THE BURDEN INCREASES

Glasgow (Ky.) Republican: While the debate waxes hotter on how far we are out of the depression the relief rolls continue to grow. Another unfortunate circumstance lies in the fact the cost of living has increased materially during the past year, and this affects those whose incomes have not increased, as well as those whose incomes are larger, and the former are very much in the majority. In spite of all the optimistic statements about what the New Deal has accomplished the relief rolls are longer than they were a year ago.

Remember when NRA was going to solve all our problems in a few months? And now it looks like it will take more than that just to solve NRA's problems.
