

Nile to Be Deflected From the Pyramids

AS THIS aerial photograph shows, the Pyramids look down on the Nile, as they have been doing for many centuries. But that is going to be changed, for after the present annual inundation the river is to be deflected into a system of flood control canals away from the old channel.

BEDTIME STORY

THE MERRY LITTLE BREEZES
HELP LIGHTFOOT

COULD you have seen the hunter with the terrible gun and Lightfoot the Deer that morning on which the hunting season opened you might have thought that Lightfoot was hunting the hunter instead of the hunter hunting Lightfoot. You see, Lightfoot was behind the hunter so as to keep track of him. As long as he knew just where the hunter was he felt reasonably safe.

The Merry Little Breezes are the best friends that Lightfoot has.

"It Was That Confounded Jay," Muttered the Hunter.

They always bring to him all the different scents they find as they wander through the Green Forest. And Lightfoot's delicate nose is so wonderful that he can take these scents, even though they be very faint, and tell just who or what has made them. So, though he makes the best possible use of his big ears and his beautiful eyes, he trusts more to his nose to warn him of danger. For this reason during the hunting season when he moves about he moves in the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes may be blowing. He knows that will warn him.

Now the hunter with the terrible gun who was looking for Lightfoot knew all this, for he was wise in the ways of Lightfoot and of the other little people of the Green Forest. When he had entered the Green Forest that morning he had first of all made sure of the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes were coming. Then he had begun to hunt in that direction, knowing that his scent would be carried behind him. It is more than likely that he would have reached the hiding place of Lightfoot the Deer before the latter would have known that he was in the Green Forest had it not been for Sammy Jay's warning.

When he reached the tangle of fallen trees behind which Lightfoot had been hiding he worked around it slowly and with the greatest care, holding his terrible gun ready for use instantly should Lightfoot leap out. Presently he found Lightfoot's footprints in the softground and studying them he knew that Lightfoot had known of his coming.

"It was that confounded Jay," muttered the hunter. "Lightfoot heard him and knew what it meant. I know what he has done. He has circled round so as to get behind me and get my scent. It is a clever trick, a very clever trick, but two can play at that game. I'll just try that little trick myself."

So the hunter in his turn made a wide circle back and presently there was none of the dreaded man-smell among the scents which the Merry Little Breezes brought to Lightfoot. Lightfoot had lost track of the hunter.

MINUTE MAKE-UPS
By V. V.

If you have a short neck, pay attention to the arrangement of hair at the nape. Make the curls go upward off the neck so that there will be a clear sweep from the base of the neck to the hairline. Hair curled high will give the appearance of a longer neck well poised on the shoulders.

What Next?

ON LABOR DAY

By ANNE CAMPBELL

ONE never knows the satisfying taste

Of bread until he earns it . . .

Better still

To plow the stubborn earth, to plant the waste

And carry the threshed wheat

down to the mill.

Bread that one gains by sweat is better than

The proffered loaf . . . The gift of luxury

Will never sing into the heart of man

As will his triumph over poverty.

Once the soiled hands of Labor

were not held

In high repute, but now our daily

prayer

Is not for gifts of bread . . . Our

pleas have welled

From weary hearts that have too much to bear.

But with new courage for the bitter

mill,

We pray to earn our bread by honest toil.

SECRET OF CUSTARDS

CUSTARDS are such good desserts for children and aged as well as for those who have weakened digestion. The secret of a good custard is in the cooking.

Steamed Cup Custard.

Beat two eggs lightly until the whites and yolks are well mixed, add three tablespoons of sugar, a bit of salt and a generous grating of nutmeg. When the sugar is well dissolved add a pint of good milk, stir and mix well and pour into three custard cups if large—four if small. Set in a pan of hot water and put on to steam. Do not let the water stand too deep in the pan so that in boiling it will roll into the cups. Watch carefully after the boiling begins; test with a clean knife thrust down the center of the custard. When the knife comes out clean remove the cups at once from the hot water and chill before serving. For variety in flavor—melt a few tablespoons of sugar in a smooth frying pan and pour this caramel into the bottom of the cups before adding the custard. When cooked they may be turned out and the caramel will form a brown sauce over the custard.

"Badger State" Nickname

The term "Badger State" was applied to the early lead miners who on first coming to a new location dug in the side of a hill and lived underground much as the badger digs in his burrow. The lead mines were located near the corner of the state where Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa meet. At first the term was applied in derision to the occupants of these temporary subterranean residences, then to all the inhabitants of the mining region, then to all the people of the state.

Effects of New Ideas

New conditions are ever calling forth new ideas, and truths may become untrue.

Do You Know—

That more than 3,500 tons of hair has been cut from the heads of American women during the bob era, it is estimated? There are 14,000,000 bobbed heads in the United States and about half this number spend $15,000,000 a year for waxes.

QUESTION BOX
by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

There is a man living next door to me who is very lazy. In fact he lets his wife support him by taking in washing. Shouldn't he be ashamed to let his wife support him in that way?

Sincerely,
ALEC. TRICKIRON.

Answer: I wouldn't blame the husband so much, if I were you. Maybe his wife is ignorant and can't earn a living any other way.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Can you tell me how it is that so many men are bald headed?

Yours truly,
DAN DRUFF.

Answer: Men lose half their hair worrying if their sweetheart will marry them. After they are married they pull out the other half worrying how to get a divorce.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I see where they were recently playing Hamlet in evening clothes. I am trying to modernize Uncle Tom's Cabin. Can you offer any suggestions?

Truly yours,
I. NOEL OTT.

Answer: When the bloodhounds chase Eliza, have her do the Charleston on each cake of ice.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I owned a horse but had no hay for the horse to eat. I met a man who had a load of hay and I traded him the horse for the hay. Now I have no horse to eat the hay. What can I do?

Yours truly,
ANN VILL.

Answer: Find the man you traded with and ask him if he'd be kind enough to lend you the horse to eat the hay.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have lost all my money and am broke. A fortune teller told me that when the soles of my shoes wear out, I will be on my feet again. Do you believe it?

Yours truly,
CLAIRE VOYANT.

Answer: Well, I have to. © Associated Newspapers.—WNU Service.

OF COURSE LOVE WOULD END
ALL EVIL

"LOVE will end all evil," Doctor Fry, the secretary of the Lutheran Board of American Missions, said in summing up his claim that all we need to solve the problems of unrest and misunderstanding that confront the world today is the right relationship between people.

We have heard similar sounding thoughts enveloped in so many platitudes that we have come to sort of hearing them without listening, to pass them up without looking

Huey Long Is Dead
Power in Personality
A Ship of Horror
Bathtub Danger

Huey Long is dead at forty-two years of age.

Arthur Brisbane

The world says: "How young, how pitiful, to die without full opportunity!" Everything is comparative, Alexander the Great, who died at thirty-two, was ruler of half the world at twenty-five; Keats died at twenty-six; Shelley at thirty.

Today, men do not develop as rapidly as in old days, when Napoleon thought of suicide because he had done nothing at an age that found Alexander ruler of the world.

The death of Huey Long, regretted throughout a nation that loathes cowardly assassination, is important not alone because of Senator Long's powerful personality, but also because of its possible effect on the national election of 1936.

Senator Long is gone; his power ceases, as though he had never lived. Others will pick up the reins of power, in New Orleans and Louisiana; another will take his place in the senate. Efforts, futile, will be made to find "another Huey Long."

There is nothing left but the memory of a powerful man, again emphasizing Goethe's definition of "personality," "as the highest good fortune of earth's children."

France discourages crime, and really discourages it. The dreaded prison ship, La Martiniere, is on her way to the criminal colony in French Guiana with 773 convicts locked in eight strong iron cages in the hold, with iron bars, cement floors, wooden benches, hammocks, and overhead a criss-cross of pipes that would fill the cages with deadly live steam if mutiny broke out.

No parole board sits in French Guiana. Each man ordered to the ship receives a new suit of clothes, a blanket, an extra pair of wooden shoes. That, with perhaps a few books and packages of chocolate from relatives, constitutes his wealth as, wrists chained, the convicts march, single file, up the gangplank, between rows of bayonets.

They go to prison, to stay in prison.

It is a hard system, but being murdered on the American plan is also a hard system.

Within a few days two women, one past sixty, the other seventy years old, have been found dead in their bathtubs, apparently drowned. The slippery surface of a porcelain tub is dangerous for older persons. They should observe the greatest care; a slip, the head striking the edge of the tub, can easily cause unconsciousness, followed by drowning.

Rubber factories should make and extensively advertise rubber mats for the bottom of bathtubs, with a suction arrangement to prevent slipping.

While the League of Nations talks peace and arbitration Mussolini recalls his consuls from various places in Ethiopia, reminding you of the clergyman who had a call to a large city. His little daughter said, "Papa is in his library, praying for light, and mamma is upstairs packing."

Mr. Max Baer, of the Jewish race, will fight on September 24 Mr. Joe Louis, of the African negro race, and already $300,000 worth of tickets have been sold. The price for a good seat is $25.

Mr. Baer, who gave a pitiful exhibition, not long ago, when he permitted his "heavyweight championship of the world" to wriggle off of the hook, now promises to "chase that boy (Joe Louis) out of the ring in two rounds."

Publicly Mr. Joe Louis gives an imitation of "Br'er Rabbit," and says little.

Maneuvers demonstrating French war power, as it stands today, convince European experts that France possesses "the strongest military machine in the world." She possesses, also, men willing to fight, as shown at Verdun and elsewhere.

The government, floating five hundred million dollars more of interest-bearing notes, rejoices because they are snapped up "in a day." Of course they are "snapped up" under prevailing conditions. Men with money are as glad to hide it away in government notes and bonds as men in a cyclone country are glad, temporarily, to hide away in cyclone cellars.
