

FOR COLDS— ALKALINIZE YOUR SYSTEM

Doctors everywhere are prescribing this new treatment for colds: Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, morning, noon and night, the first day. Do the same second day. Then only at night. Colds reduce the alkalinity of your system. That's what makes you feel achy, feverish, weak, half-sick. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is alkali in harmless, palatable form. It checks the symptoms of colds by restoring the alkalinity of your system. Relieves sour stomach, indigestion, gas, over-acidity. All drugstores.

She Knew!

Mistress (to new and very green maid)—When you answer me, Mary, you should say, "Yes, ma'am," or "No, ma'am."

New Maid (obsequiously)—Right!—Leeds Mercury.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills put up 60 years ago. They regulate liver and bowels.—Adv.

True

"Why call it a dental parlor?"
"It's a drawing room."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Idea Worked!

Wise mothers find the things that keep children contented, well, happy. Most of them have found they can depend on one thing to restore a youngster's good nature when he's cross, fretful, upset.

The experience of Mrs. Wm. Charleston, 908 Clmore Ave., Kansas City, Kans., is typical. She says: "I have used California Fig Syrup with Annie and Billy all their lives. Whenever they're constipated or bilious it has them comfortable, happy, in a jiffy. Their wonderful condition proves my idea works."

Physicians endorse the use of pure vegetable California Fig Syrup when bad breath, coated tongue, dullness, feverishness, listlessness, etc., show a child's bowels need help. Weak stomach and bowels are toned by it; a child's appetite and digestion are improved.

The genuine always bears the name California for your protection.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

LAXATIVE-TONIC FOR CHILDREN

New Champions Coming

There will be new champions in at least 50 per cent of all the important sports this year. Crowns will be crashing all over the landscape before 1931 dips into oblivion.—Collier's Weekly.

FOR CONSTIPATION Feen-a-mint

PLUTOLOGY

The science of expansion and contraction of the currency, which causes good and bad times; price, paper cover, 25 cents. G. P. STEVENSON, Miramar Hotel, Santa Monica, California.

Honey, No more failures. Chinese Viter bloomed and secreted nectar through 1930 drought. Useful and Ornamental. Agents, Free circular, Chas. Mottet, Webb City, Mo.

Salesmen. To sell the new Marvel Window Cleaner. Wonderful seller. No investment required. 929 Francis Palms Bldg., Detroit.

The Ideal

Vacation Land
Sunshine All Winter Long
Splendid roads—towering mountain ranges—Highest type hotels—dry invigorating air—clear starlit nights—California's Foremost Desert Playground
Write to Cree & Chaffey
Palm Springs
CALIFORNIA
Sioux City Ptg. Co., No. 6-1937.

Out Our Way

OH, IT'S A DIVIDEND CHECK ON STOCK HE TOOK IN TH' COMPANY AND WE DIDN'T—AND HE'S JUST LETTIN' 'EM SEE THAT, EVEN IF HE AINT A BOSS, THEY'RE WORKIN' FOR HIM JUST TH' SAME.

YEH—I'M IN THAT FIX, TOO. MY HELPER'S GOT STOCK AN' I AINT. HE'S WORKIN' FER ME, BUT I'M WORKIN' FER HIM. I NEVER SEE A GUY ON TH' STREET ER ANYPLACE THAT I DONT WONDER IF I'M WORKIN' FER HIM, TOO.

ONE OF THE FIRM.

By Williams

Interest Shown in Plans to Release Rural Credit Lands

From Yankton Press and Dakotan.

One of the problems faced by the present legislature, and by no means the least vexing of the many faced, is that of determining some policy with regard to disposing of rural credit lands to which the state has been compelled to take title.

The state's rural credit land holdings now amount to approximately 900,000 acres, comprising some 3,100 farms. The value of this land varies widely, and it is scattered in all parts of the state, but most of it is located in the west river section. Necessity for getting this land back onto the tax lists at the earliest possible date is obvious. Early liquidation of the state's holdings in order to reduce the outstanding rural credit bond indebtedness and relieve the state of some of its heavy interest payments is also urgent.

Numerous suggestions on how to proceed in working out of the situation have been offered. Offering of the land for sale, it is feared by some, would depress the market and work an injustice to private owners of land, with the state getting far less than the actual value of the land offered.

A suggestion laid before the state Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting in Huron last week that the state hold an auction sale of these lands, letting them go at whatever price they would bring under bidding, was given some consideration. There is some merit in the idea as a means of getting rid of the property, for such an auction would undoubtedly attract plenty of buyers, but the chief objection is that the state would get no more out of it than a little money, while much of the land would probably go into the hands of outside concerns having no direct interest in the state and able to hold it for a nice turnover later. Very little would be gained by the state in the way of new settlers, and probably a large proportion of the revenue would go outside.

The auction plan was displaced by another proposal, for a state homestead law aimed at not only disposing of the land and getting it back on the tax lists but at using it to attract new residents as active operators of the land. It is understood that legislation embodying this idea will be prepared for submission to the present session.

There would appear to be real possibility in a plan of that kind. With the proper ballyhoo a lot of interest might be aroused over the country to South Dakota's land opening, and many new residents and taxpayers brought in.

OVERTONES.

The flutter and whir of a model T. The groan and crack of the ice; The friendly call of the chick-a-dees.

As they peck at a bacon slice. The creak of wheels on the frozen road.

The flap of the buckwheat cake. The cutting sound that an ice boat makes.

When it skirls across the lake. The tinkling bell on a horse in the field.

The snap of the rafters old; These are the tones that go to make

The voice of the winter cold.

—Sam Page.

Revolution "At Earliest." Isabelle Keating in the North American Review.

When a communist says revolution he means revolution. He has no idea of an ultimate scrap to be fought by his children's children. The communists—and I speak here of the communists in New York City—expect revolution at the earliest possible moment.

You hear it constantly from the lips of their leaders in meetings. "Leave the 'ultimate revolution' to the socialists," they say. "Their is the policy of conciliation and

Selling Mrs. Miller.

From New York Telegram. "Mrs. Miller, who gave only a meager outline of her experience, offered to sell her story to newspaper men."

Before the thrill of the news that she was safe had ceased to vibrate, her manager was asking for bids.

Lives had been risked in the hunt for her. Gallant fliers had soared through wind and fog and semi-darkness in the search.

They had taken chances as great as she had taken when she started from Havana. The wires had tingled with the accounts of that amelioration by slow degrees. We will revolt at the earliest possible moment."

That is the driving spirit behind their meetings. They never lose sight of it.

Whenever two or three are gathered together, it is the underlying idea in their minds. Whenever more than that are gathered together it becomes the theme upon which their leaders play variations.

Of course, no communist is so sanguine as to believe that "the earliest possible moment" is imminent. One of the leading members of the party said to me: "Assuming that there are 35,000,000 wage earners in this country who might theoretically be interested in the overthrow of the government, we must face the fact that at present no more than 25,000 of them are communists." So the revolution isn't due at once.

They are training workers in schools for children and adults for the debacle. They keep their ad-herents stirred to a point of fever heat by constant rallies and demonstrations. They are forever making drives for new members.

And they are developing a communist press to spread their inflammatory propaganda that is assuming rather large proportions. There are at least 25 newspapers and per-search. A whole world had grown anxious.

The news that she was safe was good news. But the details—they were withheld from the anxious world. For they were for sale.

A typical sign of the commercialized times.

But what is the commercialism spreads?

What is the ones whose custom it has been impulsively to risk their necks in the rescue should begin to put a price on their services before they take off?

Not so good for missing aviators. And what is the world get cal-loused, not to say suspicious, about

Interest Shown in Plans to Release Rural Credit Lands

From Yankton Press and Dakotan.

One of the problems faced by the present legislature, and by no means the least vexing of the many faced, is that of determining some policy with regard to disposing of rural credit lands to which the state has been compelled to take title.

The state's rural credit land holdings now amount to approximately 900,000 acres, comprising some 3,100 farms. The value of this land varies widely, and it is scattered in all parts of the state, but most of it is located in the west river section. Necessity for getting this land back onto the tax lists at the earliest possible date is obvious. Early liquidation of the state's holdings in order to reduce the outstanding rural credit bond indebtedness and relieve the state of some of its heavy interest payments is also urgent.

Numerous suggestions on how to proceed in working out of the situation have been offered. Offering of the land for sale, it is feared by some, would depress the market and work an injustice to private owners of land, with the state getting far less than the actual value of the land offered.

A suggestion laid before the state Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting in Huron last week that the state hold an auction sale of these lands, letting them go at whatever price they would bring under bidding, was given some consideration. There is some merit in the idea as a means of getting rid of the property, for such an auction would undoubtedly attract plenty of buyers, but the chief objection is that the state would get no more out of it than a little money, while much of the land would probably go into the hands of outside concerns having no direct interest in the state and able to hold it for a nice turnover later. Very little would be gained by the state in the way of new settlers, and probably a large proportion of the revenue would go outside.

The auction plan was displaced by another proposal, for a state homestead law aimed at not only disposing of the land and getting it back on the tax lists but at using it to attract new residents as active operators of the land. It is understood that legislation embodying this idea will be prepared for submission to the present session.

There would appear to be real possibility in a plan of that kind. With the proper ballyhoo a lot of interest might be aroused over the country to South Dakota's land opening, and many new residents and taxpayers brought in.

amelioration by slow degrees. We will revolt at the earliest possible moment."

That is the driving spirit behind their meetings. They never lose sight of it.

Whenever two or three are gathered together, it is the underlying idea in their minds. Whenever more than that are gathered together it becomes the theme upon which their leaders play variations.

Of course, no communist is so sanguine as to believe that "the earliest possible moment" is imminent. One of the leading members of the party said to me: "Assuming that there are 35,000,000 wage earners in this country who might theoretically be interested in the overthrow of the government, we must face the fact that at present no more than 25,000 of them are communists." So the revolution isn't due at once.

They are training workers in schools for children and adults for the debacle. They keep their ad-herents stirred to a point of fever heat by constant rallies and demonstrations. They are forever making drives for new members.

And they are developing a communist press to spread their inflammatory propaganda that is assuming rather large proportions. There are at least 25 newspapers and per-search. A whole world had grown anxious.

The news that she was safe was good news. But the details—they were withheld from the anxious world. For they were for sale.

A typical sign of the commercialized times.

But what is the commercialism spreads?

What is the ones whose custom it has been impulsively to risk their necks in the rescue should begin to put a price on their services before they take off?

Not so good for missing aviators. And what is the world get cal-loused, not to say suspicious, about

Federal FARM FACTS

From Yankton Press and Dakotan.

One of the problems faced by the present legislature, and by no means the least vexing of the many faced, is that of determining some policy with regard to disposing of rural credit lands to which the state has been compelled to take title.

The state's rural credit land holdings now amount to approximately 900,000 acres, comprising some 3,100 farms. The value of this land varies widely, and it is scattered in all parts of the state, but most of it is located in the west river section. Necessity for getting this land back onto the tax lists at the earliest possible date is obvious. Early liquidation of the state's holdings in order to reduce the outstanding rural credit bond indebtedness and relieve the state of some of its heavy interest payments is also urgent.

Numerous suggestions on how to proceed in working out of the situation have been offered. Offering of the land for sale, it is feared by some, would depress the market and work an injustice to private owners of land, with the state getting far less than the actual value of the land offered.

A suggestion laid before the state Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting in Huron last week that the state hold an auction sale of these lands, letting them go at whatever price they would bring under bidding, was given some consideration. There is some merit in the idea as a means of getting rid of the property, for such an auction would undoubtedly attract plenty of buyers, but the chief objection is that the state would get no more out of it than a little money, while much of the land would probably go into the hands of outside concerns having no direct interest in the state and able to hold it for a nice turnover later. Very little would be gained by the state in the way of new settlers, and probably a large proportion of the revenue would go outside.

The auction plan was displaced by another proposal, for a state homestead law aimed at not only disposing of the land and getting it back on the tax lists but at using it to attract new residents as active operators of the land. It is understood that legislation embodying this idea will be prepared for submission to the present session.

There would appear to be real possibility in a plan of that kind. With the proper ballyhoo a lot of interest might be aroused over the country to South Dakota's land opening, and many new residents and taxpayers brought in.

amelioration by slow degrees. We will revolt at the earliest possible moment."

That is the driving spirit behind their meetings. They never lose sight of it.

Whenever two or three are gathered together, it is the underlying idea in their minds. Whenever more than that are gathered together it becomes the theme upon which their leaders play variations.

Of course, no communist is so sanguine as to believe that "the earliest possible moment" is imminent. One of the leading members of the party said to me: "Assuming that there are 35,000,000 wage earners in this country who might theoretically be interested in the overthrow of the government, we must face the fact that at present no more than 25,000 of them are communists." So the revolution isn't due at once.

They are training workers in schools for children and adults for the debacle. They keep their ad-herents stirred to a point of fever heat by constant rallies and demonstrations. They are forever making drives for new members.

And they are developing a communist press to spread their inflammatory propaganda that is assuming rather large proportions. There are at least 25 newspapers and per-search. A whole world had grown anxious.

The news that she was safe was good news. But the details—they were withheld from the anxious world. For they were for sale.

A typical sign of the commercialized times.

But what is the commercialism spreads?

What is the ones whose custom it has been impulsively to risk their necks in the rescue should begin to put a price on their services before they take off?

Not so good for missing aviators. And what is the world get cal-loused, not to say suspicious, about

INDISPOSED?

Headaches come at the most inconvenient times, but there's one thing that will always save the day. If you have some Bayer Aspirin you can soon be on your way. The sooner you take it the less time you'll lose—the less you'll suffer.

Shopping frequently brings on a headache. Over-exertion of any kind. Eye-strain. Or just "nerves." Often it's the time of month. Regardless of the cause, you want relief. And you get relief when you take Bayer Aspirin. Take promptly! It will relieve the pain at any stage, but why wait until you are miserable? Bayer Aspirin can't harm you, because there is nothing harmful in it.

Remember this, when you're tempted to try some product that costs a few cents less!

BAYER ASPIRIN

Jap Becomes Irishman
Ireland, mother land of policemen, claimed her own when the name of Patrolman George Francis Yamashita was erased from the rolls of the New York police force and O'Connell inscribed in its place. Yamashita, as he was known until the city court granted a petition to change his name to O'Connell, is the first Japanese-Irish policeman in the history of New York. He is the son of a boxmaker of Osaka, Japan, and an Irish mother.

No one but an adventurous traveler can know the beauty of sleep.—Earl of Beaconsfield.

Fretful DAYS Restless NIGHTS ... give child Castoria

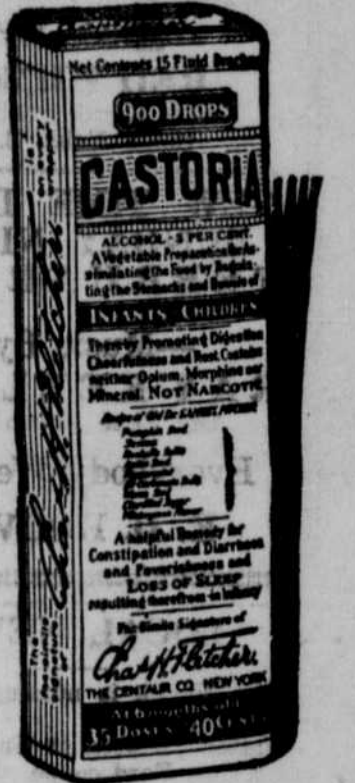

FUSSY, fretful, can't sleep, won't eat... It isn't always easy to find just where the trouble is with a young child. It may be a stomach upset; it may be sluggish bowels.

But when little tongues are coated and there is even a slight suspicion of bad breath—it's time for Castoria!

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation especially made for babies and children. When Baby cries with colic or is fretful because of constipation, Castoria brings quick comfort, and, with relief from pain, soothes him to restful sleep. For older children—up through all the school years, Castoria is equally effective in helping to right irregularities. Just give it in larger doses. What a

Hint on Safety
She—Did you read in the papers that some people were poisoned through eating chocolates?
He—I fancy I did, but what about it?
She—Nothing, except that I was thinking—er—how safe we are.

Spendthrifts
Jake—You and your wife patch up your quarrels yet?
Ben—We don't patch 'em up. We got new ones.—Judge.
The short he often casts a long shadow.

comfort Castoria is to mothers! Get the genuine, with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper and the name Castoria that always appears like this:

Skin Health Derived from Daily Use of Cuticura Preparations

The Soap, pure and fragrant, to cleanse the skin, the Ointment, antiseptic and healing, to remove pimples, rashes and irritations and the Talcum, smooth and pure, to impart a pleasing fragrance to the skin.

Bonds of Matrimony
"You seem to get along well with your husband. Have you and he anything in common?"
"No, but he has a lot in preferred."
—Exchange.

Wall Street Styles
There are fashions in investments quite as much as in dresses or houses. And Wall Street styles are as fickle as those in frocks.—Woman's Home Companion.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 17 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.
I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial, I am sure it will convince anyone.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at any drugstore in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly eat out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

The Kruschen way is the safe way to reduce—Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.—Adv.