Courses in Latin are enrolling more high school students than courses in all the other foreign languages combined. The average daily time outside the class now given by Latin pupils to the preparation of their lessons is considerably greater than is required for any other subject in the secondary school. other subject in the secondary school. Latin students surpass non-Latin students in the mastery of other subjects, and the superiority seems to be due to something gained from the study of Latin rather than to greater initial ability. Records of 10,000 candidates for entrance made in the 10-year 1914-1923, inclusive, show that the Latin students do better by about 13 per cent. than the non-Latin students in all subjects out side of Latin and Greek, and in general the greater the amount of Latin studied the greater the superlority. Approximately 22,-500 teachers of Latin are employed in the secondary schools and the demand for well-trained teachers is steadily increasing. Nearly a million American young people are studying Latin, 940,000 in secondary schools and 40,000 in colleges. Ask Dad-See If He Knows

Father and mother are always thinking of your welfare—there isn't a thing within reason they wouldn't do for you.

But they may unknowingly have been risking your life every day.

When you are at dinner tonight with dad, ask him this question:

"Dad, is our school firesafe?"

Perhaps he won't be able to answerhe may not know.

Ask dad if he knows that somewhere in the country a schoolhouse burns every day. Ask him if he knows that one-third of all the schoolhouses in the country are nothing better than firetraps - maybe your school is one of them.

Of course dad knows that buildings can be built that will not burn. They are being built everywhere, every day.

If your school is firesafe, you're lucky. If it isn't, ask dad what he is going to do about it. You have a right to know.

The highest type of firesafe construc-tion is concrete. Our illustrated booklet "Concrete Schoolhouses" contains a wealth of information on firesafe construction with which every parent ought to be familiar. Write today for your free copy.
