See what you save with the RIGHT Winter Oil

Both plungers and cylinders are identical; both are filled with equal amounts of oil—but wait till you try to raise the one on the right!

"Hey George! Look at this!"

ON display at Standard Oil Stations and Dealers' right now, is an unusual device called a "drag-test demonstrator." Stop in and try it. You'll learn how you can save on car-operating costs this winter.

This "gadget" shows how the wrong kind of motor oil gets thick and sticky in cold weather... how it grips pistons, puts heavy strain on starter, generator and battery, wastes gasoline, and may even cause costly damage to your engine.

Also, it shows how the special cold-weather grades of Iso-Vis "D"—10-W or 20-W—let your engine start easily and run drag-free even at zero... how you may save as much as 10% in gasoline used for winter driving.

Do it now! Stop at a Standard Station and get this money-saving story. The Serviceman can drain your crankcase and refill it with the correct grade of Iso-Vis "D" in no time. He follows latest recommendations of car manufacturers for winter lubrication. He gives you what your engine needs for the most economical winter operation.

20-W flows freely at 5° below zero
10-W flows freely at 20° below zero
