The Supreme Surprise
Attraction of Century

It concerns everyone, both young and old. This picture is not a sermon—it is not propaganda.

Whether one regards Jesus as the Divine Son of God, or whether one regards Him as a Great Historical Figure, all must admit that no one Person ever left so great a mark on human progress—never so profoundly influenced human hearts and lives, as has Jesus of Nazareth. All the world has been waiting for this marvelous production in the new modernized form.

Authentic—because all scenes were photographed amid the old world settings of Ancient Judea—scenes, settings and characters that no Hollywood studio could produce.

Synchronized in a marvelous talking form, that all may understand it, with a beautiful background of singing and symphonic music that will touch the heart of every human being, as the multitudes enact this, the oldest and greatest story ever told.

Don't miss this wonderful opportunity of seeing the greatest and most spectacular production of all time. Without fail see the "Passion Play," next week at the Lyric Theatre, Atkinson.—Paid advertising.

 Governor Coeheran displayed his sporting blood by appointing one of his opponents in the democratic primary last year, Mrs. A. F. Nungquist, of Osceola, to serve as director of the state child welfare bureau, succeeding Mrs. Clara Slayton, of Lincoln. The governor is going to appoint another of his opponents, William Banning, of Union, to an important position in the near future, it is rumored.

The state game commission plans to set a new record this spring by planting a million bull heads in eastern Nebraska waters. The previous record is 600,000 in 1933.

Consumption of gasoline in Nebraska will be increased at least 2,000,000 gallons a year by enforcement of the new gasoline port of entry law, it is estimated. Gas tax collections will be increased $100,000 a year.

During the heavy rain Wednesday evening several of the sewerage intakes were clogged up and water was running down the center of Fourth street a foot deep. It begins to look as if one pipe line would not be sufficient to carry the water that comes down Fourth street, although the engineers thought differently.

Mayor Kersenbroek was street commissioner Wednesday night. He made a tour of the city, opening up clogged sewerage intakes, permitting the water that backed up several places to pass thru, thus saving several homes in the western part of the city from water damage. John managed to get a good soaking out of the job.
