

Taxless Heaven Is Sought by Millionaires

Robert Hathaway. The picture which is shown herewith is of the little harbor of Le Creux, Island of Sark.

NEWS dispatches saying that two of Canada's richest citizens were contemplating moving to the Channel Islands have directed public attention to that group of British Isles. On one of them, Sark, no taxes are levied, and the only duty exacted of man is that he work on the roads two days a year. There are no automobiles or divorces and unemployment is unheard of. The island is ruled by a "queen," Mrs.

QUESTION BOX
by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am filling out an application for a job as a letter carrier. One of the questions is: "How far is it from Boston to Tucson, Arizona? What answer shall I give?"
Yours truly,
WILL I. B. WON.

Answer: Tell the government if that is to be your route you don't want the job without an airplane.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I have been in America for the past six months without earning one dollar. I am an artist, having studied in France and Italy. I am an expert on portraits of women, having made a specialty of painting ladies' faces. Can you tell me why I cannot get at least one job?
Yours truly,
MINNIE ATURE.

Answer: You are in the wrong country. In the United States you will find that the women paint their own faces.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
According to my history teacher in school, Christopher Columbus took a couple of schooners and discovered America. Don't you think that is wonderful?

Sincerely,
IZZIE LYING.

Answer: It was wonderful in those days, but if Columbus lived today and took a couple of schooners of the kind of stuff they are making now, there is no telling what he would discover.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am bookkeeper in an office where also works a pretty office girl. Yesterday we had an argument and she called me a "snake." Wasn't that awful?
Truly yours,
I. PUSHAPEN.

Answer: Don't take it to heart. It sounds worse than what she probably meant. You see, you are a bookkeeper, meaning that you were an "adder."

Dear Mr. Wynn:
During an English lesson at a night school I attend the teacher said that the two words "recollect" and "remember" can be used in the same sentence and mean different things. If this is true, will you give me an example?
Sincerely,
HANS N. FEET.

Answer: The teacher is right. I "recollect" lending a friend of mine $25, yet I don't "remember" ever getting it back.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
The teacher is right. I "recollect" lending a friend of mine $25, yet I don't "remember" ever getting it back.

MINUTE MAKE-UPS
By V. V.

Don't rely upon your fingertips or a piece of cotton for cosmetic application. The most subtle make-up is achieved through the use of a Japanese paint brush with fine hairs. Use this type of brush when applying eye shadow and see how much more easily you get the correct gradations of color.

Bathers Hail California Invention

BELIEVED to be the world's first motor-powered bathing beach cleaner, this odd mechanical monster successfully passed its tests at Santa Barbara, Calif., and is hailed with glee by bathers. It picks up and carries away rubbish of all kinds and sizes, from tiny bits of glass or nails and pins, to stones measuring five and one-half inches in diameter. The device "shaves" off the sand to a depth of four inches, sifts it thoroughly in a revolving hopper-screen, where all foreign objects are retained, and sprinkles the cleansed sand back in a smooth loosened layer.

COMFORT OF HENS
MEANS MORE EGGS

Clean Range, Water Needed for All Flocks.

By C. J. Maupin, Extension Poultryman, North Carolina State College.—WNU Service.

The productivity of laying hens in fall and winter depends a great deal upon the care and management given the poultry flock during the latter part of the summer. Good egg prices are expected for the rest of the year and it will pay the flock owners to bring their hens into lay under favorable conditions.

Birds should be given good feeding, a clean range, plenty of clean fresh water, and a clean comfortable house or shelter. By keeping the birds healthy and getting them to put on as much fat and body weight as they can, they can be brought into lay with a reserve of flesh and energy to meet the demands of the laying season.

Sexual maturity should be delayed in order to give the birds a chance to put on weight before starting to lay. Do not give early hatched pullets a feed high in protein. Avoid moldy or chaffy feeds, or such material as corn ground with the cobs.

If the birds fail to grow well, examine them for internal and external parasites. If mites or lice are found, clean the roosting quarters and treat the birds at once. For round worms or tapeworms, give the pullets a reliable worm treatment.

Find a good feed and stick to it unless there is a good reason for changing. Poultrymen often lose money by switching from one brand to another. Remove the old birds from the winter quarters. Scrub the floor and the fixtures and expose everything possible to the sun; then let the house stand vacant until well dried. Use disinfectants liberally.

Must Supply Laying Feed to Encourage Egg Yield

To have laying hens, it is necessary for them to get the nutrients contained in eggs and they must have these foods in sufficient quantities to make the eggs. Feeding limited amounts of laying mash will not give maximum egg production. The profitable method of feeding mash is the open mash hopper that contains mash all day. Although this may seem extravagant, notes an authority in the Montreal Herald, it has been repeatedly demonstrated that hens will eat no more mash than they use for egg production.

When hens which have not had laying mash or have had mash only in limited quantities are first put on the open hopper, they will eat a large amount during the first few days. However, they will soon settle down to the average of about seven and one-half pounds of feed per month.

Although the laying mash is an important factor, it loses its value if water is not available all the time. The water should be within five feet of the mash hopper.

Grain should be fed to the hens about two hours before they go to roost; it should not be thrown on the ground, but should be in troughs. This differs from recommendations often made in the past, but experience proves that trough feeding is a sound practice.

Blindness, Paralysis

There is no known cause for many cases of blindness and paralysis occurring in fowls, but there may be good reason for suspecting coccidiosis in a chronic form, this showing by a diseased intestinal tract with thickened and ulcerated walls. The chronic form of coccidiosis appears later in life than the acute, which is likely to show in chicks after six or eight weeks of age in a more acute form, with emaciation and death, according to the Rural New-Yorker.

How Many Hens to Keep

Growers who do not have enough good pullets to fill their houses to capacity this fall and winter may be justified in culling their hens less rigidly, according to a statement by Berley Winton of the Missouri College of Agriculture. This is especially true if there is an abundant supply of green feeds. A good yearling hen is superior to a poorly developed pullet but a well finished pullet usually lays more fall and winter eggs than a good yearling hen.

Poultrymen Keep Records

As in any business it is important to keep records and know what one is doing on the farm, but there is probably no phase of farming where this is more important than in the case with poultry, and it has been frequently observed that the best poultrymen are the best bookkeepers, advises an expert. Some of the world's foremost poultrymen have been auditors, men who would be miserable unless they knew exactly where they were financially.

HIKING CLUB FOR BLIND

Blind men have been taking part in business and even boxing and playing cricket in England, but the latest development in that direction is a hiking club for the blind formed at Manchester. There are about 40 members who go on a rambling tour every two weeks. While they are accompanied by guides who have their eyesight, they get along surprisingly well, even on rough roads among the hills. They thoroughly enjoy their outing, are good walkers, and a tramp of 15 miles is child's play for them.

WHEN THEY SHOW THESE SIGNS

—Nervousness, Constipation, and Poor Appetite, check their diets for this all-important, 3-purpose vitamin

Many are nervous, poor in appetite, system out of order, because their diets lack enough of the precious Vitamin B for keeping fit.

Few things keep them back like a lack of this protective food element.

So give everyone Quaker Oats every morning. Because in addition to its generous supply of Vitamin B for keeping fit, it furnishes food-energy, muscle and body-building ingredients. For about 1/2c per dish.

Start serving it tomorrow for a 2-weeks test. Quaker Oats has a wholesome, nut-like, luscious appeal to the appetite. Flavors, surpassingly good. All grocers supply it.

IN VITAMIN B FOR KEEPING FIT... 1c worth of Quaker Oats equals 3 cakes of Fresh Yeast

Quaker and Mother's Oats are the same

Facts do not so much account for defeat or victory as the spirit shown in the face of them.

BEDTIME STORY
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

WIT AGAINST WIT

IT WAS a dreadful game the hunter with the terrible gun and Lightfoot the Deer were playing in the Green Forest. It was a matching of wit against wit, the hunter seeking to take Lightfoot's life and Lightfoot seeking to save it. The experience of other years had taught Lightfoot much of the ways of hunters and not one of the things he had learned about them was forgotten. But the hunter in his turn knew much of the ways of deer. So it was that each was trying his best to outguess the other.

When the hunter found the hiding place Lightfoot had left at the warning of Sammy Jay, he followed

There Was Only One Direction in Which It Was Safe for Lightfoot to Move.

Lightfoot's tracks for a short distance. It was slow work and only one whose eyes had been trained to notice little things could have done it. You see, there was no snow and it was only now and then when he had stepped on a bit of soft ground that Lightfoot had left a footprint. But there were other signs which the hunter knew how to read, a freshly upturned leaf here and there, a bit of moss lightly crushed. These things told the hunter which way Lightfoot had gone.

Slowly, patiently, watchfully, the hunter followed. After a while he stopped with a satisfied grin. "I thought as much," he muttered. "He heard that pesky Jay and circled around so as to get my scent. I'll just cut across to my old trail and unless I am greatly mistaken I'll find his tracks there."

So swiftly, but silently, the hunter cut across his old trail and in a few moments he found just what he expected, one of Lightfoot's footprints. Once more he grinned. "Well, old fellow, I've outguessed you this time," said he to himself. "I am behind you and the wind is from you to me so that you cannot get my scent. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if you're behind that old windfall." He at once began to move forward silently and cautiously.

Now when Lightfoot following behind the hunter, had lost the scent of the latter, he guessed right away that the latter had found his tracks and had started to follow them. Lightfoot stood still and listened with all his might for some little sound to tell him where the hunter was. But there was no sound, and after a little Lightfoot began to move on.

There was only one direction in which it was safe for Lightfoot to move, and that was the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes were blowing. As long as they brought him none of the dreaded man smell he knew that he was safe. The hunter might be behind him. Probably he was. But ahead of him, so long as the Merry Little Breezes were blowing in his face and brought no dreaded man smell, was safety.

Still Going Strong

This photograph of President Roosevelt was made at the time congress adjourned, and seems to indicate that the Chief Executive stood the strain better than most of the senators and representatives though he worked harder than any of them.

Effects of Snake Poison
A snake uses its poison to kill its food and to defend itself. The poison of a copperhead or rattler destroys the blood and vessel walls. Its action might be compared to that of a powerful acid. While the bite of a copperhead is very serious, it is seldom fatal.

PATTY WENT TO SCHOOL TODAY

By ANNE CAMPBELL

PATTY went to school today
It is lonely on our street,
No small girl to smile my way,
No bright curls and twinkling feet.

All her playmates are in school,
Barry, Phil and little Nan—
It was noisy, as a rule,
On our street till school began.

Sometimes in the afternoons,
When they took their naps at three,
There were no bright baby tunes,
And no voices calling me.

Now the morning breeze is cool,
And September's sky is gray,
All the sunshine is in school,
Patty went to school today!

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

COMPANY ICE CREAM

ALMOST any of the fancy ices and creams prepared and served in the shops may be duplicated at home. Ice cream is one of the desserts that one always finds room for, no matter how hearty the meal. With the fancy brick ice cream ready to serve, many housewives find it a most attractive way of serving cream. The following are a few suggestions for using it in different desserts:

Cut cake, either sponge, angel, chocolate or caramel, using the kind appropriate to the cream served. Take two slices of gold cake, put together with a slice of caramel cream, cover the sandwich with caramel sauce and sprinkle with toasted almonds.

Angel cake, strawberry ice cream and crushed berries for the sauce. Chocolate cake, vanilla ice cream and a sauce of whipped cream and chopped nuts.

Fruit Sundae.

Prepare a nut sauce, using chopped dates, figs preserved in sirup, maraschino with the sirup and blanched toasted almonds. Prepare the fruit, using equal amounts of each finely chopped, adding the sirup to make of the right consistency. Serve vanilla ice cream with the sauce poured over it.

Mint Float.

Boll one-half cupful each of sugar and water together for five minutes. Add the leaves from a bunch of mint finely chopped; there should be six tablespoons; add a scant half cup of lemon juice and let stand several hours or overnight. Tint with green color paste. In each glass put a tablespoon of the mint sirup, fill the glasses with ginger
