Norfolk last Saturday and spent Sunday visiting relatives and friends in this city and vicinity.

Mrs. F. H. Butts, who had been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. D. H. Cronin, for the past six weeks left for her home at Nebraska City last Friday morning.

During the month of May The Frontier carried 1,263 inches of display advertising, more than has ever been carried by any newspaper in this city or county, except in a special edition. We have come close to that figure several months during the past year but never quite equalled it. This is far in excess of the advertising carried by any other paper in the county during the past month. Advertisers are not all asleep. They know the medium that reaches the people of the county and surrounding territory and place their advertising accordingly.
