a note, quite serious, stating that nobody will be pleased with all his verses, and that he wishes his readers to tear out those pages which they don't like (if possible, passing them along to some other person who may) and keep what they like, though it be but a single poem.

And here is Roland A. Knox, toward the end of a short work of fiction, "The Vliaduct Murder," shyly inserting this footnote: "To the Reader: This chapter may be omitted if the book be thought too long."

New Cathedral Facade

Belfast War Memorial Belfast is commemorating its service in the World war by erecting a new facade for its Protestant cathedral as a victory memorial. The first stone was laid at a ceremony that was given state and civic dignity. The duke of Abercorn attended, as did the lord mayor and corporation of Belfast. The Protestant primate was present and was accompanied by 14 bishops, some of whom came from England. The Presbyterian church was represented by the moderator of its general assembly and the Methodists by the chairman of the Belfast synod. Lord Glenavy, chairman of the Free State senate, attended as an invited guest.

Are You This Man?

I want to hear from the man who wants not only to sell honest merchandise, but render REAL service to the Farmer. Hundreds of men are now engaged with me in this work. Many of these men are farm men. They came to us without selling experience and we trained them to sell. We are the makers of the famous Colt Lighting and Cooking System—the largest firm of its kind. Write me if you are really interested in learning our selling plan, drive your own car and are over 25 years of age. H. F. Reiss, Vice-President, 30 East Forty-second St., New York.—Adv.

Dead Failure

Senator Cameron was analyzing at a luncheon the mercantile marine situation. He concluded: "So the business men who are trying to build up our mercantile marine for us will soon be in the position of the medico if they don't watch out. "The medico was dashing along at a good pace when his horse pulled up short before a certain house. The medico frowned as black as a thunder cloud and gave the horse an angry cut with the whip. "Go on," he hissed. "Go on, you fool. He's dead."

Mardi Gras Centenary

New Orleans already is planning for the centenary of the Mardi Gras. Since 1827 the Mardi Gras, a season of festival and merrymaking that has become famous, has been an annual event. The revelry and elaborate display draw thousands of visitors yearly and the 1927 observance will likely outdo all previous programs.

Interest Has Mounted

There is entered in a bank book owned by Mrs. M. Clifton Edson, East Bridgewater, Mass., a deposit of $5 by her mother, Harriet A. Holbrook, made October 28, 1848, and upon which nothing more is recorded deposited or withdrawn. The $5 has accumulated interest until it has grown to $159.10.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I have felt as if something were falling out all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.
