

Half a Million Returned by Hoarders

If you have ever wondered what $500,000 looks like, take a good look at this picture. All those little sacks are jammed full of gold coins which were returned to the vaults of the Fidelity Trust Company in New-ark, N. J., by hoarders who responded to Uncle Sam's plea. A flood of the precious metal has poured back into the banks of the nation in the last few days, due to the threat of Federal proceedings.

Chosen Queen of Beauty

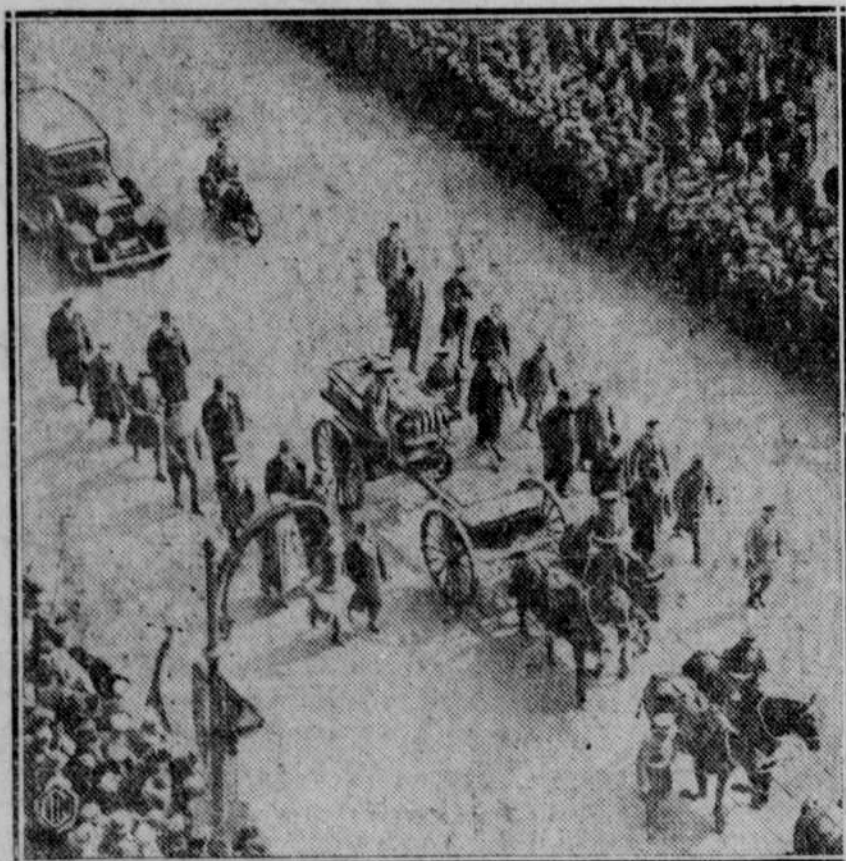

Meet Queen Esther of 1933! She is Miss Katherine Spector, of Bayonne, N. J., who was chosen as the prettiest Jewish girl in America from an entry of 300 beautiful girls. Miss Spector, who is nineteen, is a piano teacher and a vocal student. She will be given a free trip to Palestine as the reward of her victory.

Saddle Ensemble

If you have a leaning towards equestrian pursuits, here is the last word in clothes for the occasion, according to Peggy Hopkins Joyce, screen player. Over a yellow, turtle-neck sweater, she wears a brown suede jumper. The jodhpurs are of beige whipcord, and the boots are brown cordovan leather.

Funeral of Martyred Mayor

Drawn by a team of artillery horses, the gun caisson bearing the flag-draped casket of Mayor Anton J. Cermak, Chicago's martyred executive, is shown as it was borne through the city to his last resting place. Thousands of mourners thronged the streets in a last tribute to the man who won the admiration of the entire nation.

Chicago Mayor

Frank J. Corr, who was elected to act as temporary Mayor of Chicago to succeed the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak. Corr, who has had much experience as an Alderman, will hold office until an election can be called. He is a Democrat, and was a close friend of his late predecessor.

Betrothal Announced

A charming photo of Miss Lorelle McCarver, of New York and Dallas, Texas, whose engagement to William Randolph Hearst, Jr., son of the publisher, was recently announced. Miss McCarver, who is a daughter of Wilburn McCarver, attended the Kidd-Key College, Sherman, Texas, where she became interested in amateur theatricals. She later appeared in several prominent Broadway productions.

Set New Records

Katherine Rawls, of Miami Beach, Fla., who was the youngest member of Uncle Sam's Olympic team last Summer, has garnered a few more laurels to her already imposing wreath. At the indoor meet staged by the Atlantic Seaboard Association in Coral Gables, Fla., recently Miss Rawls broke the records for the 300-yards medley and the 220-yards free style.

On "Miracle" Quest

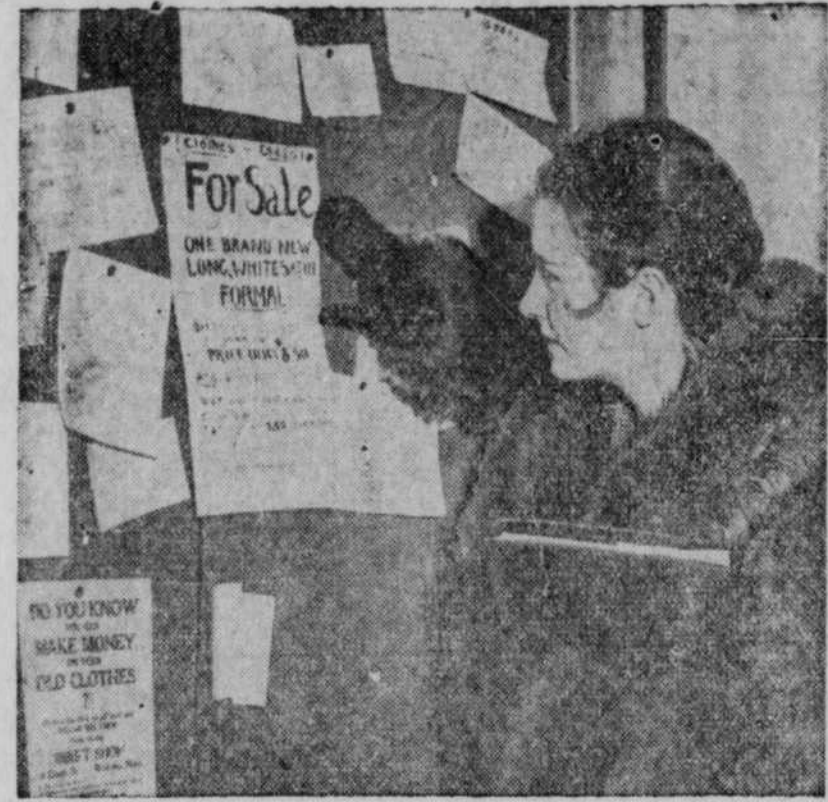

Robert L. Ripley, whose amazing "Believe-it-or-Not" cartoons have gained him world-wide fame, pictured as he sailed from New York on the liner Rex in an extensive hunt for new material. Rip will travel through Africa and across the Atlantic by air to South America, covering more than 15,000 miles on his quest.

Bosses Postoffice

Holiday Bargains on Campus

Even the girls in Wellesley College felt the pinch for ready cash during the recent banking holiday, and here is one method they evolved for keeping the wolf from the door. The bulletin board at which Miss Margery Muncaster is directing her attention here is ornamented with notices of articles for sale. The girls disposed of some of their spare garments to tide them over.

Plane Roosting on Roof-Top

Matrimony had nothing to do with Jerry Longbardi "settling down" on the roof of this house at Brooklyn, N. Y. Pilot Longbardi found he had no alternative when his motor went dead while on a flight from Floyd Bennett Airport. And despite the dangerous-looking perch, neither the pilot, the plane nor the house was hurt in the accident.

Stage Missed This Miss

Not all beauty contest winners end up in the theatre or in Hollywood. Priscilla Cole, for instance, who won the title of Miss Scituate in a Massachusetts beauty contest, was recently appointed postmistress at Greenbush, Mass., by Postmaster General Farley. She is shown at her new duties.

Now the Tee-Telephone

Here is something new for golfers, enabling the enthusiastic fan to call up his home from whatever tee he, or she, happens to be playing and telling the old, old story about being late at the office. Here is Mrs. E. Kaw making use of the phone on a course at Agua Caliente, Mexico.
