

"I THANK YOU
IN THE NAME OF CONOCO"

Thank you for the immediate and tremendous response to our challenge, on the introduction of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Thank you many thousands of Regular Customers as well as the many thousands of new users who have flocked to Red Triangle stations, until it has kept all of us on the jump to drain and refill crank cases with this remarkable motor lubricant. Because of unprecedented demands for Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil, it has been difficult for our refineries to keep all our stations adequately supplied, but now stocks are moving faster and you can depend on quick and efficient service at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle.

Conoco challenged the oil world last November with the revolutionary new Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Definitely the first fundamentally better oil of the century, this oil is now smashing all sales records. No reasonable person will use any other oil once he has heard the story of this new oil and its "Penetrative Lubricity." We invite you to stop at the Sign of the Red Triangle for your first crankcase full.

Mr. Chairman: Whereas, the County attorney has repeatedly warned this county board not to allow a refund except at regular equalization meetings, which are from three to twenty days each year, and which gives all tax payers ample chance to protest and have their assessments adjusted,

Therefore, I move that the action taken by this county board at about eleven o'clock a. m., on the 27th day of December, 1929, granting a refund to the Wilson Drug Co., of $73.08, be rescinded.

75,000,000 HAIR NETS FOR U. S. WOMEN

From the day of the caveman, when it is reputed he thought nothing of dragging his mate by her hair, woman has devoted much time, much energy and much money in beautifying what has been aptly termed her "crowning glory." Today the well-dressed woman finds that there is nothing in the world that will keep her hair from becoming undressed, excepting a hairnet. There is no reason for untidy hair. The hairnet of today is made of human hair, knotted together to conform to the shape of the head. The color and texture of the hair used in the making of these hairnets will match the color and texture of the hair of the wearer, so that it is almost invisible. It is estimated that over one thousand meshes are knotted together in one single hairnet and as each hairnet is made by hand, one can readily see how nimble must be the fingers employed in the making of each net. About 50,000 American girls are employed in this task of making the 75,000,000 nets used by the women of this country every year. Hairnets are as necessary a part of the well-groomed woman's toilette as is the dress she wears. No woman who has any consideration for her personal appearance would think of being without one. The hairnet industry is one of the important ones in the woman's-wear world. A rigid examination of the hair is made before it is passed and approved as suitable for making the hairnet. The photo shows how the completed hairnet is placed on the head conformers, where possible defects can be detected. Each hairnet must conform to the head before it is finally packed and shipped to Woolworth stores all over the country. (Herbert Photos, New York, N. Y.)

Upon the above motion being put to vote by the chairman, it was declared carried and action taken December 27th, 1929, ordered rescinded.

Suit for $50,000 damages has been filed in Denver by William Kunkel, wealthy New York merchant who charges William Bryan Quigley, former University of Nebraska student, with alienating the affections of his wife, Quigley, who is now in Valentine, Neb., attempted last fall to commit suicide when his efforts in Denver to effect a reconciliation with his estranged wife failed. In depositions sworn to by Kunkel, Quigley was described as a "love pirate." Mrs. Kunkel is a former Russian princess.

FOLLOW-UP CAMPAIGN OF PROFITABLE PORK SPECIAL

Plans for a real follow-up campaign of the Profitable Pork Special which visited O'Neill last October have been worked out and approved at the Agricultural College in Lincoln. Representatives of the county agents, the state extension service offices, the Burlington and other co-operating parties held several conferences in working out the plans.

Lumber yards of the state will send out two illustrated circular letters to their patrons. In the letters will be an offer to supply Nebraska Blizzard Beater A-type houses, built right, for a fairly uniform price all over the state, or an offer to supply the lumber and the blue print to those who want to do their own work.

Twenty Corn and Hog Days are being held in January and February by the crops and livestock extension agents of the college. Farmers who get most of their income from the two sources can still swap some good ideas and learn some new things from each other about producing either crop under 1930 conditions.

Co-operation of the Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture boys of the state will be asked in the building of A-type houses which will serve as demonstrations for other men to follow.

The Burlington will publish and distribute an illustrated poster. 20 radio talks are scheduled over four Nebraska stations. Feature articles are being prepared for the papers of the state, and the local papers along the route of the train will be kept informed as to the progress of the campaign.

Even though over 125,000 people went through the train on its tour and at Omaha the week afterward, those in charge feel that the real benefits from it are yet to come in what can be done in 1930 and in later years in the constructive follow-up campaigns. A survey may be made next fall in several localities along the route to find out for certain what has been accomplished up to that date.
