

HIGHWAY WORK BEING RUSHED

Mexico Expects Completion by July 1, 1933, Experts Report

Mexico City —(UP)— The Pan-American Highway from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City, will be completed and in good condition by July, 1933, the Secretary of Communications, General Miguel Acosta, told the United Press in an exclusive interview. Provided nothing interferes with these construction plans, the Mexican capital expects next summer to entertain thousands of tourists who select this cool and refreshing mountain valley for their vacations.

A few hours after leaving Monterey, the motorist on the Pan-American highway begins to approach some of the most impressive mountain scenery in the Western Hemisphere. After ascending to approximately 10,000 feet above sea level, the road drops down to Mexico City, where, at 7,300 feet, the summer weather is delightfully cool and the most interesting parts of the country conveniently at hand.

Pleasureable Road
Several parties of motorists traversed the road from Laredo to this city this year, before the rainy season began, and in general they found the pleasures of the journey over-balanced by the disadvantages. The road is rough in the dry season and practically impassable during the summer rains, while the accommodations for travelers are primitive where they exist at all. The Mexican government, General Acosta told this correspondent, is eager to disseminate as widely as possible this information regarding the present condition of the road for it is desired above all to avoid giving disappointment to visitors who might attempt the trip under a misapprehension regarding the facts.

Under the energetic direction of General Acosta, the communications department has concentrated all its construction work on the main artery to Laredo. Every effort is being made to avoid further delay in its completion.

Texans Interested
Texans interested in the completion of this part of the Mexican highway program are already planning a celebration at Laredo to commemorate the completing of the road. President Ortiz Rubio has indicated he will attend if possible. When an automobile can be driven quickly and comfortably from Laredo to Mexico City, a new era in the relations between the southwestern United States and Mexico is expected to begin.

After completion of the Laredo highway, General Acosta said, the government will push completion of the surfacing of the highway to Acapulco.

Nicaraguan Predicts Building of Canal

Detroit —(UP)— Nicaragua believes that eventually this country will construct the much talked of canal across that country, utilizing the San Juan River and Lake Nicaragua. Dr. Salvador Guerrero Montalva, of Managua, said here.

Dr. Montalva said the canal connecting the two oceans would be highly beneficial to trade as the Panama Canal is inadequate in normal times. The canal would cost only a comparatively small sum, he said.

Dr. Montalva, a professor of law and member of several financial institutions in Managua, went on to say that Nicaragua's foreign debt is one of the smallest of the Hispano-American countries. It is about $4 per capita, next to Venezuela, the lowest, he said.

Mountain Lakes Feature State

Harrisburg, Pa. —(UP)— Mountain lakes feature Pennsylvania's scenic attractions to visitors and residents of the state.

The Department of Internal Affairs pointed to Eagles Mere Lake, in Sullivan county, as a beautiful illustration of the state lakes.

Eagles Mere Lake is 1,998 feet above tide, in the center of an area where the highest peak, North Mountain, is 2,400 feet.

Hunters Lake and Highland Lake also are in the same area.

A FALL VISITOR.

In even tide in August, sounds the cricket's mournful plaint; And 'long the vine at length there shows a stain of yellow faint.

Another sign out here foretells That summer's on the wane; Across the lake appears once more The awkward, south-bound crane.

There're only just a few each year: All motionless they stand In shallow water, or perchance, Along the marshy strand.

And when in solo flight they pass, And give their raucous call In watches of the night, I know That it is almost fall.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

EGG SHAMPOO GIVES HAIR A GLOSS

Once in a while there comes an occasion when you want your hair to be especially attractive. You want it to shine like an aureole, and tell yourself that you know, now, why the prophet referred to woman's hair as her crowning glory since your own locks, all of a sudden, are doing a fade-out on you. Cheer up! All you need is an egg.

For eggs play as healthy a part in the hair schedule as they do on any breakfast table.

Break a fresh egg into a cup. Stir it lightly.

Now take plenty of warm water. Make sure that it isn't hot. Dip your hair into it. Saturate your scalp and every strand of hair with the moisture.

Now pour the egg onto your hair, and massage thoroughly. Keep at it, until you look like the character in a slap-stick comedy, at whom some one has fired a battery of eggs. Don't stop even then. Make sure that the eggs do their work.

When you are sure that is has been successful, rinse it out with warm water. Don't have your water hot, though. It will cook the egg! And that wasn't the purpose of the shampoo.

Keep rinsing until the water runs clear. Make the water cool, then cold. There is something delightfully refreshing and rejuvenating about it.

In the last rinse, the juice of one lemon, strained, will add a bright, crisp touch to your hair. However, if your scalp has a tendency toward dryness, rely on the egg alone, for lemon has astringent properties.

Cannes College Opens For World Students

Cannes —(UP)— The International College of Cannes was inaugurated here recently in the presence of government and university officials.

The mayor of Cannes, Dr. Gazagnaire, presided, and an explanation of the aims of the new college was made. There will be preparatory, middle and superior courses, complemented by lectures on French literature, comparative literature, history and civilization and the history of art.

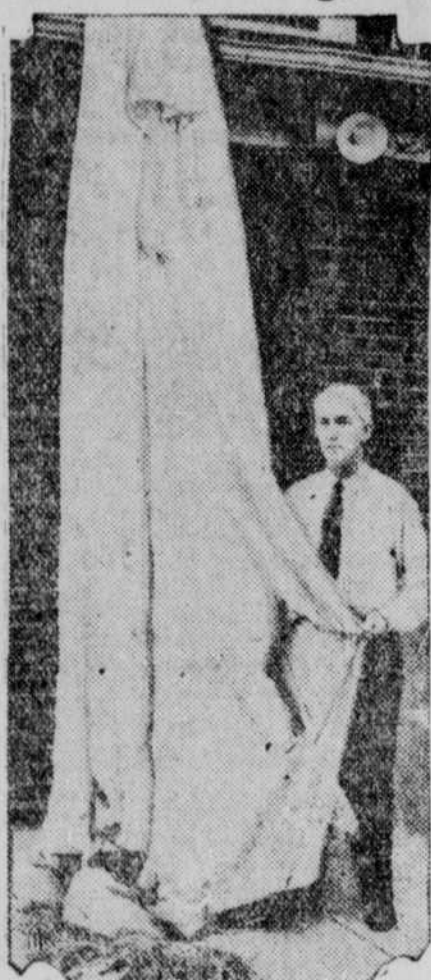

Certificates as well as diplomas will be issued under the seal of Flask Toter Flourished Back in 143 B. C.

Ann Arbor, Mich. —(UP)— Liquor flasks, rat traps and market baskets, all made of stone and dating back to 143 B. C. have been unearthed by Dr. Leroy Waterman, of the University of Michigan, at Seleucia in Mesopotamia.

Dr. Waterman, heading a University of Michigan expedition in connection with the Cleveland and Toledo Art Museums, said that undoubtedly the design of

Lest He Forget

As a mark of gratitude for the preservation of his life, Henry Wacker, veteran Akron, O., aviator, takes out this scorched and aging parachute and airs it once a year. On July 11, 1919, Wacker and five others were in the blimp "Wingfoot Express" when it burst into flames over Chicago. Three of the blimp's passengers were killed, but the chute saved Wacker. Ten others were killed when the wreckage crashed into Chicago's Loop.

the University of Marcellus. At present there are students from almost all nations including several from America.

Buffalo Bill's Cook

Attended Dedication

Cody, Wyo. —(UP)— James Lyman Brown, 92, the first cook for Col. William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody, was present at the dedication of Cody Park recently.

Brown, whose home is in Danville, Ind., made the 2,000-mile trip here especially to attend the ceremony.

The aged chef first worked for the famous scout in 1870, and was in his employment for many years. Brown was with Cody during his famous trips to Europe to perform before royalty.

the present day liquor flasks was copied from the antique containers.

The rat traps, made entirely of stone, differed materially from current models, Dr. Waterman reports. They were made of a hollow stone tube with a large piece of flat stone at one end. Opposite the flat rock the bait was placed and when rodents touched it the stone fell, making them captives.

Exports of America products to Russia last year dropped 60 per cent over the previous year's shipping.

Where Forty Horses Died in Flames

This black expanse of ruins is all that greets the eye at the site of the Metropolitan Driving Club stables, Brighton, Mass. A stubborn 3-alarm fire, which defied firemen for more than two hours caused damage estimated at $150,000. Forty thoroughbred horses perished in the flames. Thirteen were saved.

Having Her Ups and Downs

It takes practice to learn the art of jumping from an airplane and arriving on terra firma in one piece. That is why Edna Newcomer, of Williamsport, Pa., called the "Flying Nurse," is having daily rehearsals at Roosevelt Field, New York. She plans to make a leap over Florence, Italy, when the plane in which she is to fly the Atlantic with Bill Ulbrich reaches the Land of Mussolini.

Best of All

Dorothy Poynton, Los Angeles student and veteran of two Olympics, is the world's greatest high diver. She won the crown at the Olympic Games by defeating a great field, including Georgia Coleman of her home city, who won second place. Georgia won the springboard title but had to concede the high dive crown to Dorothy.

Her Blue Heaven

For the first time in several years, Mary Ellen Berlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin, is photographed as she enjoyed a dip at Loon Lake Beach, N. Y., where she is vacationing. Mary Ellen, who has been the inspiration of many of her father's famous melodies, is now five and a half years old.

Lucky It Was Only Smoke!

The hole to which this boy is pointing was made in the roof of a dwelling in Canarsie, L. I., by a 9-pound smoke bomb, dropped by a Naval Reserve "hell diver." The sea fliers were engaged in target bombing practice on Center Island when the accident occurred. It is believed a miscalculation in the use of the dropping device was to blame.
