New Ford Car Wins Favor

Ford Phaeton

THE Ford Phaeton, shown above, is equally popular as a family car and as a sport car for young people. The seating arrangement provides for the driver and one passenger in front and three passengers in the rear. Seats are upholstered in two-tone cross cobra grain artificial leather. The top is of the quick collapsing type, easily handled by one person, and folds flat. The windshield, of Triplex shatter-proof glass, is of the folding type and can be laid flat forward. The windshield wings fold over it, emphasizing the sport effect of the car.

AMERICA'S HIGHWAYS

About one fifth of the 3,013,584 miles of all roads in the United States have been surfaced temporarily or permanently.

This is by far one of the best records in the world considering the vastness of the scale upon which the program has been carried out. In carrying out this 1929 program a total of $1,800,000,000.00 was expended by Federal, state and local agencies.

During the present year, plans are already under way which call for an expenditure of $2,000,000,000.00, and to this huge total must be added $500,000,000.00 which municipalities will spend in building and maintaining streets.

The recognition of the importance of the road building problem through the carrying out of the Federal aid program has spurred the states on to far exceed the meeting of Federal appropriations dollar for dollar.

Travelers in 1930 will find that certain junctions in important routes which have hitherto sometimes been neglected because of the inequality in municipal and state maintenance, have been put into excellent condition. A growing wisdom in the handling of traffic from a national interstate angle, has resulted in a great increase of routes in excess of 100 miles, in almost perfect condition.

It is no longer necessary to look forward to certain losses of time in passing through neglected areas on express routes, and many miles of city streets with direct and traffic free routes made impassable by cobble or poor pavement, have remedied the situation so as to relieve congestion.

For the future, experts claim that by 1935 there will be 35,000,000 cars on the road and that there will be surfaced roads adequate to accommodate them.

Maryland is, to date, the only state which has completed its road building program. A study of conditions of registration and maintenance will, it is thought aid in the solution of problems in other states.

SUMMER PRECAUTIONS

Just as the individual wants loose clothing for summer, so does the car need every condition accentuated which can contribute to extra coolness.

The radiator should be cleaned of its winter freeze mixture with the utmost care. If alcohol has been used it may take several flushings to remove all traces. Just because you have flushed the radiator a few times do not imagine that your trials are over. It should be inspected and washed out, even if it is working well, twice a month in the summer time. It only takes a few seconds to turn the pet cock, let the water out and refill. Never forget that your engine might be ruined if the cooling apparatus broke down. After driving at night through the country at speed, look to your radiator, and see that dead moths, bugs, and flies are removed carefully from the cells.

Heavy oil in a cleaned crankcase is the summer lubrication recipe. Before any heavy oil is put in the crankcase, gears and differential should be washed clean of the winter's accumulation of dust and dirt. Besides the good that this does in the way of keeping your oil supply clean, the check up on parts, and nuts and bolts is an excellent thing.

See that your brake mixture is adequate, and that your brakes do not lock, nor are too binding. A tight brake in cold weather will probably be unnoticed, but a steady run at forty or fifty miles in the summer with the same conditions will result in a burned brake band.

Don't forget to pay attention to your batteries, and keep distilled water well over the cells.

The fan and fan belt should be checked and a thorough greasing given at this point. Clean breaker points, and clean spark plugs both add to the general "coolness".
