

Poultry And Dairy Improvement Day

Saturday, July 21st

Through the efforts of the O'Neill Commercial club and Mr. Brown, manager of Armour & Co. plant, arrangements have been made to bring to our city two men from the University of Nebraska on the above date. It is their desire to have as many farmers as possible present, as their talks will all be on Poultry and Dairy improvement. Everybody in this section of Nebraska should be deeply interested in these subjects. You are invited to attend this meeting.

Make your trip to O'Neill Profitable in every way by visiting our Market where many Special Prices will await you Saturday.

The lawns about the city which have not been watered regularly are brown from lack of moisture. The farmers say that we must have rain soon although the corn is doing well yet. It seems that Holt county is about the only place that has not received plenty of rain during the past three weeks. Rain clouds appear regularly but no rain results.

N. E. Cain, and son, Ivan, of Gillette, Wyoming, drove to O'Neill the first of the week and was present at the sale of the Frances L. Cain estate land southeast of O'Neill, which was sold Monday. The 40 acres of farm land was purchased by E. M. Leach for $27.00 per acre; J. P. Gallagher secured the 56 acres of pasture for $7.50 per acre.

Mother Mary Laurissa Tierney and her Sister Cassilda Tierney spent a delightful time at the Academy last week. They are now at St. Joseph's Hospital, Alliance, Nebraska. While in O'Neill they were also the guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. Stannard. They will be remembered here as daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tierney.

Atkinson Graphic: One night a couple of weeks ago a badger got into the chickenhouse at the Gilman Davis farm just east of Stuart and killed 150 spring chickens just the size for fries, after sucking the blood from them the animal buried a good many of the chickens, packing the dirt very tightly about them. A few nights later Mr. Davis caught the badger in a trap, using a crate of live chickens for bait.

Last week The Frontier mentioned a ruling of the supreme court in the $33,000 judgment case of Hubert Roy Moreland against the Northwestern railroad. We stated that J. J. Harrington of this city was the attorney for Mr. Moreland. Mr. Harrington says that he was not the attorney in this case, but was the attorney in a $30,000 case in a western county recently and was successful in winning a verdict.

The Mellor Motor Company of this city received an inquiry yesterday from the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, relative to the installation of an airport. Plans are being laid and data gathered so that when the time comes to establish airports over the state—which may be soon, they will be equipped with the necessary information. O'Neill is located in a very good place for an airport and will no doubt stand a fair chance for the designation.

DAIRY AND POULTRY RALLY
Court House Lawn, O'Neill, Nebraska
July 21, 2:30 P. M.

With the cooperation of the Northwestern Railway Company, Armour Creameries and the Produce buyers of O'Neill, the Chamber of Commerce is announcing a Dairy and Poultry meeting on the afternoon of July 21. A section of a letter from R. W. McGinnis, General agent of the Northwestern Railway, follows: "This is to advise that the arrangements as outlined are working nicely and you can depend on Mr. Otto Livers representing the dairy and Mr. Frank Mussehl, head of poultry husbandry, will be with me and you can depend that they are going to do to your people and the farmers in general a lot of good. I am looking for another man who will represent the boys and girls clubs. Please get out the women as well as the men."

It is hoped we will get a large crowd out for this very important meeting. It is also hoped that arrangements may be made for a farm agent. This movement must come from the farmers because it is for them he must work. A petition with sufficient names attached should be ready on that day. A farm agent is indispensable at this time. A man who will arrange for farmer's meetings is the first thing to look for now. O'Neill Invites You, Saturday, July 21, 2:30 P. M.

She expects to stop at Grand Island, Nebraska, and Cheyenne, Wyoming, enroute, where she will visit a brother and a nephew. Mrs. Jackson is a sister to Mrs. John Berger, Mrs. Charles Berger and Mrs. August Smith. She was accompanied by a grandson.

The rivers, lakes and various pleasure resorts are attracting large numbers of our people these hot days. Almost any evening auto loads of youngsters, and older ones, may be seen driving toward the Elkhorn river in search of water deep enough to wet their bathing suit. It is almost unnecessary to warn the children about getting into deep water in case they cannot swim, although some say that there are several holes along the stream that are deep enough in which to swim. The river is very low at this time of year and especially now since we have had no rain for so long.

Vacation season has arrived for all those who have the desire and can afford to go away for the summer, or even for a week or two, and during the next two months millions of people will be traveling in all directions, to and from widely advertised resorts and stopping at shady nooks or cool retreats here and there. Perhaps there are few people but who have the inclination to take a vacation and everyone should enjoy a brief period of time from their daily labors at least once a year but there is a mighty good and sufficient reason why more of them cannot take a little rest and recreation during the hot summer days. It is the lack of money with which to meet expenses and travel, as most people like to travel, that keeps the majority of us at home pegging away at our work 365 days in the year.
