WHY NOT ENFORCE THE TRAFFIC LAWS AND REGULATIONS?

The Frontier received a communication Tuesday from an O'Neill citizen who is much distressed over the way cars are being driven in O'Neill as well as in other parts of the state. He recites that a number of boys and girls under sixteen years of age are driving cars in open violation of the law; he is wondering if the driver's license law will be enforced and will stop this hazard; he also mentions the fact that cars are being driven on our streets with one headlight, without tail lights; many with but one number plate and some without any plate. After one reads the account of the auto accidents caused by careless driving and improperly equipped cars, one begins to realize that unless something is done by the local authorities to enforce the traffic rules, death will lurk in the vicinity of every car and may catch up with any of us on any of the main thoroughfares even though we are entirely within our rights. The terrible accident at Plainview last Sunday where two young people lost their lives in a collision, all because they did not observe the stop signal and drove onto No. 20 directly in front of another car is a gruesome reminder of what will surely happen.

The laws are very plain in regard to traffic and the condition that all cars must be in before they can be driven legally; every car owner or driver should do his part toward making driving safer by observing traffic rules.
