FIVE HERDS OF ELEPHANTS WITH CIRCUS

"What in the world do they ever do with all those elephants?"
This question is often asked about the five herds of huge pachyderms with the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus. The answer is simple. All but a few of them are needed for the spectacle, Old Mexico, that opens the program. In this pageant of unrivaled splendor hundreds of persons and scores of animals take part. The bejeweled costumes worn by the performers are the most elaborate ever designed for a circus. The five herds of elephants with this circus are used each performance.

The Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circuses come to O'Neill Tuesday, Aug. 17 for one performance, which will be held at 2 p. m. The doors will be open an hour earlier to permit inspection of the amazing international features and the mammoth new menagerie.
