THE R. R. S. CLUB

The R. R. S. Club met at the home of the president, Berna Thomas, Wednesday June 13 for the first time. All reported having spent an enjoyable afternoon, also a helpful one in preparing useful articles for the Christian Home at Council Bluffs, Ia.

The meeting was called to order about 2:30 and after the roll was called they found there were about ten members present and some were not there. They decided for their motto, "Build for character, not for fame," which is indeed truthful if followed. Each member suggested clever ideas in the following out of their plans. They are intending to make dresses, aprons, towels, tea-towels, hot pads, and other useful pieces of handwork. Each member brings five cents to every meeting. We all know that when this Home receives this work that it will be appreciated very much from such young, thoughtful children. After the meeting, a lunch was served and seemed very refreshing to all. At about 5 o'clock they departed, all hoping to meet on June 19 with another such enjoyable time.

A very nice time was reported at the home of the Vice President, Lillian Nightingale, Wed. June 19, with more useful ideas presented. All members present and not only helping others but at the same time learning a great deal themselves.

Their plans are still working out in a helpful way. They have decided on making other articles besides those mentioned, for the little orphan children. A most delicious lunch was served and each one enjoyed it immensely. They all had a very nice time, even if the rain did try to flood them before they reached home.

Next, on June 27 they met at the John Wells home with still more viewpoints. They are composing yells and songs for the R. R. S. Club and then they will choose the best one for their club. They intend also to make a quilt during vacation, which will surely be of great comfort, especially during such weather as we are having now. A most delightful afternoon lunch was served and it was very enjoyable. All departed about 5:15 hoping to meet with such great success at the Henry Kronig home, July 10, where two of their diligent members reside.—R. R. S. Reporter.
