IN DISTRICT COURT

L. A. Andrews, et al., as receiver of the Royal Union Life Insurance Co., has filed suit against George Whisler, et al., to foreclose a mortgage for $2,500 given on February 29, 1926, on the northwest quarter of section 19, township 31 north, range 14 west. They allege in their petition that the mortgage was due on March 1, 1921 and it was extended to March 1, 1926. That it was again extended to December 1, 1931. They allege that the defendants failed to pay the interest due on December 1, 1931, nor the principal and that there is now due and unpaid the sum of $2,929.85. They ask the court to determine the amount due and after said determination if same is not paid within a reasonable time that the land be sold.

L. A. Andrews, et al., as receivers of the Royal Union Life Insurance Company has filed suit against George C. Whisler, et al., to foreclose a mortgage for $2,500 on the northeast quarter of section 19, township 31 north, range 14 west, given on February 29, 1916. They allege that the mortgage was due on March 1, 1921 and that it was extended to March 1, 1926 and again extended to December 1, 1931. They further allege that the defendant failed to pay the interest due on December 1, 1931, and the principal also due on that date. They allege that there is now due and payable the sum of $2,929.85. They ask the court to determine the amount due and that if same is not paid within a reasonable time that the land be sold to satisfy the amount due.

E. H. Luikart, receiver of the Nebraska State Bank of Long Pine, has brought suit against John M. Flannigan, Michael J. Flannigan, Frank N. Flannigan, Blanche Flannigan and James C. Flannigan to collect stockholders liability from each of the stockholders of the bank. In the petition he alleges that the Department of Trade and Commerce of the state of Nebraska took possession of the Nebraska State bank of Long Pine on May 22, 1931, and that there was due the creditors of said bank the sum of $69,677.58. That their now remains unpaid the sum of $61,695.05. They allege that at the time of the failure of said bank the Flannigans held shares in the bank according to the records as follows: John M. Flannigan 125, Michael J. 105, Frank N. 10 and Blanche 10. They further allege that James C. Flannigan was the owner of 62 1/2 shares which were transferred to John M. Flannigan on January 2, 1931, without consideration and at a time when he knew the bank to be insolvent. They ask for an accounting and for the court to determine the amount each is liable for on the stock owned.

NAMES OF 5000 STUDENTS OFFER MANY POSSIBILITIES

We see some famous duets: Carpenter and Hammer; Ball and Batt; Burns and Allen; Church and Steeple. Now we have gone far enough to find West and North, long enough to find Winter and Summers.

UNEMPLOYED TEACHERS.

Under date of October 20th, I was informed by Charles Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, whose office was advised by Harry L.

Hopkins, administrator for the federal emergency relief administration, that the state committee would be authorized to set aside from relief funds, money to be paid unemployed teachers who might be used to teach adults to read and write English.

All unemployed city and rural teachers of this vicinity in Holt county are to send me their names, addresses, preparation, and years of experience, not later than November 10, 1933.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE FOR 1933 NEAR SELLING STAGE

The joy recorded by the medieval Yule Log, but what of the vast toll of death from tuberculosis in those days it could record. Then this disease ravaged the world bringing death and destruction in its wake, often wiping out a quarter of the population in one year. This is the story the 1933 Christmas Seal could tell did it choose to recite the sad with the gay of the period it pictures. Today, unlike the times of the barons, science knows what causes tuberculosis, it knows how to prevent it and today thru the activities of the Christmas Seal, the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut more than two-thirds.

Johnson Talks On NRA In The Smaller Towns

In explaining the exemption of small merchants in small towns, National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson said in part:

"The recovery program came at a time when low prices were crushing agriculture, when in cities and towns there was the greatest unemployment we have ever known, when debt and closed banks were slowing activity in cities and on farms, and destructive business practices, due to depression, threatened many industries. The recovery program was designed to go to the heart of each trouble. To farmers it gave the adjustment and farm loan acts. To the unemployed it gave the recovery act, which permitted the wiping out of unfair trade practices. The banking and financial legislation attacked the problem of debt and frozen deposits for both farm and city. Of course, more wages mean increased costs and higher prices. We must remember that when we started many prices were at panic low, levels at which neither industry nor labor could live. Of this broad program NRA is but a part. It has nothing to do with farm prices or public works, oil administration, or the home and farm loan acts, etc. It is solely connected with industrial organization for economic planning and control with re-employment.

"The nature of the farm problem, with its annual crops, makes its solution slower. But after 4 months we find there are some things NRA can do in aid of the farmer and the rural merchant. Our experience shows that the amount of reemployment and wage increases in establishments employing not more than 5 persons in towns of less than 2,500 population is not enough to offset the hardship entailed. The President is asking those who can do so to continue under the former rule. By all others the Blue Eagle with the exemption chevron may be displayed. This should relieve the farmer of retail mark-ups due to increased expense. Our experience also shows wide misinformation about the extent of wholesale and retail price increases. Now that most of the great codes are in, it will be much easier than ever before not only to investigate but actually to prevent undue wholesale price increases. The President has directed that this be done at once.
