MAKES TRIP TO ROCHESTER HOSPITAL IN AIRPLANE

Tom Paine, a brother of Mrs. H. M. Uttley was taken from his home in Jamison, Nebraska, to Rochester, Minnesota, by airplane.

The Rochester Post Bulletin tells about it as follows:

The first airplane ambulance case was brought to Rochester today when an Eaglerock plane of the Jamison Air Lines arrived on the Rochester Airways field west of the city at 1:40 from Jamison, Neb., bringing Tom Paine, a patient, here for treatment. Paine, whose condition is said to be serious, was taken directly to a hospital in an ambulance which was waiting at the field.

The plane was flown by L. W. Sylvester, and Gideon Hammon accompanied Paine. They left Jamison at 9:15, making the trip of 375 miles in a little more than four hours. They flew against a headwind nearly all the way, the pilot said.

Sylvester stopped only long enough for lunch, leaving for home this afternoon. He said he expected to fly back to Rochester with another patient tomorrow morning.

BRICK BATS

McMullen from the corn belt state has risen on his ear; he has an idea in his pate that fills his foes with fear. Those politicians way back east have stung us folks out west; those slick haired shieks with trousers creased with power have long been blessed. But Adam says their sun has set, he's off of them for life; his tomahawk he now does what, he hones his scalping knife. Smoke signals from the distant hills, the tomahawk steady bent, have called his braves from farms and mills; the squaws are jerking meat. His camp beside the mighty Platte is growing every day, preparing for a bloody spat, a real scalp-lifting fray. Ten million braves have put on paint, war councils fill the air; the dance of death has not restraint, their war whoops curl the hair. In this, the land of setting sun, coyote and buffalo, the Great White Father's east is done, his ranks will soon fall low. Protection here, protection there, but not the middle west; so, Adam, get their hides and hair, their gonads, and all the rest.—Brick Smith.

The membership has increased materially each year; many of the most prominent knights in the state belong

Don't starve the teeth

Children don't eat food to build sound teeth and good bones, but parents should give them food that is rich in calcium and other bone-making, tissue building-elements prepared in tempting, digestible form. Give each of them two Shredded Wheat biscuits, warmed in the oven and served with whole milk. The crisp, flavory shreds of thoroughly baked whole wheat encourage proper chewing, and the bran insures daily evacuation, a function so necessary to the health of growing children. Twelve large, full-size biscuits in every package—Ready-cooked and ready-to-serve.
