EDUCATIONAL NOTES

District number 110 report that they have rehired James Cronk as teacher for their school for the coming year. This will be Mr. Cronk's third year in this school.

Grades of the recent eighth grade examinations are being reported to the teachers this week. Grades in Penmanship are being retained until after the next examination in April, when each student should bring to the examination a complete budget of penmanship work made between the January and April examinations.

County Superintendent Luella A. Parker, accompanied by the Senior Normal Trainers of the Stuart public school, visited in Districts 136, 188, 11 and 86 on Wednesday. Mrs. Parker, with the Ewing Senior Normal Trainers will visit in the rural schools on Thursday and with the Senior Normal Trainers of St. Mary's Academy on Friday of this week.

Blanks are now available for applications for money for work on repairs for rural schools. Only twenty per cent of the money asked for may be used for the purchase of materials. Any rural school board wishing to make application please come in at once. These applications must be rushed in.

Consider Contracted Acres As Rented To Government

Land taken out of corn under the corn hog contract cannot be used to produce a crop to be marketed either directly or indirectly, nor can feed be grown on the land if that feed is used instead of feed that would be grown on other land. There are general regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture which govern the use of all land under Adjustment contracts, whether cotton wheat or corn.

If, for example, a farmer plants the land taken out of corn to grass or clover and then uses the pasture for cattle or hogs, he is marketing the pasture indirectly thru the livestock, and breaking his agreement.

If the farmer pastures his work horses on the grass or clover, the horses will not be eating grass, hay, or grain produced on other land. The farmer would therefore be relieving other land for the production of other feed or grains either on his own farm or some other farm. He would be breaking the contract.

Nebraska corn-hog administrators cannot see how farmers can get around these two provisions. For all practical purposes the land taken out of corn is out of production for the 1934 harvest.

Many farmers regard the corn benefit payments as cash rent for the land taken out of corn. They would not think of renting some of their land to an individual for cash and then raising a crop on the land. They believe that is the spirit of the corn-hog reduction idea.

These farmers intend to seed the land down to clover, alfalfa, permanent pasture, plant some to trees, fallow some to kill weeds or store up moisture and handle the land in other ways to put it into good shape to produce a crop in 1935. They will use the benefit payments to pay the taxes and interest and help keep up their farm expenses.

MAN-POWER-

There will always be a market for meat. You who produce it can make that market broader by shipping your animals to the PRIMARY market. In doing so you help create more jobs. That means more demand and HIGHER PRICES for your stock.

STRONGER DEMAND—COMPETITION—PROFITABLE PRICES

Will come when ALL stock is shipped to the primary market.
