DWIGHT GRISWOLD WELL RECEIVED AT HIS ADDRESS HERE

Tells Of Need For Change In The Conditions At State House And A Removal Of Politics.

Dwight Griswold, of Gordon, Republican candidate for Governor, spoke in O'Neill last Friday evening to a very nice crowd of representative citizens.

Griswold, who was the Republican candidate for Governor two years ago, renewed his pledge that it is his intention to drive political machine control out of our state government, declaring that state employes should devote their service to all the people of the state and not to their political employers—nor should they be paid salaries for the purpose or in amounts that are intended to provide for political contributions to the campaign fund—nor should they devote their time to political campaigns. He also declared against any new forms of taxation, for a budget control system for all units of government, for re-organization of the State Railway Commission, abolition of the office of State Land Commissioner, a more just handling of relief funds, a house cleaning in the State Banking Department so that it will operate in the interests of the depositors in failed banks, and the building of highways where they are needed rather than on the basis of securing votes.

Mr. Griswold was formerly President of the Nebraska Press Association. A Republican candidate for Governor two years ago he was defeated by only 35,000 votes by Governor Bryan while the state went democratic on the presidential ticket by 158,000. It is generally conceded that had it not been for the national landslide and the party circle that Griswold would be the Governor of Nebraska today.

Griswold stated that new forms of taxation always seem to result in becoming additional taxes and that certainly the great need now is for a reduction in those already being levied.

Mr. Griswold showed the need of a budget law for all divisions of government, requiring County Boards, City Councils, and School Boards, as well as the State Government, to publish in advance what their expenditures will be and giving the public an opportunity to suggest changes. "After the budget is permanently adopted," said Mr. Griswold, "the governing boards should not be permitted to incur any expense above that provided."

He also brought out the fact that the matter of the N. R. A. codes would be one of the vital problems to be handled by the next Governor and Legislature, because General Johnson has stated that they plan to ask each legislature to pass a law putting the force of the State Government behind the Federal officials. Mr. Griswold is absolutely opposed to this procedure as he feels that the N. R. A. codes have only resulted in higher costs to every business and higher prices for the things which Nebraska people buy. "The N. R. A.," said Mr. Griswold, "has not solved the unemployment problem as we were told that it would. The Government has made available a great deal of public work and if it were not for this, there would be more unemployment in this nation today than at any time in its history, showing plainly that the N. R. A. has only resulted in monopolistic and higher prices."

In discussing the activities of the banking department, Mr. Griswold said that the creditors of failed banks should have more to say about the management and conduct of them with full publicity being given to the salaries paid to the receivers and to the expenses of liquidation. "The bank depositors," said Mr. Griswold, "are entitled to know what is becoming of their money. We don't need a political machine in the Banking Department. We need plain business methods and every cent should be saved for those who have lost their money."

Mr. Griswold also described the political conditions which have been uncovered at the State Capitol, bringing out the fact that he discussed these same things in his campaign two years ago and expressed the view at that time that petty politics must be removed from its hold on Nebraska's government. State employes should be selected on the basis of their ability rather than merely for political pull. Then demand that they tend to their job and don't expect them to work for some candidate or finance his campaign. "I will not permit the solicitation of campaign funds from state employes while I am Governor," said Mr. Griswold.

He also stated that he would consider it his duty, if elected Governor, to cooperate with the national administration and with local officials in assisting those who are needy, due to drouth or unemployment. "Politics should not enter into a single phase of this proposition and the relief money should be spent to take care of those who need it and not furnish political jobs for party workers," he said.

"It is also necessary," said Mr. Griswold, "that our State Railway Commission be reorganized and I feel that in its place we should have a Public Utilities Commission selected on the basis of ability and knowledge. One member should be a capable engineer, one an attorney who specializes in rate matters, and the other a person who is acquainted with the agricultural and industrial needs of Nebraska. The members of this commission should not be permitted, after their service with it has ended, to accept employment with any utility company or be a candidate for public office. This will cause them to be absolutely fair in their decisions."

He stated that he felt this Public Utilities Commission should also furnish a free engineering service to the cities and towns of the state, giving them advice in all disputes with the Public Utilities. "The power to fix electric light charges should remain in the hands of the City Councils but they need this engineering and advisory service to assist them," he said.

Mr. Griswold discussed several other matters of interest to Nebraska people and in closing stated that he did not feel that Nebraska needed a lot of new laws or a lot of fads or "isms" but rather the interest of the state could best be served by a short business session of the Legislature, and with greater honesty, decency and common sense in the administration of the state government.

"The principal issue in the campaign for Governor," said Mr. Griswold, "is whether the present State House political machine shall remain in control of our State Capitol. The present group of political appointees in the State Capitol are unanimously opposed to me," he said, "and if you desire a change in the political conditions at Lincoln, I feel that I am entitled to your vote."

Boyd County Wins In 2nd Game With Holt

Several O'Neillites drove over to Spencer last Sunday to witness the ball game between the All Stars of Boyd county and the All Stars of Holt county. It was a very fine game and resulted in a victory for the Boyd county All Stars with a score of 2 to 3, in eleven innings. Mayor John Kersenbrock, of this city, umpired the game. The batteries were Honeycutt and Schollmeyer for Holt county and Axberg and Smith for Boyd county. Holt county was held to two hits, while Boyd county got six hits. Each team has now won a game and they will probably play another to find out which county has the best ball players.

Dinner Given Here For Dwight Griswold

About fifty of the business men of this city sat down to dinner last Friday evening, honoring Dwight Griswold, republican candidate for Governor, who spoke on the streets here that evening. The dinner was non-political and members of both parties were present. It was a testimonial given by the citizens of O'Neill to a citizen of western Nebraska, who, for the second time, has been the nominee of his party for the high office of governor.

At the conclusion of the feed, J. D. Cronin introduced the speaker to the dinner guests, stating that the dinner was non-political and that it was a testimonial from the business men of the city, to a leading citizen of western Nebraska who was the candidate of one of the major parties for the office of governor. Mr. Griswold responded briefly stating that he highly appreciated the compliment paid him by the citizens of this city and related some of the experiences he had encountered as a boy and a man in western Nebraska. He said that he always had a warm spot in his heart for O'Neill and this testimonial raised the city even higher in his estimation. He assured his listeners that he would be glad to see any of them at any time they should happen to visit his home city of Gordon. He made a very nice talk and at its conclusion he was heartily applauded.

WILL ASK AN AUDIT OF COUNTY'S BOOKS

This Question Again Brought To Front By Taxpayers League.

The Holt county Taxpayers League held their regular meeting at the court house last Saturday afternoon. The meeting was not as well attended as some of the meetings held, but a great deal of interest was manifested in the meeting by those present.

It was the date for the annual election of officers and the old officers were all reelected for the ensuing year. The officers are: Frank J. Schmidt, Page, President; C. A. Kirkland, Atkinson, Vice-President; Martin J. Conway, of O'Neill, Secretary-Treasurer. Executive committee: J. B. Fullerton, Atkinson; John A. Robertson, O'Neill; George Bressler, Middle Branch; F. J. Schmidt, Page; Robert Starr, Chambers; C. C. Kirkland, Atkinson, and Joseph Kaplan, Stuart.

The treasurer reported that collections since February, 1932, amounted to $47.55 and that expenditures amounted to $47.60.

Those at the meeting decided that they would circulate petitions among the voters of the county requesting that a general audit of the county be made. They figure, if they can get sufficient signers to the petitions to have the matter submitted to a vote of the people at the general election in November. If the electors sanction the audit they are of the opinion that the audit could be made shortly after the first of the year.

Candidates For State Offices Will Speak Here Coming Week

Richard O. Johnson, republican candidate for attorney general and Dr. T. W. Bass, republican candidate for state treasurer, are on a speaking tour of this section of the state and will speak in O'Neill next Wednesday evening, October 10, at 7:30. Their car is equipped with a loud speaker and if the weather is favorable they will speak on the street.

Mr. Johnson represented Lancaster county in the state legislature and is well posted on the affairs of state. He is a gifted speaker and if you want to hear the issues of this campaign discussed by an able and convincing speaker, you should attend the meeting next Wednesday night.

In addition to their address at O'Neill, these candidates will also speak at Page on Wednesday afternoon, October 10, at 4:30. On Thursday, October 11, they will speak at Atkinson at 9 a. m. and at Stuart at 11 a. m.

Debard Huntman and his sisters, Sophie and Anna, of Plainview, came up last Monday for a few days visit with friends in this city and vicinity. The Huntman family resided northwest of this city for several years, removing to Pierce county about three years ago. While here Mr. Huntman called at this office and extended his subscription to The Frontier. He said the family eagerly looked forward to the papers arrival every week, so that they could keep track of events in their old home town.

The O'Neill Woman's Club is entertaining at a tea and program at the club room Saturday, October 6, at 3 p. m., and are asking for donations of books for the library. Admission, books, or silver offering, which will be used for the purchasing of books. The women of the community are cordially invited,

SHOULD TREAT FOR HOG MANGE BEFORE COLDER WEATHER

Use Crankcase Oil Or Lime Sulphur Are Most Effective In The Treatment Of Mange.

All hogs should be dipped, sprayed or treated in some way for mange and scurf before cold weather. This will insure greater thriftiness and less loss later. If the small mites causing mange are not killed now, they will continue to multiply and cause heavy losses during the winter months. It is also cheaper to treat the smaller animals.

Last winter the losses from mange were about the heaviest they have ever been. Many hogs were discounted by the packers, and thousands of others were slightly mangy. There is always a loss in processing hogs with mange, for hams and other primal cuts from such hogs must be trimmed. This causes a loss of one or two grades in the product.

Mange is injurious to all classes of hogs, but the greatest losses occur in pigs and poorly nourished hogs kept in unsanitary quarters. The losses are caused by irritation, unthrifty condition, functional disturbances, arrested growth, low vitality and increased death rate.

Used crankcase oil or lime-sulphur are the most effective treatments for mange. Hogs can be sprayed, but it is more difficult to get the liquid on all parts of the body by this method. If any mange mites are not destroyed, naturally they will continue to grow and multiply. The use of wallows or vats is more desirable.

Wallows made of lumber or concrete are inexpensive. A common size is five feet wide, ten feet long and eight inches deep. When wallows are made of lumber they can be changed about to different hog yards and pastures.

Emergency Livestock Day For October 12th

In an attempt to help Nebraska farmers use all available feed to the best possible advantage in carrying stock thru the coming winter months, an "emergency livestock day" has been scheduled for the University of Nebraska college of agriculture campus on Friday, October 12. Holt county farmers have been invited to attend.

The event this year replaces the annual Rooter's Day usually held at the college for swine producers. Special emphasis will be placed on maintenance rations for livestock this winter. College of agriculture faculty members will appear on the program. Rowland Haynes, federal relief administrator in Nebraska; L. A. White, director of rural rehabilitation; W. H. Brokaw, director of the agriculture extension service, and Charles Kuning, manager of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation have also been invited to speak.

Seven lots of government drouth cattle which have been used in an "emergency ration" experiment at the college may be on exhibit thru-out the day. Prof. R. R. Thalman has had charge of the test in which cows, poor in flesh and typical of drouth purchased animals, have been fed varying maintenance rations.

Holt county farmers will be interested in the results of the experiment. They will indicate the possibilities of feeding tankage as a protein supplement and how straw, fodder and ensilage compare. Other results will show how much feed is necessary to carry animals thru the winter.

Campaigning For Stefan

C. E. Fraser, of Madison county, was in the city Wednesday. Mr. Fraser is around doing a little work promoting the candidacy of Karl Stefan for congress. He says that the candidacy of Karl Stefan is increasing in popularity every day and that there seems to be no question but what he will be successful at the polls on November 6th. Practically all the traveling men in this territory are boosting Karl, and they say he is going over with a great majority. Mr. Fraser says that Madison county will give Karl an enormous majority, thus proving their confidence and loyalty to him.

Hospital Notes

Miss Rose Schmidt, of Anoka, Nebr., was brought to the hospital suffering from a scalp wound received in an auto collision near Danceland, Sunday evening at 10:30. Several stitches were taken and she left for her home the next day at noon.

Rev. Ohmart expects to leave for his home today.

RECEPTION HELD FOR NEW PASTOR

Program And Luncheon Given For Rev. And Mrs. A. Judson May.

About 100 members and friends gathered at the Methodist church last Tuesday evening and tendered a reception to their new pastor and his wife, Rev. A. Judson and Mrs. May.

Shortly after 7:30 a committee called on the pastor and his wife at the parsonage and escorted them to church where practically all the members of the congregation and a few friends had congregated, to welcome Rev. and Mrs. May to the city. Those in charge of the reception had prepared a program, which was rendered in the auditorium of the church. Following is the program rendered:

Ruth Kraemer and A. E. Bowen, piano duet; H. B. Burch, explanations; Phillip Weingartner, bass solo; Mrs. Hancock and Miss Kramer, vocal duet; A. E. Bowen, piano solo; Mrs. H. B. Burch, reading; D. S. Conrad, welcome address; Rev. and Mrs. A. J. May, response; Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Harris and Miss Kramer, vocal trio.

At the conclusion of the program in the auditorium they repaired to the basement of the church where a lunch was served and another program given under the direction of H. B. Burch. Here Mrs. Elmer Hagensick sang a solo and Miss Violet Butterfield entertained with a reading, both of which were greatly appreciated.

Rev. May and his charming helpmate were greatly pleased with the reception accorded them and believe that they are going to enjoy their new home.

Simmons And Burke Will Hold Debates

Robert Simmons, republican candidate for United States senator, and Edward Burke, democratic candidate for the same office, will hold a series of joint debates, starting the first of the week at Fremont. The democrats were not very anxious for this debate, but they finally got out on a limb and there was nothing for them to do but to accept the challenge that was given them. We are of the opinion that Candidate Burke will begin to thing he has hold of a red hot poker before Bob Simmons gets through with him on the stump.

Not Enough Sheep Listed

Not enough sheep have been listed in Holt county to pay to have a sale. Any one wishing to sell sheep to the Government, should list them with their committeeman and have him forward them to the county agent, Reece, at once.

Mr. and Mrs. George Agnes and son, Harlan, and daughters, Mary Virginia and Lorane, drove up to Plankinton, South Dakota, last Friday for a few days visit with relatives. While away they also visited the corn palace at Mitchell. This is an annual show that has been put on by the business men of that city annually for over thirty years. On account of the drouth the corn exhibit was a little light this year, but Mr. Agnes says there was the largest crowd there last Saturday that he had ever seen in Mitchell and that they had a fair exhibit in the corn palace, considering the year. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Elmer Stolte, John Harbottle, Joe Cadwell and Fred Cole drove down to Lincoln last Saturday morning to see the Nebraska-Wyoming football game. They went up to Omaha Saturday evening and returned home Sunday.

Mrs. M. A. Summers, living east of this city, enjoyed a visit over the week-end with a niece of hers, Mrs. Ed. Mumough, of Omaha, who arrived here last Friday and returned to her home Monday night.

Mrs. H. J. Porter Dead At Portland Oregon

Chambers relatives received word last Monday that Mrs. H. J. Porter, of Chambers, died on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dessie Porter, at Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Porter had lived in Chambers and vicinity practically all her life until four years ago when she went to Portland because of her health, and since that time had made her home there with her daughter.

She is survived by her husband, H. J. Porter, of Chambers, a son Frank Porter, of Chambers, and a daughter, Mrs. Letha Cook, of Chambers. Frank Porter and Mrs. Letha Cook left Monday for Portland to attend the funeral, which will be held at Portland.

OCTOBER 13 ENDS BUYING OF CATTLE

Cattle Will Be Bought According To The Order Listed.

Word from State Drouth Director H. J. Gramlich, indicates the government will quit buying cattle the 13th of October. If any one is desiring to sell cattle to government they should list their cattle with their committeeman by Monday, October 8. If more cattle are listed than can be bought next week, precedence will be given those who list first.

Over 10,000 head have been purchased in Holt county and checks have already been sent to producers for a large number.

Holt county farmers have received several thousand dollars more than the market price for cattle which have been sold to the government.

J. L. Hershiser, of San Diego, Calif., left Monday afternoon for Norfolk, after a weeks visit with his brother here and with his sister, brother and other relatives near Emmet. Jake was one of the pioneer residents of this county, coming here in 1884, fifty years ago this fall. For over twenty years he was a resident of this city, having been engaged in the drug business for several years. From O'Neill he moved to Norfolk where he operated a drug store for several years, moving to California about five years ago. Jake says that things politically are up in the air in California. The possibility that Upton Sinclair, for many years one of the most prominent socialists in the United States, who secured the democratic nomination for governor of California, might be elected governor of that state, has got them all jumpy, and men of money are beginning to get uneasy, drawing in their cash, and that things are not as active there at the present time as normally.

Ask Bids On Paving For Fourth Street

The state department of roads has asked for bids to be submitted on October 18 for the paving of Fourth street in this city, from the corner of Fourth and Douglas streets to the Northwestern depot, also for the widening of the paving on Douglas street. It is now so late in the season that it is believed that only preliminary work will be done this fall, the paving being put off until spring.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who won the championship of the National League in a driving finish, keeps right on winning and won the first game of the World's series from the Detroit Tigers, champions of the American League, at Detroit Wednesday afternoon with a score of 8 to 3. Dizzy Dean, the star twirler of the National League, was on the mound for St. Louis and he seemed to have the Tigers scared as errors by the Detroit infield was responsible for the first two scores made by St. Louis. After the second inning it was all St. Louis. They play again today at Detroit and then move to St. Louis where they will play Friday and Saturday and if more games are needed to settle the championship they will play at Detroit again on Sunday. The local fans are strong for the Cardinals, which team has been picked to win the flag by most of the experts.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

School teachers from all parts of the county, of both sexes, had possession of O'Neill last Monday and Tuesday. There were over 300 in the city, both city and rural teachers, in attendance at the annual meeting of the Holt County Teachers Institute, which was held in the O'Neill High School.

Instructors at the institute were: J. G. Masters, principal Central High School, Omaha; C. K. Mills, Chicago; Lyle Durham, Music Instructor of the O'Neill high school; Miss Maude Henderson, Normal Training Instructor, O'Neill high school.

The delinquent tax list for the year 1933 will be published next week in The Frontier, Atkinson Graphic and Page Reporter. The list will be nearly as large as last year and it shows that the broadcast about prosperity having arrived is not true, for when the farmers and the people of the towns have money they pay their taxes and when they do not have the money the taxes, like a lot of matters, have to go by the board.

Mrs. L. Corey, of Hastings, arrived in the city the first of the week and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Toy. Mrs. Corey is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Abdoush, for many years residents of this city, but who moved to Omaha a few weeks ago.

The Simonson American Legion post of this city, at a recent meeting, decided to celebrate Armistice Day, Monday, November 12 with a celebration.

This will be Legion day in O'Neill and plans are now under way to provide a real program of entertainment, including a parade, bands and drum corps, foot ball game and a dance in the evening.

The program of the day will start in the morning with an address by a prominent speaker. The entire day will be given over to sports and the members of the Legion expect to make it one of the biggest celebrations ever held in this section of the state.

The Legion will sponsor a foot ball game between the local High school team and a suitable opponent, the proceeds of the game to go to the High school athletic fund.

C. W. Conklin, former State Adjutant of the American Legion, has been selected as general chairman and the personnel of the various committees, who will have charge of the celebration, will be announced in the near future.

Church Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

The fiftieth anniversary of the First Baptist church at Chambers was celebrated there on September 27 to 30. Last Thursday night, the anniversary of its 50th year, the anniversary picture was revealed and presented to the church, the presentation speech being made by Leo Adams, one of the trustees of the church. The anniversary sermon was delivered by Rev. Ira D. Halverson, who served as pastor of the church from 1918 to 1922.
