Ralph Beckwith says at Scottsbluff there were about 100 men employed by the county burning weeds along the roads in the vicinity of Gering and Scottsbluff. These men were the unemployed of the town and get to work one week then take a layoff while another group work. The men receive one dollar per day and are paid in Script which is good in Scottsbluff and Gering only. Another thing of interest that Ralph noticed while there last week was the cattle and sheep that are being fattened by the Great Western Sugar Company. About 2,500 head of white face cattle and 5,000 head of sheep. There were sixty head of cattle in each pen. They are weighed every thirty days and have made an average daily gain of two and one-half pounds each since they have been on full feed. Their feed consists of eight pounds of shelled corn and one pound of cotton cake, each, and all of the beet pulp and alfalfa they can eat. After the juice is extracted from the sugar beet the pulp is put into pits which cover about one and one-half acres and are seven feet deep, and that is kept for feed. They have three pits at this place. The farmers can buy the pulp for 50 cents a ton.

SCHOOL NOTES—DIST. 122

The pupils receiving perfect attendance awards this month are Phyllis Taylor, Kenneth Hazen, Lela Taylor, Ruth Siders, Hazel Siders and Robert Hazen.

Our school gave a program and pie social last Friday night. There was a nice large crowd present, many coming from outside districts. The proceeds from the pie social will be used to buy pictures of American and British authors.

We are sorry to say that we have lost two families this month. The Arthur Alm family have moved to district 49, at Star and the Charles Liska family to district 4, Dorsey.

The school board has purchased a new teacher's desk, which was very much needed. It makes a nice improvement in our school room and we are very proud of it.

SHIELDS

Wednesday evening, February 22nd, a large crowd of neighbors and friends assembled at the Ed. Early home to celebrate Washington's birthday, and to enjoy the evening's program, in which the young folks of the various adjoining school districts participated.

The evening was most enjoyable, music being furnished by the well known orchestra consisting of Naomi Beller, John Conway and Mrs. Klingler. Singing, speaking, games and a social hour were the order of the day. Several patriotic songs were sung, accompanied by the orchestra, which would be a credit to any community. They were so cheerful that their cheerfulness became contagious. Everybody joined in the enthusiastic applause.

One of the members disclosed the story of the early fathers touchingly, with a finished technique that is seldom seen on the amateur stage. The audience was held spell bound throughout the entire number.

Albert Klingler impressed the audience with his short talk. He said in part: "We are powerless against the organized forces shaping the economic affairs of the country, but combined and collective action will bring a mighty influence on the forces that underlie the well being of the farming population."

Tim Conway gave a short talk, although handicapped by an irritating cough, which was exceptionally good. Mrs. Anna Erb, Mrs. Steskal and Mrs. Klingler prepared a beautiful lunch. Everything was free and it's about the only way we can stage an entertainment anymore, all economists and against the eighteenth amendment.

The program given by Miss Nellie Cleary on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 22nd, in district 145, commemorating the great heroes of the past and present, who's birthdays occur in the month of February.

Margaret Early spoke on the adventures of Columbus and gave an excellent sketch of his life and the odds they had against them compared with the advantage we have today.

Miss Patricia Gallagher talked on Washington, reciting his farewell address to his army. That is very different. (Continued on page 8, column 1.)
