

BRIEFLY STATED

From several farmers, in the northern part of the county, comes word that the grasshoppers have started working in the corn. In that section of the county they were not favored with the rains of last week and the grass and weeds are getting dry and the hoppers have tackled the corn. Many of the farmers in the section affected are unable to buy poison bran and unless some effort is made to head off the scourge, severe damage is liable to be done to what promises to be a splendid corn crop.

John Cihlar, one of the progressive and prosperous farmers of Steel Creek precinct, was a caller at this office last Friday, extending his subscription to this household necessity. Mr. Cihlar says that the grasshoppers are getting very active in his section of the county and that he and his neighbor, Mr. Carson, were compelled to cut their oats, when they were quite green on account of the damage done by the hoppers. He said that he and his neighbors were going to feed them poisoned bran in an attempt to clean their fields of the pests.

Charles Coyle, of White River, and James Coyle, of Belle Fouche, South Dakota, were in the city last Sunday on their way to Norfolk, Nebraska. Their brother, Vincent Coyle was drowned at Milwaukee last Sunday afternoon and the boys were on their way to Norfolk to attend the funeral. The Coyle family lived in this city for several years. Mr. Coyle operating a pool hall in the building now occupied by the Grand Cafe. The family left this city about twenty years ago and moved to Norfolk, where Mr. Coyle operated a grocery store for several years.

MASONS ENJOY PICNIC SUNDAY.

A good sized delegation of local Masons went out to the Niobrara river last Sunday to participate in the picnic being held there that day, by members of the Masonic Lodges from several towns in this section of the state. Lodge members were present from the following lodges: Ainsworth, Atkinson, Spencer, Butte, Lynch, Niobrara, Chambers, Ewing and O'Neill. The following members being present from the local lodge: Judge and Mrs. R. R. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Saures, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Simonson, Mr. and Mrs. Art Cowpethwaite, Judge and Mrs. C. J. Malone, Mrs. Nora Knapp, D. H. Claussen, Dr. J. P. Brown, C. E. Yantzi, George Davies and family, Walter Warner and family, Pete Todson, Sam Lopp, L. G. Gillespie and F. J. Sexsmith.

Grand Master Johnson, of Grand Island, and Rev. E. L. Baker, of Fremont, past Grand Orator of the Order, and Grand Custodian Lute Savage, of Grand Island, were the guests of honor at the meeting. Grand Master Johnson and Grand Custodian Savage were accompanied by their wives.

It is estimated that over 100 were present, many of the members having brought their families for a days outing. The meeting started about 2 p. m. and lasted until about 4:30. There was community singing, led by H. C. Fitzpatrick of Norfolk. Short talks were made by Grand Master Johnson and Grand Custodian Savage, the principal address being delivered by Rev. E. L. Baker.

Ice cream and lemonade was furnished for the little folks and it is needless to say they had an enjoyable afternoon. The wives of the members brought well filled baskets and dinner was served in the dance pavillion, after which the members departed for their homes. Members of the local lodge, who were present said that it was a very enjoyable afternoon.

IN DISTRICT COURT
Elsie Schrier vs. J. B. Lucas, et al.
is the title of a new case filed in the district court. In the petition the plaintiff alleges that she is the owner of the following described real estate, situated in Holt county, Nebraska: The south half of the northwest quarter and south half of section 14, township 31 north of range 9.

She alleges that on August 1, 1887, William H. Anderson gave a mortgage on the southwest quarter of northwest quarter and northeast quarter of southwest quarter to insure payment of a note given to J. B. Lucas for the sum of $20. Plaintiff asks that this be barred by the statute of limitations, no payment having ever been made thereon.

On August 1, 1887, William H. Anderson gave a mortgage on said land to Lew Darrow, to secure a loan of $400. Said mortgage was later assigned to Emory B. Bottle. This note was due on August 1, 1892 and as there was no payment made thereon plaintiff asks that it be barred by the statute of limitations.

Plaintiff further alleges that on April 30, 1898, Wm. B. Bottle executed and delivered to Carol L. McElhaney a warranty deed to this property. That said William Bottle was the heir of Emory B. Bottle and that Emory B. Bottle received title to the land by deed dated September 1, 1890. On February 9, 1903, McElhaney and wife mortgaged this property to Bernard McGeevey to secure payment of a loan of $8,388.85. McGeevey later sold this mortgage to the Elkhorn Valley Bank and gave them an assignment thereof. Said assignment was lost and never recorded, hence failed to become a lien against the property. Plaintiff alleges that McGeevey claims some interest, but alleges that he has none as he received valuable consideration for said note when he disposed of same to the bank, and is estopped from having any lien or claim to said land. Plaintiff therefore asks that she may be declared to be the owner in fee simple of said real estate.

CONSIDER GRAIN EMBARGO TO STOP SPREAD OF CORN BORER

An American Press special to the daily press from Kansas City states that a virtual embargo on corn and various seeds and grains originating in thirteen eastern and northern states was agreed upon by officials of several cornbelt states as a measure to combat the westward advance of the European corn borer. Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri were represented at a meeting here, called by Dr. K. C. Sullivan, Missouri plant commissioner, to plan the fight against the insect pest, which has approached to within fourteen miles of the Illinois border. Messages promising cooperation were received from Colorado, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas and Minnesota.

The Missouri state board of agriculture, Dr. Sullivan said, probably will issue immediately a quarantine order barring corn and various other grains originating in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Indiana and West Virginia. Cooperation of the cornbelt states became essential, Dr. Sullivan said, because the government found itself without funds to combat the pest.

Give Clothes a Sun Bath

Clothes, draperies, or other materials harboring clothes moths should be removed from the house, brushed well and hung in the sun all day. When they are taken down they should be brushed again thoroughly before being taken into the house. By this time any larvae present should be dead. The closets where these moths were found should be thoroughly cleaned, the walls brushed and the floors scrubbed with a good soapy water. Where insects get into upholstered furniture they can often be controlled by the use of a high grade gasoline or else the furniture may be fumigated. Such furniture can be made moth proof by the use of a good moth-proofing chemical. Warehouses are usually equipped to do this moth-proofing or furniture fumigating work.

August Planted Rye Good Early Pasture

Providing there is plenty of moisture, August planted rye makes good early pasture for livestock, according to Prof. H. J. Gramlich, Chairman of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Agricultural College. He says experience has shown that the crop can be grown successfully for both fall and early spring pasture.

The rye comes through the ground quickly with reasonable moisture and affords pasture during the fall. Five days after planting it has come thru the ground at the Agricultural College. The ground should be plowed and harrowed as early as possible before planting and is usually sowed at the rate of one and one-half bushels per acre. Planted the first week in August following a rain, the crop will make pasture late in September and again early in the spring months. Farmers who do not desire to plant the rye in August however, may wait until later when it can be disced in the corn stalk ground where ensilage or fodder has been cut.

REORGANIZED BANK MUST PAY OLD FEE

According to Lincoln papers the supreme court last Tuesday affirmed the decision of the Lancaster district court that the reorganized State Bank of Florence was liable for the assessments levied against the original corporation for the benefit of depositors guaranty and final settlement funds.

The court held that in the reorganizing and reopening of an insolvent state bank under the new law the change in capitalization, officers and management does not create a new or dissolve the old corporation. It operates under the original charter with its identity unchanged, but the insolvent corporation still survives for purpose of liquidation or reorganization. There is no dissolution of the old bank and no creation of a new one, under terms of the law. Justice Rose wrote the opinion.

The bank owed $7,215 in unpaid assessments at the time it was reorganized. It was never in the hand of a receiver, and was reopened within six weeks after being closed under an agreement by which the depositors and unsecured creditors took assignment of the slow and doubtful assets up to 60 per cent of their claims, getting credit as depositors in the new bank for the other 40 per cent.

UNHURT IN WRECK, DIES FROM INFECTION

Mrs. Lena Mussen, age 46, of Ohio, Nebr., died in a hospital at Lincoln last Tuesday. While being taken to Lincoln last Sunday the ambulance, which was conveying her, overturned and was badly wrecked, but she escaped serious injury. Death was due to an infection growing out of an unattended cut on her left arm, which she received last week at her home.
