AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM THE FAR EAST

The following letter was received by L. C. McKim from his son and wife, who are in the Philippines:

Laog, Ilocos, Noret, Jan. 20, 1929.

Dear Daddy: Vacation has come and gone. Two weeks have passed.

I started it out by going to a Track and Field meet two provinces south of here. Ilocos Norte won the general meet by 10 points and the Superintendent and I prophesied that they would be the lowest of all.

I went down with the governor and some of his friends in his car. He is besides being a politician he is a good fellow and a doctor of medicine. He secured his degree from the University of Iowa.

Then we (Mrs. McKim and I) went to Vegan to visit with some friends of ours. He is the representative of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association.

and he is from Colorado. In the same town there is a man and his wife from Oklahoma and a man from Ohio whose wife is a Nebraskan. One meets people out here from all of the several states.

On December 30th the Superintendent arranged with a supervising teacher for horses for Mrs. McKim and me to go on a trip through the mountains east and north of here to the north coast of this island (Luzon).

We stayed in a mountain barrio (small village) one night where they had never seen a white woman. The Superintendent sent a policeman as our guide.

We got in about 4:30 in the afternoon after riding all day. The Barrio Lieutenant blew several blasts in his horn made from the horn of a carabao. All of the folks gathered at the house where we were to stay for the night. The first question was in regard to our business. Since they could not understand why a man would be interested in rocks and the guide knew it we had to talk about school. By the number present one would judge that they could well have supplied the necessary pupils for several.

Somewhere in the barrio they found two chairs. We were seated in these in one side of the house while the old men of the council perched on long bamboo benches on the wall; the old women and kids squatted or layed on the floor in another part of the room; the young men and the eligible girls had a couple of narrow benches outside the house on the porch which invariably leads from the main part of the house to the kitchen.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The Edward Steskal home was the scene of a wonderful affair on Sunday evening, March 17th, when a real banquet was served to more than thirty immediate friends and neighbors in honor of Mrs. Steskal's birthday anniversary. It being St. Patrick's day the arrangements were made and carried through to a successful conclusion by the committee in charge. The appropriate colors of the day was in evidence from all directions and artistically displayed. This seems to be an annual affair and we are always on the alert whenever this day rolls around; we are always assured of a good old Irish stew. All present reported a splendid evening and felt fully compensated for their effort even though the roads were in bad condition.

The evening was spent in games, tricks and extemporized opinion on various problems that is baffling the rural element in every community today. Jack Murphy presided as toastmaster and his scintillating wit in introducing those at the table was a big factor in making the affair so successful and enjoyable. One of the most energetic speakers noticed that most of the newspapers prophets claim we are going to have a bumper crop this year. We are used to those bald-headed statements and they ought to hit it once out of four at least. We have noticed in the past these stationers who blat from their fore sight prove themselves poor stratigists in the end.

Several of the farmers are having farm sales becoming inactive in that capacity sacrificing their source of revenue for a mere pittance and moving to town, similar to the gay ninties when the people stayed, knew a mile was a mile, not a trifle to be obliterated by stepping on the gas. The joyful orchestra of the present prosperity may drown out for a time the discord but at the present time things more serious provide occasion for the exchange of ideas among the farmers who are determined to battle against odds. The winter has been unusually severe and from the scarcity of grain and forage much stock is suffering for the lack of feed to pull them through until grass.

The past three years of short crops makes it hard sledding for the average and a heavy burden on a great many and many eyes will be focused on Washington to see how the new executive will handle the situation next month.

About one o'clock an assortment of sweets were pasted around that was relished by the young folks while the men waded into the cigars.

Those present from outside were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lynch and daughter Velma, from Albion; Miss Beilla Bruder, Atkinson; Leo and Helen Steskal, O'Neill. Wm. Murphy, O'Neill; Mr. and Mrs. John Steskal, O'Neill. The program was closed by a song from Miss Muriel Murphy entitled, "The Hat Me Father Wore." Song by Pearl Steskal, "Give An Honest Boy A Chance."

All extended their best wishes to the hostess for many returns of the day.
