and Douglas county, and one by which the county manager system of government might be placed in operation in Douglas county. The latter would be a substitute for the county manager law recently declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

It is expected that the legislature will provide funds to light the state capitol tower for ornamental purposes as well as a safety precaution for night-flying airplanes.

A campaign for a state police broadcasting system is underway under the sponsorship of Nebraska law enforcement officers. A $50,000 appropriation will be asked to set up the state system.

Ben M. Johnson, of Lincoln, has prepared a proposed bill for the unicameral legislature for a state civil service law copied much after the Wisconsin law, with the addition of a retirement plan for employees. He says it will cut party patronage to the minimum and give more efficient service.

The Nebraska Crop Growers' association will call to the legislators' attention a bill defining hybrid corn and prohibiting its sale under false premises.

A thorough overhauling of Nebraska's laws and ideas on law enforcement is advocated by Attorney General William H. Wright.

It is very likely that an existing state law prohibiting the smoking of cigarettes in public eating places will be repealed.

The lowest state tax levy in 15 years, or since the state board of equalization and assessment began to assess property at full value in 1921, has been set for 1936. The rate is 1.76 mills on the dollar valuation and is designed to raise $3,627,069 in state taxes on the basis of the grand assessed valuation of the state of $2,060,835,158, as determined recently by the state board.

The estimated total running expenses of the state government for the next fiscal year is $3,635,771. This is $738,067 less than the 1935 figure. The new levy will produce $1,298 more than the estimated amount needed. The State Tax Commissioner said the absence of legislative and other emergency appropriations and this year's higher tax valuations were responsible for the cut.

Savings out of the 1935 legislative appropriations which Governor Cochran will make in his departments or will be realized by agreement between the governor and the board of control total $104,000.

For the first time since 1921 an increase appears in the total tangible property assessment of the state as reported to the state tax commission by county clerk's and assessors. The amount for 1936 exceeds last year's aggregate by $30,591,635, the 1935 assessment being $2,030,243,533.

The turn which has finally taken place in the long cycle of decreasing property values in Nebraska not only boosts this year's assessment $30,000,000 above that of 1935 but also tops the 1934 total by a few hundred thousand. The present drought however may create another recession in the 1937 assessment.

Tough sledding apparently is ahead for Nebraska's proposed farm-labor party, which failed to gain official recognition at a recent state convention at Lincoln. Not enough signers attended, but another convention is being planned for late this month.

SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders
 L. G. Gillespie, of O'Neill, was a visitor in the southwest Tuesday.

The Elliott Carpenter family spent Sunday at the Sigman home near Amelia.

Weather conditions quite out-class Secretary Wallace as a factor in crop control.

Motorized haying equipment is becoming common. Will it be done by airplane next?

There are some fields of corn out this way that will make a partial crop should the frost line hold back long enough.

The southwest trusts the farm to market road program will become a reality and that this section will be designated as one of the zones.

With the government spending money like a drunken sailor it ought to have some effect on business. It will take confiscatory taxation to shake New Dealers out of the trance.

Conditions out this way will not be quite satisfactory to the old timers until they can again go to the lake and pull out two-and-a-half-foot pickerel.

A noted churchman refers to our times as a "crafty quilt civilization, a mad, silly, off-its-head world." Morals are less important than movies and beer more south after than bread.

Authoritative statements are made that by means of figure juggling the Roosevelt administration claims a twenty billion debt on the country and the real facts are it is forty billion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Roblyer, Mrs. Hitchcock, Mrs. Anderson and two daughters, Esther and Laureen, all of Atkinson, and Miss Ruby King, of Sheridan, Wyoming, visited friends in Swan last Saturday.

It is denied that corn-hog checks and political propaganda have been franked from Washington in the same envelope. A denial has not been noticed that they were franked out in the same mail in separate envelopes.

Ronald Watson brought a shining new truck out from Atkinson Friday for service at the ranch. Lately two fat ones from the ranch were sent to market that weighed over 2600. It takes a substantial vehicle to haul beeves like that to the Omaha market.

A little publication by and for the worldly wise reviews the memory of Tennessee's famous monkey trial when a great Nebraskan clashed with a great agnostic over the authority of the Bible. The old book retains its place as the most memorable thing in print in circulation, regardless of the fulminations of the critics and the shafts of atheists.

Clouds and a little rain Sunday evening, with a cooling draft from the north relieved the high pressure temperature in the southwest, now showing the effects of prolonged blistering sunbeams in spots of brown and yellow over the landscape.

When one buys an article of merchandise they have a right to expect that article to prove satisfactory in service. Employers of labor are not primarily concerned with union organizations. They have a right to expect the workers to turn out the work for which they are paid.

The compiler of the Breezes had the privilege of two days with the home folks, his thanks being due to Sheriff Duffy for a swift but safe ride to Atkinson Friday. A he was about to board the new Watson truck for the continuation of the journey the car from home showed up.

A writer in a far distant corner of the earth speaks of meeting a group of chiefs whose stalwart manhood, clean countenances and gleaming white teeth unstained by smoke and narcotic juices gave him a glimpse of the finest specimens of the human race he had seen anywhere. Maybe civilization is not so hot after all.

Growth encouraged by a continuous stream from a flowing well the Floyd Adams household at Amelia is plucking a goodly crop of ripe tomatoes, while most gardeners see among their vines only a fruitage with blistered cheeks turned to the sun.

School Notes
 Notices of the July state apportionment have just been sent out. Our apportionment was somewhat less this time due to the controversy between the Omaha school district and the state superintendent, Charles W. Taylor.
 Following an opinion of Attorney General Wright, the Omaha school district maintained that the liquor tax should be distributed to
