the law of a station

Omaha, Neb.-Convinced finally that four strangers, who promised large returns if he would put up $20,000 were "sharpers," Robert A. Robinson, wealthy land owner, re-turned Saturday afternoon to his home at Ottawa, Kan.

For 24 hours Robinson scoffed at police statements that they had saved his $20,000; but just before his departure he admitted that he was wrong.

Shaking hands with Detective Paul Borowiak, he said, "I realize you have done me a favor." He asked that Borowiak accompany him to the Burlington station and stay until his train arrived. "Some other sharper might come along before I have a chance to get away," he said.

Borowiak saw him safely on the train, with the $20,000 check, which police took from him Friday night, in his posket.

Robinson declared that he was through trying to double his money. "I made my money by being con-servative," he said. "This has been a cheap lesson for me.'

HUGE WHEAT YIELD IN KEITH COUNTY

Ogallala, Neb .- The outlook for a huge harvest of winter wheat was never better in Keith county. Reports from different sections of the county indicate an average yield of 27 to 30 bushels to the acre on 70,-000 acres which would give the county a crop of about two million bushels.

On a few fields the yield will be as low as 20 bushels, while others will produce 40 and 45 bushels. Rye, like the fall wheat, was fully natured before the extreme heat wave of the last four days and will thresh out better than an average vield.

With abundant moisture in the subsoil the extreme heat has been a benefit to the corn so far and the crop has made an unusual growth, so much so that it is but little behind other years, and promises at least an average yield. With favorable weather for the next 60 days, Keith county will have a two million bushel crop of corn the largest in the history of the county. A number of farmers have this week begun to harvest small grain and most of the early cutting has been done with binders. A few combines were started Friday and Saturday and next week will find combine harvesting in full swing.

MAKES EXPLANATION OF

GRAIN STORAGE LAW Lincoln, Neb. -(Special)- With the approval of Governor Weaver, rules and regulations have been promulgated by the secretary of the department of agriculture for enforcing the law passed by the special session of the legislature designed to help farmers obtain loans on grain stored on the farms.

It is not compulsory for farmers to comply with the law providing issuance of warehouse receipts, this being a separate law from the one governing elevators storing grain for pay. In the farm grain warehouse law, Secretary McLaughlin of the state agriculture department is named farm storage commissioner. A local supervisor, to be connected with the grain elevator business, is to be appointed by him.

The law fixes certain fees, such as $1 for each bin examined and $1 for grain inspection along with a 25cent filing fee, but no mention is made of the 25-cent fee for the farm storage commissioner's issuing a storage certificate, or the 6 cents a mile to be paid the local supervisor. The state department is paid all fees and gives the local supervisor traveling expenses and wages.

Crusoe Not in It With Indian Woman Recluse

The story of a woman "Robinson Crusoe" who lived alone on an islard for 20 long years is told by Dr. Roy L. Moodie, who has been delving into the records of old native life in the region of Santa Monica, Calif., in his study of prehistoric diseases in America.

The feminine Crusoe had been a member of a small group of Indians which lived on San Nicholas Island, off the California coast, about 100 years ago. The Spanish fathers persuaded the group to leave their lonely island and find better protection at the Santa Barbara mission. But this woman refused to come. All alone she demonstrated her self-sufficiency in the world by making her home of whale ribs and brush, and by living off the abundant fish, abalones, birds, seals and some plant products. She made her clothing of bird skins. when at last she was brought to the mission she died within six weks. The island possesses many relics of aboriginal life, but none so romantic as the record of the last woman, Doctor Moodie said .-- Kansas City

It isn't only the heat, but the humidity and the air motion that affect the destiny of whole races. Weather to primitive man was the most important factor in life. In the tropics and the subpolar regions it still remains master of the situation.

It is now possible to control heat, relative humidity and rate of air motion in any space between four walls, a ceiling and a floor. From factories and public buildings the art of manufacturing weather and controlling It is spreading into homes and apartments. The next few years will see radical progress.

CEDAR COUNTY CASE TO BE AIRED AGAIN

Lincoln, Neb.-(Special)-Daniel Dendinger has been given an opportunity to present oral arguments at the supreme court session October 6. Dendinger was sued in the district court of Cedar county by C. J. Burke who obtained a judgment for $1,100. Dendinger was represent-ed by an attorney named Q. S. Mil-lard, who refused to appeal the case. In a motion for support of his appeal he told the supreme court that the first thing he knew about it was when the sheriff came to him while he was at work in the field on his farm with a writ of execution and collected the judgment under duress. Dendinger hired another attorney, C. W. Peasinger, who ap-pealed the case, but when arguments weres ubmitted th ecourt said there was nothing for it to pass on since the judgment had already been paid. Peasinger filed motion for a rehearing on the ground that in a previous case the court had decided that an appeal could be had in a case where judgment was collected by force.

The court denied rehearings in the case of the First National bank of Leigh against the Newman Grove State bank, appealed from Platte county; James J. Mattison vs. Ed-ward Weiland, appealed from Madison county; Charles B. F. Pulsifer vs. Claus Thomsen, from Dodge county, and Charles Schure et al vs. the First National bank of Hum-phrey, from Platte county.

Under the law, if a farmer has only one bin to be examined he would pay at least $2.50.

Mr. McLaughlin says the fees will not pay the administration costs but it is his desire to make them as low as possible. The regulations require full insurance against fire, lightning, tornado and windstorm in companies which are licensed in the state. There is no reference to the type of storage bins to be used.
