EDUCATIONAL NOTES

The Holt County winner of the World-Herald Spelling Contest, Mary Virginia Agnes, of St. Mary's Academy returned Monday from Omaha where she competed in the World-Herald contest on Saturday, April 26. Mary Virginia took eleventh place and received a prize of $5.00. She went down on the word "efficacy." We think this is a fine record and are very proud of Mary Virginia. She is only a seventh grader this year, so will have a chance to enter the World Herald contest next year.

Miss Agnes Bowers, 13 years, 7th grade, from Sacred Heart School at Greeley, Nebraska, was winner of first place and of the free trip to Washington, D. C., for the National Contest, on May 26th. "Medallion" was the word Agnes spelled which made her winner. Florence Steuteville, South Sioux City, Nebraska, was winner of second place and Betty Haller, St. John's School, Omaha, was winner of third place.

The Holt County spelling champions, Mary Virginia Agnes and Irene Wertz, returned last Sunday from Council Bluffs where they competed in the Inter-State spelling contest. Although they did not take a place, they made a fine showing for Holt county and we may well be proud of them.

There were 114 contestants entered from Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

In the written spelling the entire group were given 100 words. Those who had perfect papers or who missed only one word were given another test. There were only three with perfect papers and eleven who missed one word. Mary Virginia missed one word so was eligible to the final contest for championship in the written spelling. Irene missed two words.

In the oral contest there were 24 still spelling when Mary Virginia went down. Irene went down a short time before. They commenced to spell at 10:30 a. m., and Mary Virginia did not go down until 3:00 p. m., and the words pronounced were very unusual and very difficult.

There was the largest crowd and the largest number of contestants ever attending an inter-state contest.

The grades from the Eighth grade examinations have been mailed out. If you do not receive yours soon, write to the office regarding them. The next examinations will be held on Friday, May 9th.
