METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Benj. Kuhler, Pastor

Sunday School at 10 a. m. Classes for all ages.

Preaching hour 11 a. m. Theme will center around the Message to the Seven Churches. This will be the second of a series of sermons. You will need to hear all to get the real purport of the teaching.

Epworth League meets at 6:30. You will find a fine company of young folks there.

The evening services will be held in our church this time with Brother Johnson as the preacher of the hour. We cordially invite you to all these services. We are here to do these good, not just to put in time. And we are trying to give messages needed for this very day in which we live.

Last Friday evening a goodly number of men of the church enjoyed an evening of fellowship. Oysters and coffee were served and the men, who were their own cooks and waiters, displayed taste both in decoration of the tables and in culinary art. Plans were talked over for future gatherings.

Tuesday evening of this week another social gathering was held in the church basement, for all. An enjoyable evening of entertainment and social chat was spent, after which the ladies served sandwiches, cake and coffee. About 75 were present.

L. Kelley, who is at the home of his daughter, Mr. Kelley tells us that the snow was much deeper at Bonesteel and at Page than it was in O'Neill.

JUDGE CAN'T SEE JOKE IN HERDING GEESE BY PLANE

The tenderfoot who was sent out to round up the lambs on a western sheep ranch, and at nightfall closed the corral on 50 panting jackrabbits, met his match recently in two native Oklahomans who set out in an airplane to ride herd on a flock of wild geese.

They succeeded, but too well. Circling about the river banks they forced together an enormous flock, and drove the birds southward along the river. Here "hunters" were waiting in blinds, and fired almost point-blank into the mass of birds.

The fun was taken out of this new form of slaughter, however when the "herd riders" in the airplane learned that some game wardens had witnessed the incident. Oklahoma, like many other states with progressive fish and game commissions, prohibits the hunting of birds from airplanes, and the two airplane pilots paid fines of $131 each.

DONKEY JOINS DOGS IN CHASING A FOX

A little gray donkey has provided the biggest thrill of the English hunting season and furnished huntsmen with many hearty laughs.

A pack of drag hounds was being exercised in England recently when a donkey straying from a farmyard suddenly trotted into their midst, baying loudly and took off across the country at a gallop.

Off went the hounds in pursuit, chasing the ass heard into a wood. There he turned and faced the dogs, who instead of attacking the strange quarry lay down around him and watched to see what he would do next.

By coincidence a fox suddenly broke over nearby and the hounds, forgetting the donkey, immediately gave chase to the more natural game. Then to the amazement of the hunts-men the ass joined the hounds, and galloped after the fox, leaping hedges and ditches in grand style, apparently enjoying the chase as much as the dogs, who seemed to welcome the companionship.

All ended happily. The fox got away. The dogs were recalled by the huntsmen and the donkey was caught and restored to the farmer.

Do Dollars Differ?

All Dollars are alike and have the same purchasing power. Dollars that you SAVE will buy just as much as dollars that you EARN. But there is no use to waste a dollar because you merely SAVED it and did not have to EARN it.

Why Not Stretch Your Dollar?

Why not give your dollars their greatest buying power? Much depends upon where you spend a dollar as to how much it will buy. Let us remind you that dollars have maximum buying power at a Robert C. Moore Store. Here you can really stretch your dollars to cover greater purchases. We invite your careful investigation.
