John Baker made a business trip last week to Burwell and Broken Bow.

We have noticed no items of printers or farmers going on a vacation. The farmers corn field can burn to a frazzle just as well without him around but what would become of the breezes if the printers went on a vacation?

Haying is pretty well wound up in the southwest, with stacks standing thick upon the meadows.

A two-hour rain Saturday evening soaked the ground in good shape, insuring a fair harvest of corn. Most fields were damaged some by prolonged hot weather.

Glenn Saunders, of O'Neill, spent the night Sunday with dad at the home place, others of the household being away.

HUNTERS!

There'll be ducks in every slough this year—and not far off a Gamble Store to save you money on shotgun shells. Complete stock of sizes and loads.—Adv.

THE NEBRASKA SCENE

ents by the state is assessed to the various counties. A fund of $80,000 is available to create a system of employment in the penal institutions of the state. The goods manufactured are to be used by the board of control in maintaining state institutions, and not to be sold under any condition.

The law is now in effect to put the proposal to abolish the office of state commissioner of public lands and buildings to a vote of the people at the November, 1936, election.

A review of state history reveals that newspapermen without exception in performing the duties of high governmental offices in Nebraska.

A glance over the present state roster reveals six exnewspaper men who have made good. Fred C. Ayres, former deputy state auditor, who was appointed auditor last week to fill the vacancy caused by the sudden death of State Auditor W. B. Price, has been in the weekly newspaper business in Upland, Eagle, Seward, Holbrook and Holdrege. He entered the service of the state government as food inspector in 1913 under Governor Morehead.

Deputy Secretary of State Ira Tolen, who last week was chosen by the board of educational lands and funds to fill the newly created position of secretary of the state bonding commission at $3,000 a year, ran a paper for a number of years at Ord.

State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith is still the owner of a newspaper at Seward. Deputy Secretary of Agriculture McGaffin and State Railway Commissioner Maupin are veterans of the newspaper business in Nebraska. State Purchasing Agent Ferris worked for W. J. Bryan's Commoner and once ran a weekly in the western part of the state.

The state fairboard finally cast political caution to the winds and decided to permit pari-mutuel betting at the state fair next month. This was done in the face of much church opposition, and was for the purpose of saving the financial hide of the fair, according to Secretary Perry Reed.

The fair week horse racing program will be extended into an eight day meet, and the pari mutuel machine will be entirely under the control of the fair board with no outsiders muscling in.

As a concession to the antitobacco, the cashiers' windows for placing bets will be "hidden from the grandstand view and the eyes of the 4-H youth assembled."

State Auditor Price who died from heart trouble last week "with the harness on," was the third Nebraskan for whom the state capitol was the scene of the last rites. A similar tribute was paid to Col. John M. Stotenburg, commander of the 1st Nebraska volunteers, who was killed in the Philippines during the war with Spain.

The first such rites held in the present state house were for State Representative Trenmor Cone who passed away during the 1935 legislative session.

One thing is sure. If you buy an article labeled "Made in Japan" or made in Czecho-Slovakia you may rest assured that the money for the cost of its production did not go to American workers.

There is one thing we need not be afraid of. The AAA will never pay Santa Claus to plow under every third present on Christmas Eve.

A beauty specialist authority says that blondes are becoming extinct. Oh, yes? Go to any bathing beach and you will find them more in evidence than ever. The same thing is true of brunettes.

Well, maybe if the processing tax is declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court the government can pay the farmers for not raising crops out of the $4,800,000,000 fund—if it has any money left.

Bat Not Rodent

The bat, though it somewhat resembles rats and mice in appearance and its nocturnal habits, does not belong to the order of rodents which includes them. Bats form an entirely separate order of mammals, the Chiroptera, distinguished by the wing or membrane which extends from the body to the ends of the feet. Our bats are all insectivora, while many species of the Old world feed on fruits.

Number Thirteen

Various theories of the origin of the superstition surrounding the number thirteen are advanced, but probably the one most widely circulated is that it arose from the fact that thirteen persons sat down to the last supper with Christ, just before the betrayal by Judas. The superstition that Friday the thirteenth bodes evil to mankind is explained by the fact Friday became feared as the day of the crucifixion.

THE HOLE IN YOUR POCKET

Press dispatches from Washington state that in the last twelve months $7,375,000,000 has been spent, which, with the $7,100,000,000 that was spent the preceding year, makes a total peacetime record spending of $14,475,000,000 for the past two years. Money has been spent twice as fast as it has been collected from the taxpayers. But all the spendings and all the borrowed money must eventually be extracted from the taxpayers' pockets.

At the end of the new fiscal year, it is estimated the national debt will be approximately $35,000,000,000, or a per capita debt of $270 on every man, woman and child in the country.

These figures are so staggering in size that one cannot grasp them. But the individual tax bills of various kinds that will soon be coming due, can be readily understood by every taxpayer whose pockets will be emptied in order to pay them.

Colonel Robinson, of the Yakima, Wash., Republic, in answering a "reactionary" citizen who asserted that taxpayers should have a voice in how their money is spent and that it should be spent as economically as possible, said:

"The idea that tax money should be spent economically is just as far out of date as the other. If tax money were spent economically, there wouldn't be more than half of it spent, and that fact alone is sufficient to condemn the idea. The prevailing thought is to spend public funds uneconomically, so that more funds can be raised and spent, thus putting more money into circulation and increasing the purchasing power of the people."

Sarcastic as is this paragraph of the Colonel's, it states a distressingly plain truth. Its lucidity is positively flawless. Some day the people will wake up to the fact that they pay the bill for all the "political presents" that are given to them.

BRIEFLY STATED

Elvin O. Alton, of Atkinson, and Miss Loretta Schunk, of Emmet, were granted a marriage license in county court last Monday. They were married by Rev. A. J. May in the Methodist parsonage that afternoon.

A prairie fire north of the Northwestern stockyards here caused a run by the fire trucks at 3:40 p. m. Monday. It was suggested sun rays focused by glass may have caused the fire. Damage was inconsequential.
