

Boy Sees With Gift Eye

Frank Chabina pictured in Charity hospital at New Orleans, La., after the bandages had been removed from his eye on which a new cornea had been placed through the sacrifice of John Amos, sixty-year-old heart patient from St. Joseph, La., who surrendered his own eye to save the lad's failing sight. Frank is able to see the surgeon's hand held before his eyes. The boy's eyes had been hurt by a lime dust infection.

HEADS ENGINEERS

Col. John J. Kingman, who was named by President Roosevelt as assistant chief of army engineers with the rank of brigadier general, for a four year term. Colonel Kingman, currently on duty in San Francisco as engineer in charge of river and harbor improvements, is the son of the late Brig. Gen. D. C. Kingman.

I. O. meeting.

A Sea of Backs Bows at Moslem Festival

Farther than the eye can see stretches this vast expanse of backs at Calcutta, India, during the Moslem feast of Id-el-Fitr. Massed multitudes of the faithful join in this public declaration of their faith, in an impressive part of an age-old religious ceremony.

Her Axe Is Death to Slot Machine

Mrs. Dan Kite, of Alton, Ill., who is reported to have smashed 13 slot machines in ten taverns with an axe and her strong right arm. Because of the Illinois attorney general's ruling that there are no property rights in gambling devices, no charges were placed against her.

Victims of Jap Bombings

This photograph, one of the first of the Nanking bombings, shows a peasant carrying his dying child, an innocent victim of Japanese bombing. Dazed and in terrible anguish, he is allowed by doctors to place his child in an ambulance.

Ship Reaches Its Last Port of Call

The freighter Ohioan, which went aground many months ago off Lands End near San Francisco, Calif., is shown above after it was broken in two during one of the worst storms off the California coast in many years. Because of the precarious position in which the ship was left, it was impossible for salvaging vessels to approach close enough or for tugs to help float the vessel.

New York World's Fair in Preview

Artist's conception of the middle sector of the central mall of the New York World's fair of 1939, showing a 2,000-foot esplanade arranged alongside five lagoons. The lagoons will form setting for a group of four sculptured figures symbolizing basic factors in American liberty, for huge exhibit buildings and other basic features.

NOVEL WORM CATCHER

Dr. Carl Omeron, left, of Los Angeles, Calif., demonstrates his "vibro-helmintholator," a worm-catching device he recently invented, to his friend, Don Wilson. It consists of a steel rod and a corrugated wooden stick. When he puts the rod in soggy earth near a tree or pole and draws the stick across the rod like a violinist drawing a bow, the worms come out attracted by the vibrations.

GAVE EYE TO BOY

John Wesley Amos, sixty years old, of St. Joseph, La., who gave his left eye to Frank Chabina, nineteen years old, in a rare operation recently, that he might save the lad's failing sight. Amos and Chabina became friendly in a hospital in New Orleans where they were patients.

"Move Over!" Says Dam Builder to River

We Admire the Chap Who Can Stand the Gaff

We hear of some individual who, in spite of misfortune and handicaps, has faced life with a song on his lips and who has continued the battle against disagreeable circumstances, and we profess great admiration for him; but when we are assailed with troubles, we are apt to make a great outcry about injustice. We cannot stand the gaff that hooks us for our own heedlessness.

If we let the other lead the way and break trail, we must expect to get his dust.—Detroit News.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
