EARNING TO REPRESENT SERVICE

That for which we work hardest we cherish most; that which comes to us without an effort on our part is usually lightly held. This seems applicable to the present school system of today. Haven't we made a mistake of impressing upon the minds of children the idea that they ought to acquire an education so they would not have to work for a living? What the public school curriculum needs is not further expansion but a sharp contraction. The constant cry is for more money for schools, and it is an appealing cry. All wish to do the best possible by their children. Perhaps less would prove of actual benefit to them. The point is that it costs a great deal of money to teach field meets, glee clubs and scores of other things to obtain credits until we wonder that a student has time even to recite, let alone study. Today, in order that we make school life attractive to the children, they have more things in a week to detract their attention from their studies than we had during a term. The Friday afternoon recitations, the monthly spelling bee and a week of singing school held in the evenings were the only things to detract from the business of going to school and we never lacked for the want of exercise either.

Some improvement added to this would not do any harm, but the multiplicity of extras that are attached nowadays to prolong an education. There seems to be no limit to extravagance. It is not organized to socialize the fruit of men's labor, but to create a toll upon society, unequal distribution of the wealth which all have helped to create. If all government, state, county and public employees within the state volunteered to make a cut in salaries, it would help materially all along the line. Let us have a true spirit—equal rights for all, special privileges for none.

The last legislature passed 3 bills designed to make Nebraska's streets and highways safe. Undoubtedly the widespread publicity accorded to Nebraska accident information by the press of the state for the past two years has done much to show the necessity for better regulation of traffic on our streets and highways.

S. F. 33 regulates weight, height, length, speed and loads of trucks and provides protection to our highway system against excessive loading as well as protection for life and limb.

S. F. 34, its framers tell us, will ultimately remove the reckless and irresponsible driver from our highways. It is based on the Safety Responsibility Act sponsored originally by the AAA.

S. F. 460 (signed May 7 by Governor Bryan) "the Lap Driver's Bill," was amended before final passage to include S. F. 181, The Uniform Act regulating traffic on streets and highways. This bill and the big Truck Bill combined give to Nebraska the major recommendations of the last National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

"Uniform Highway Regulation" is a wonderful machine and can save hundreds of lives in Nebraska if fed by fuel of "public opinion" and driven by "adequate enforcement."

BOY SCOUT CAMP

The annual camp for the Boy Scouts of this North Central District will be held at the Spencer Dam for one week during the month of June. The camp will open on Wednesday, June 17th and close on the following Wednesday. This should be a week crammed full of interest and value for any boy who can attend. It will be the finest kind of recreation, with organized games and various physical activities; it will be an education in the ideals of scouting in general, with emphasis on several of the common (or perhaps uncommon) virtues, such as obedience, courtesy, control of temper, and so forth. All this will be under the direction and supervision of trained leaders who are interested in the future of manhood of our country; leaders who are interested in the really big job of instilling within the rising generation of young people high ideals of life. You may well expect that your boy will have a really "good time" if he is able to attend the camp for a week or for a shorter period of time; in and through these enjoyable experiences he will have opportunity to learn some of the biggest and most valuable lessons of life; lessons that will tend to lead him on to the highest and best that life has to offer for him.

A uniform camp fee of one dollar a day for each boy has been established throughout this entire Boy Scout Area. Kindly consider seriously the advisability of allowing your boy, if he is a Scout, to attend this camp. It should not be necessary for you as his parent to furnish the money to meet his camp fee; but to encourage him to earn that fee for himself. Perhaps you can suggest to him some means by which he can earn the necessary funds and thereby assist toward one of the "mountain top" experiences of his life. F. J. Sexsmith, District Chairman

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

I am again making a plea to the members of rural school boards to give the preference to our own county girls and boys when choosing their teachers. Many of our districts have already hired teachers for the coming year and we still have a large number of teachers who are qualified and must teach. We owe our home teachers this courtesy and districts are taking far bigger chances of disappointments when hiring foreign teachers than in hiring our own girls since each county tries to keep its most desirable teachers at home. Our Holt county teachers are just as well qualified as any in the state and better than some. This problem is more serious than ever this year due to the stress of economic conditions in general. Be fair to our own home boys and girls.

A strenuous effort has been made during the past few years to eradicate the Common Barberry Bush, which is responsible for the development of rust in fields of small grain, thus causing great damage to crops. Bulletins have been sent free of cost to the rural schools of the state by the Extension Service of the Nebraska State University and medals and certificates have been offered to any school pupils in the state who might find one of these growths. Marion Yount, a representative of the University visited this office recently and informed us that barberry bushes had been found in Holt county near Middle Branch by two sisters, Wilma and Clara Clyde, school district No. 50. These bushes are not plentiful since Mr. Yount informed us that these were two of the seven bushes found in Nebraska during the past year. Since an award is given for only one plant on a farm, Wilma Clyde will be the one honored with the medal. This will be presented to her at the Eighth Grade Commencement exercises at O'Neill on Friday afternoon.

Approximately three hundred 8th grade pupils have successfully passed the examinations and will receive diplomas this year. Due to the courtesy of the O'Neill Lions Club, we are able to offer the eighth grade graduates a chance to see the talking picture, "Father's Son" at the Royal Theatre, free. The Lions Club has generously offered to share the expenses with us.

CHAPLIN BRINGS HOUSE DOWN WITH LAUGH HIT

"City Lights," awaited by the film colony for three years as a defiant gesture against talking pictures by Charlie Chaplin, the last of the silent stars, comes to the Royal Theatre May 21, 22 and 23.

"City Lights" Chaplin himself describes as a romantic comedy in pantomime. To the public he is the same tragic little tramp with the typical Chaplin appeal and he is the same uproarious comic whose gags seem to be without equal in the world of the cinema. Always an individualist, Chaplin has made "City Lights" without the sound of a single human voice, though sound is used with striking effect.

"City Lights" opens with a typical comedy scene in which Chaplin is found sleeping in the arms of a statue when it is unveiled. The speaker addressing the crowd are mimicked by squawking orchestration, perfectly synchronized with lip movements of the talkers.

Romance comes into Charlie's life when he meets a blind flower girl, who, hearing a limousine door close, thinks he has left his car. Sensing the situation, Chaplin allows the deception to exist by parting with his last dime for a flower.

The masquerade goes on. The girl knows Chaplin only by touch. When she becomes ill he goes to work as a street cleaner, tries boxing in which the referee becomes the loser, becomes a home companion to an eccentric millionaire through whose bounty he raises money so the girl can undergo an eye operation.

Virginia Cherrill, a newcomer, who plays the blind girl, gives a remarkably well-poised and convincing performance. Harry Myers is superb as the tipping Croesus.
