I have conducted an insurance and loan business for the past 30 years in O'Neill, during which time I have served as local assessor for six years, and as a member of the City Council for nine years. I believe my experience in transacting business for and with the public qualifies me for the office I am seeking. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Griswold Concludes Statewide Campaign

Dwight Griswold, Gordon editor and candidate for governor on the republican ticket will on Saturday night conclude his state-wide campaign that has taken him into nearly four hundred cities and towns of Nebraska, where he has addressed thousands of the voters of the state. It is doubtful if any candidate ever met as many people as has Mr. Griswold during the past six weeks.

In all of his talks he has stressed the need of honesty in politics. Pointing out that conditions in the state house at Lincoln were not what they should be, Mr. Griswold has promised that he will see that a public office is made a public trust, rather than a place where politics is played at the expense of the taxpayer.

Notwithstanding the hundreds of miles covered under the blazing sun, Mr. Griswold has thrived on the work thus proving that he has the energy to carry out the various moves he has been advocating.

Born in western Nebraska, the son of pioneer parents, a graduate of the Nebraska State University, having represented his district in the state legislature for several terms—all these have tended to give Dwight Griswold a broad viewpoint and the knowledge of the various parts of the state.
