> The new process of refining—developed to produce the new Polarine—provides an oil remarkable for its resistance to heat, cold, pressure and friction.

> 'ough" oil film is due to the removal of every element of an unstable chemical nature. It is the answer of science to the demand for an oil that is all lubricant.

> The new Polarine clings to surfaces, maintains its body under all operating conditions, prevents wear, holds all the power behind the pistons. It also stays cleaner because the new Polarine deposits less than half as much carbon as any old process oil.

> Unsurpassed by any motor oil, at any price—the modern motor oil—at no advance in price—the new Polarine.
