GO TO PASTURE FOR FRESH VEAL ARE UNDER ARREST

The preliminary hearing is set for Monday in county court in the case of the state vs. Ray Augus, Roy Norwood and Frank Morris. The former is out on bond and the two latter in the county jail pending the hearing in county court.

The three men are charged with butchering a calf and making away with the fresh veal on October 2 in a pasture belonging to a man by the name of Miller four miles south of Ewing. The calf was the property of Edna Lafquest of Antelope county, a niece of Mr. Miller. The hide and other trimmings from the calf were found in the pasture.

According to an account related by Clarence Hahlbeck, one-half mile west of Ewing to officials here, the three men charged with butchering the calf, came to his house about 10 o'clock in the evening and a drinking party ensued until around 2 o'clock when the three left. About 5 they returned with a quantity of freshly dressed veal.

Fred Sisson, another resident of that community, adds some information to the details county officials are splicing together. At 15 minutes before 5 that morning he heard someone call outside and say that they were out of gas. Morris was outside and wanted to get gasoline. Mr. Sisson tells officials he offered to take him to the Tahlbeck place but was told they were having a little party and so took him to the vicinity of the car the three men were using, noticing as he left Morris that there was blood on his clothing.

Methodist Church Notes

Benj. Kuhler, Pastor

Sunday school at 10 A. M. Classes for all ages and good teachers.

Preaching at 11; theme—"In the Cross of Christ I Glory." Epworth League services for young people 6:30 and evening preaching services at 7:30. There was a good response to rally day last Sunday—keep coming—and a good response to the morning message.

Some of The Frontier's mailing list was delayed last issue, partly because of a large amount of type to set in getting up the tax list, but more particularly because of having to overhaul some of the equipment. We are getting things in condition as fast as possible to avoid delays in the future.

Seventy-five Dollar Robbery

John P. Protivinsky's grocery store was robbed last Saturday night, cases of canned goods, sacks of flour and potatoes being taken. The plundering was done from the rear of the building and a larger haul was evidently in the original plan as some goods were stacked out to be loaded another trip. Sheriff Peter Duffy and City Marshal Scott Hough have been co-operating in an effort to apprehend the thieves and were making satisfactory headway at last reports last evening.

Booher-Hough

On Sunday, September 27, Kenneth Booher of Long Pine claimed the hand of Miss Phyllis Hough. The marriage ceremony took place at Ainsworth, the county judge of Brown county officiating.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hough of this city. She has attended school and grown to young womanhood in O'Neill, where she has made and kept a wide circle of friends.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Booker of Long Pine. He came to O'Neill in the fall of 1929, as an employee of the Council Oak Store, where he worked until two months ago. He accepted a position at Long Pine where they will make their home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Booher are well known here and their many friends join in extending them every wish for a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

Tom Morris Laid to Rest

This brief obituary is found in one of the state papers. Tom Morris was probably as well known and universally liked as any one ever to make their home here. Associated with his father, they conducted what is now the Stout drug store. The elder Morris died back in the nineties, Tom and his mother soon after removing to Meadow Grove.

Thomas M. Morris, 72, a pioneer resident of Battle Creek, but for the past fifteen year a resident at Obert, died at 3:40 Thursday morning at his home at Obert. He operated a drug store at Battle Creek.

"He is survived by his wife and one son, Thomas J. Morris, who lives at Sioux City, Ia.

"Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Obert. The body will be brought to Battle Creek for burial at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. There will be only brief rites at the grave."

Educational Notes

(By the County Supt.)

All the accredited High Schools in the State have been invited by the American Legion to participate in the Young Citizen's contest. The County Elimination Contest will be held in O'Neill at the Public School Building at 9:30 Saturday morning, October 17. The winners will enter the State contest which will be held during the first week of November during the Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha.

President Hoover, in a recent proclamation calling for the celebration of the One Hundred Fiftieth Anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorkton, Virginia, recommended that Monday, October 19th, be fittingly observed in schools and other suitable places in commemoration of the American victory at Yorktown.

The United States-Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission respectfully requests that all institutions of learning be urged to celebrate the anniversary of the surrender and assemble at the hour of President Hoover's address, beginning at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, eastern standard time, or 10 o'clock central standard time.

We urge that, if possible, facilities be provided in your schools for the children to hear the President's address during which President Hoover will extend a special greeting to the school children of America.

We further request that at the conclusion of the President's address which will be about 10:35 central standard time, all school children salute the flag and join the thousands gathered at Yorktown in singing America.

Every school in Holt county should accede to this request at this time and join in this celebration.

As recorded in a Sioux City paper, Joe Pyle, remembered by many here, has just been sentenced in the Muscatine, Iowa, district court to twenty-five years in the penitentiary, being convicted on a charge of robbery.

Dashing Young Chap Lands in the City Jail

Sheriff Peter Duffy took a young man giving his name as Harold Baughmann into custody Monday morning. He was wanted for stealing a watch from a lady at Atkinson. He purported to be from Indianapolis, Ind., and was something of a dashing young chap, apparently quite popular with the ladies. He had visited the larger towns between here and Chadron and had autographs and photographs and cards from many ladies along the way. The card of a socially prominent lady of Atkinson was among the collection the sheriff found on him. One photograph he said was of a teacher at Chadron.

His feminine conquests at O'Neill may not all have been disclosed. Monday morning he was found with an O'Neill girl, both fast asleep in a car belonging to the Linotype operator at The Frontier. The car had not been driven, they simply taking up quarters therein.

There not being room in the county jail for an additional prisoner, Baughmann was locked in the city jail. Here another chapter was added. Chairman John Sullivan of the county board passing in the vicinity of the jail was seen by Baughmann, who beckoned him to the window and asked if he would do him a favor. The favor was a request that two hack saws be passed into the jail.

The watch was restored to its owner at Atkinson and she not caring to appear as a witness against him the young man was turned loose with official instructions to "beat it."

Home Folks

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Morrison left yesterday for a motor trip to Omaha and Kansas City.

Mrs. J. L. Shanner and son Paul, Will Decker and Ray Lamison were a party over from near Page yesterday.

L. G. Gillespie, the hustling insurance agent, was at Chambers and Amelia Thursday looking after affairs pertaining to his large list of clients.

Bob Arbuthnot and son Jack departed Monday for a visit with Mr. Arbuthnot's brother Arthur, who lives near Cedar Rapids, and incidentally to bag a few pheasants.

The Ladies of The Presbyterian church will give a chicken pie dinner on Thursday, October 22, in the church parlors. Will begin serving at 5:30. Everybody come. Adults fifty cents.

Marked and circled, scored and under scored, penciled and notated, papers come to Charley Stout from his wife in Chicago giving details in story and picture of the Capone trial. Mr. Stout's son-in-law, William Froelich, an O'Neill boy, is one of the government attorneys.

Many lads go out from O'Neill that are heard from in one way or another. William Beha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beha in the hotel business here, is coming to the front at Marshall college at Huntington, W.V., where he is studying journalism. He is on the staff of the Parthenon, a fine college publication.

County Attorney J. D. Cronin was in Butte most of last week assisting in the prosecution of the case of the state against Ernest Coleman, trial on a charge of causing the death of his brother, Albert, in an affair some month's ago which the coroner's jury described as a "drunken brawl". The jury found him guilty of manslaughter.

The 4-H clubs in various localities of the county have been having some interesting and profitable programs the past week. The clubs in Sand-creek, Cleveland, Celia, Chambers, Amelia and Ballah gave programs Monday and Tuesday evenings. Last evening at the court house, Emmet, O'Neill, Page and Opportunity clubs got together in a program. Newton W. Graves of the Extension Service at Lincoln was the principal speaker at these programs.

M. A. Whaley was a pleasant, as well as profitable caller last Friday. Mr. Whaley is one of the early settlers in the north Holt country, home-standing thirty-six years ago and has been a continuous reader of this paper since those early days. His visit was cut a bit short as Mr. Whaley had to hike along home and see after the milking of twenty-four head of cows.

Falls From Train

George Scott, a brakeman on the Burlington freight, fell from his train Monday between here and Page. He had noticed an unusual pounding of the train and went to the platform and leaned out to see what he could discover. It was a wet, soggy morning and he slipped and fell from the train. He was not injured.

George Mitchell and another man were in the vicinity hunting pheasants. They saw Mr. Scott hoofing it toward Page, but supposed him to be an early morning hunter that had become disgusted and thrown away his gun. Discovering who it was picked him up and took him on to Page.

PUBLIC SALE—Cattle, including good milk cows, horses, hogs, farm machinery, grain and hay and household goods, at 12:30 Tuesday, Oct. 20, 3 miles west of Emmet, 6 east of Atkinson on highway 20. — Mrs. Clara Jennings

Local sportsmen were on the road early Tuesday morning to get out where the gay-feathered pheasants strut, the brief season opening that morning. Birds are reported rather plentiful and most of them going out are getting their share. No accidents with the shot gun, fatal or otherwise, have been reported in this county. The report of one such comes from Knox county. Sam Wheeler of near Creighton was instantly killed when the gun he was carrying was discharged as he was going through a fence.

Army Officer in Berlin

This story from the Rocky Mountain News is of a nephew of R. H. Mills:

A Denver man, Lieut. Walter N. Clinton, was one of the first detachment of American troops to enter Berlin after the armistice. He is still there and is acting as head of the American military mission, charged with the return of allied prisoners held in German prison camps.

Lieutenant Clinton's experience in the army has been about as full of high spots as anybody's who hasn't been filled with shrapnel three or four times and had a leg or two blown off. He was in line in the Argonne for six weeks without rest, led his company into the famous town of Sedan on the day the armistice was signed, after having previously helped to rescue the celebrated "lost battalion" in the Argonne.

Clinton is a graduate of East Denver High school. He served on the border with the Colorado National guard and won a medal for being the best drilled soldier in the state. He was made a second lieutenant while on the border and when war was declared he received a promotion.

He sailed for France Aug. 12, 1918, as a member of company B, 157th Infantry. The unit landed first in England, but got over to France in time to see plenty of fighting. When the Fortieth division was broken up to supply replacements to the combat divisions Lieutenant Clinton was transferred to the Seventy-seventh division of New York. That division brought up the left flank of General Pershing's drive thru the Argonne and saw some of the hardest fighting of the war in the tangled undergrowth of the dense forest of Argonne.

When Major Whittlesey's battalion was cut off from the rest of the division Lieutenant Clinton's battalion was called upon to rescue them. After several days of terrific fighting, the marooned warriors were reached.

Mr. Clinton married Miss Martha Arnett of Denver as the culmination of a romance which began in High school. He writes to his wife from Berlin that prices of food are very high and that the first American to arrive there had great difficulty in getting bread tickets.

50 YEARS IN ONE Sunday School DORSEY MAN'S RECORD

(Special correspondence)

On October 4, 1931, V. V. Rosenkrans of Dorsey, had the honor of celebrating the 50th Anniversary of his being associated with the Dorsey Sunday school. He has been superintendent of the Sunday school the greater part of these years, but not all of them, but being with the same Sunday school for fifty years is an honor not many can boast of, and the Dorsey Sunday school is very proud to be able to still have him for their superintendent.

They showed their appreciation by having a special program for the day.

On October 4, 1881, he first attended Sunday school at Dorsey. It was then held in a log building on the creek near where the town of Dorsey was. Later a church was erected where the school is still held.

He has attended Sunday school each Sunday unless sickness or some other good reason prevented his going.

The Dorsey Sunday school owes a great deal to him as there have been times when the Sunday school might not have gone on had it not been for his faithfulness in going and leading the small band who came.

Though seventy-six years of age he is still active and scarcely ever misses being at Sunday school, not only being superintendent, but filling any vacancy as a teacher and always helping with the singing.

Nothing he enjoys better than a few neighbors getting together and having a good old fashioned sing. Only one other person, Mrs. Sam Derickson, had the honor of being present for the program that attended Sunday school at Dorsey on October 4, 1881.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Horisky arrived in the city Saturday from Cody, Wyo., and will visit relatives here for a time. Jack, as Mr. Horisky is familiarly known here, says that the closing of the wells in the oil field at Cody has left that city rather flat, industrially speaking. Operations in the oil field have been suspended because unprofitable.

Many counties show a large delinquent tax list this October. Cherry county leads them all with five newspaper pages of descriptions. It is by far the largest county in the state, which explains to some extent its supremacy in delinquent taxes. Holt has about three pages while Knox and Antelope, two smaller counties have each about two pages.
