

THE FRONTIER

S. J. WEEKES HELD

IN HIGH ESTEEM
For several weeks past S. J. Weekes, president of the O'Neill National Bank has been going to Omaha where he sat as a member of the loan committee of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, passing upon thousands of applications for loans.

The other day we received a letter from an Omaha gentleman who is familiar with the work of the Committee and that of Mr. Weekes in which he referred to the latter in the following complimentary language:
"I've had the privilege of watching Mr. Weekes work. I don't know whether you appreciate it or not but he is one of the soundest agricultural loan men in this part of the country." The many friends of Mr. Weekes in this section of the state will be pleased to learn that our siders view Mr. Weekes and his ability in the same manner that the people of this section have for years. They have faith in him and know that he would fill any position that he was called upon to fill with credit to himself and with marked ability. But just the same it is pleasing to have another express the same view regarding one of our citizens.

ANOTHER OLD PIONEER GONE

William Corrigan, 88, one of the earliest settlers in the western part of Holt county, died at his home south of Atkinson, on April 20, 1933. The funeral was held on Saturday morning, April 22, services in the Catholic church at Emmet, Rev. M. F. Byrne officiating.

During the past month the Chevrolet Motor Car company have been giving away a Chevrolet car each day in a contest conducted by that company. Among the winners last week was a Nebraska woman, Mrs. Alden B. Eddie, Jr., of Pawnee City, Nebraska. The ladies seem to take to these contests more naturally than the masculine sex and the majority of the winners in the various contests are of the so-called weaker sex. Is it because they are brighter than the men, or because they have more time and inclination to work out the various perplexing problems that enter into the various contests?

Little James Merriman entertained about fifteen of his little friends at a birthday party at his home last Monday afternoon, the occasion being the celebration of his fifth birthday anniversary. It is needless to say that the little folks had an enjoyable time.

The Mellor Motor Co. are installing new electric automatic gasoline pumps at their station. These new pumps will do about every thing, except take the cap off the gas tank and insert the hose in the tank. After that is done the operator presses a button and the amount of gas required flows into the tank, the little clock on the front gives the number of gallons and the cost to the customer, so all the attendant has to do is to take the amount of cash shown on the clock of the pump. The gas is pumped into the pumps by electric energy, no more hand labor. It is about the newest thing in gasoline pumps and is quite an improvement over those in use a dozen or more years ago.

This section of the state was visited with a nice rain last Saturday afternoon and night. The precipitation, according to Weather Observer Bowen, amounted to .94 of an inch Saturday afternoon and night. From information we have received from north and east of this city the precipitation was much heavier out in country north and east of this city than it was in town. The general consensus of opinion seems to be that the rainfall out there amounted to about two inches. Another nice rain fell here last Wednesday afternoon and evening, amounting to .32 of an inch. These two rains have placed the ground in splendid shape for the planting of corn and is of much value to all winter crops. Rye and winter wheat is said to be coming along nicely since the rain.

In the city elections, held in Omaha and Lincoln, last Tuesday, the voters again displayed that unrest and desire for a change that was the controlling factor in the general elections last November. In Omaha, John Hopkins, who was raised on a farm north of this city, was the only one of the present commissioners that survived the landslide of ballots that were cast in opposition to the present city administration. Mr. Hopkins landed fifth in a field of seven candidates. Dan Butler, for many years a member of the city commission, but for the past six years out of office, was high man in the list of seven winners. In the city of Lincoln the same desire for a change was apparent and but one of the old city commissioners was returned to office, the other four positions going to men new to the political life of the capitol city.

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES AWAY

James Gaughenbaugh died at his home south of Emmet last Saturday morning, following a lingering illness caused by cancer. Funeral services were held in the Catholic church at Emmet Monday, May 1st, Rev. M. F. Byrne officiating, and burial was in Calvary cemetery at O'Neill.

James Gaughenbaugh was born in Centerville, Iowa, on February 28, 1869, and died April 29, 1933, aged 64 years two months and one day. In the spring of 1884 he came to this county with his parents and he has resided here ever since.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mary O'Donnell on June 13, 1900. Four children were born to this union, one daughter, Malvena, dying in 1925. He is survived by his loving wife, one son Moses and two daughters, Margaret and Nellie, both of Emmet, three brothers, Isaac, of Centerville, Iowa, John of Emmet, and Clark of Atkinson, who are left to mourn the death of a kind and loving husband, father and brother.

Pall bearers were: Alex McConnell, Andy Clark, Chester Gathje, John Welsh, D. H. Allen and Jos Crawford.

Mr. Gaughenbaugh was a good citizen, a splendid neighbor, a kind and loving husband and father and his passing will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

True love is in being, not seeming, In doing each day that goes by Some little good, not in dreaming Of the great thing to do by and by.

The funeral was largely attended, many of the old settlers from different parts of the county paying a last tribute to their departed friend and neighbor. Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral was James Gaughenbaugh, of Norfolk.

CASH COMING INTO TREASURER'S OFFICE

During the last five days of last month the county treasurer's office took in $17,000.00 in taxes, $16,802.64 to be exact. The tax receipts this year are about on par with that of last year, but if payments continue to increase within the next ten days as they have in the past, it will not be long before the tax receipts will exceed that of last year. Improved prices for farm commodities is given as one reason for the increase in tax receipts.

The auto licenses for this year have been in great demand the past month, since the new law went into effect. According to the employees of the county treasurer's office about eighty per cent of the licenses for this year have been issued, which is a fairly good record considering the fact that no licenses were issued during the time the legislature was considering the new license law.

ELECT TEACHERS FOR NEW SCHOOL YEAR

At the meeting Monday night the board was reorganized for the next school year, by reelecting all the old officers: Dr. H. L. Bennett was re-elected president, Mrs. E. B. Hubbard vice president and Miss Anna O'Donnell, secretary.
