SOUTHWEST BREEZES

Haying is over. Potatoes and pumpkins in. Next is the corn.

Art Hazelbaker has acquired a Model A coupe. He, in company with John Baker, gave it a try-out Monday scouting around over in Green Valley.

Fall round-up is on again. Bower & Hall are the first observed to move a herd of bawling white faces from the summer range to the home ranch. Cattle have come thru fairer and fatter than ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Baker were in Atkinson and vicinity Tuesday, Tom investing in another porker to install in his pens with the intent to acquire additional litters.

Mrs. Fanny Riley is expecting her life-long friend, Mrs. Arthur Huffnagel, of Lincoln, as a guest this week.

Roy Warden got in on the horse buying Tuesday at the Atkinson sales ring, his bid catching a neat little nag that will be put to use down here.

Make a big haul and escape legal penalties or be pardoned out. Steal a calf or a few chickens and serve out the limit.

Tom Baker made a run after a fat, furry coon in the moonlight Tuesday evening. Sir Coon's short but active legs carried him beyond the danger zone and he was soon lost to vision when he took to the hills.

At Holt Creek, on the way out from Atkinson Tuesday evening, Bill Fryrear experienced the dismay which comes to everybody at least once when the old bus stops perculating. Ten miles from home with a "dead" motor is not the most inspiring event on a pleasant, moonlight autumn evening. As things were looking their worst a friendly and helpful neighbor came along on the way home from town and by the bumper process conveyed the stalled car in.

Mrs. Farrier and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. Farrier, and two children of Chambers, were guests at the Riley ranch Sunday. The elder Mrs. Farrier has recently returned from a visit in Oregon and Washington and is quite charmed with the Eden-like aspect there encountered.

Mrs. Raymond Bly found it necessary to go to the neighbors for help Wednesday morning when her car balked on the way to school with their little son. Some one is generally not far away at such times to "give a lift."

A correction is in order. Mr. James and his son were disappointed in the trip mentioned for a new car, as none were available at present. H. L. and Mrs. James went on a sad mission, however, Monday of last week. An old friend of the family during their residence in Rock county, Ed Leahy, died suddenly and was buried at his home town, Danbury, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. James going to attend the funeral.

Most automobile trips are without incident—preferably so when the "incident" might be a smash up. An exception to the general rule was experienced the other day up in the northern part of the county. A very little lad came to the road from a farm house and gave us the stop sign. We thought something must be wrong but the lad came up and asked breathlessly "Have you a cigarette for my brother?" It was something of a stumper, but as none of our party of six carried such equipment his appeal was fruitless.

Some sixteen hundred Abyssinians—civilians, women and children—were put to the slaughter in an air plane invasion as a retaliation after 40 years, introducing actual warfare. So that is revenge. It would look a little better in the eyes of civilization if the Duce's forces had taken it out on the black troops instead of helpless non-combatants.

202 FROM O'NEILL ENTERTAINED BY KNIGHTS OF SIAM

school band attired in striking green and white uniforms. O'Neill's large delegation walked behind the band. Others who took part in the parade were the famous German band of Pierce, O'Neill's snappy German band, the Knights of Siam band, Norfolk American Legion junior drum corps, the Norfolk C. and N. W. Boy Scouts drum corps and several hundred Knights of Siam.

"The parade was witnessed by a throng that lined sidewalks on Norfolk avenue. At each street intersection many cars were parked, from which people witnessed the parade.

Gather in Verges Park.

"The marchers went from First to Tenth street and then north to Dr. C. J. Verges' park where a barbecue feast and jamboree had been prepared for the huge crowd under the direction of Dr. Verges.

"Dr. Verges left nothing undone for the entertainment of the visitors, who included not only the O'Neill people but also groups of Knights and others from northeast Nebraska towns.

"Between 500 and 600 persons enjoyed the barbecue feast. Dr. Verges had two 2-year-old beebes barbecued for the visitors, there being 400 pounds of meat served. In addition there were eighteen gallons of beans, twelve gallons of kraut, four gallons of dill pickles, ninety loaves of bread, two gallons of mustard, 20 pounds of onions, 20 pounds of radishes and 20 pounds of cheese. When the bread supply, sufficient for 500 persons, was exhausted more was obtained so every person would be served.

"Dr. Verges transformed his park into what had the appearance of a carnival ground. There were tents, two band stands, seats in front of the stands, plants on posts so guests could eat their meal with enjoyment and four bonfires that kept the big crowd from being chilled.

"A Congenial Host." "Speaking for the guests, Lynn D. Hutton, Norfolk, referred to Dr. Verges as a "congenial host whose efforts had assured everyone an enjoyable event."

"Others whose contributions added to the success of the event were: Norfolk Bottling company, City Club Sales company, C. O. Seder, wholesale beer; Standard Beverage company, F. C. Blake-man, wholesale beer; Haley-Neeley company, Parish's, Norfolk Bridge and Construction company, Joyce Lumber company, Krueger Electric company and Gettman's Radio music store.

"Wives of the visiting guests, following the barbecue feast, were entertained at a theatre party. Following the meal, the guests were given rolls of "Siamese money" which they spent at the concessions on the ground.

Bands Entertain.

"The two German bands, the O'Neill school band and the Knights of Siam band played numbers while the feast and jamboree were in progress.

"The party brought together many friends, made new friends and gave Norfolkans and the Knights of Siam a real treat. It was with much regret the Norfolk people had to say good bye to the congenial O'Neill travelers and other guests.

"At midnight, the O'Neill special train left from the Seventh street station, leaving behind pleasing memories of their friendly invasion of Norfolk."

To Hold Corn-Hog Referendum Oct. 26

At a recent hearing in Washington it was decided to hold a referendum on the corn hog program whereby producers and landlords can vote on its continuance in 1936. In view of this fact, it might be well to look back over the past year and see a few concrete benefits that may be attributed in whole or in part to the AAA. Last year Holt county had a total of 1378 corn-hog contracts which meant that approximately 5200 individual checks came into the county. Of this number only 32 remain unpaid. Represented by this number of checks Holt county has received $341,783.60 in first payment $109,160.04 in second payments and $73,022.21 in third payments. This money all came in at a time when it was sorely needed and used to pay taxes, buy food and clothing and no doubt turned over several times before leaving the county. Any business man in the county cannot deny that this amount of money circulating within the county materially helped his business. In addition to this around $6000.00 has been received on Holt county wheat contracts with another payment due this fall and spring of nearly equal size. This money has already been collected and paid in and in no way increases the public debt as do appropriations from direct tax funds. In addition last year 17,931 head of cattle were purchased in the county by the government for a total of $251,247.00 which was considerably above market price at that time.

Already in 1935 $48,157.05 has been received on corn-hog contracts with $20,000 more expected within the next ten days or two weeks and a total payment that will bring the amount received by individual farmers in the two years up near the million dollar mark. In addition there is the added advantage of the corn loan and grain storage and this does not figure the increase in the revenue from the increased price of those commodities the producers have to sell.
