SHIELDS

On Sunday, May 22, all the school children, piloted by their fathers and mothers and a few mother-in-laws thrown in for good measure, and in high spirits, headed for the Eagle where the students and parents were entertained by Miss Stella McNichols, the present incumbent of district 145 who arranged the program and selected one of the most beautiful blue grass lawns, a spot noted for its celebrations for years. Aided by the recent rains and warm weather activities blossomed forth from all sides and social life hit a new high and all too late the students realized its been a pretty good year and regret to see it go.

When the last day of school can be counted on the fingers it suddenly occurs that the home stretch is the best part. The last time they can step forward and prove their abilities and we must confess that it was a delightful and entertaining program. By the time the last contribution was given all had been tried and expressions of encouragement were heard on all sides and enough smiles and grins to be contagious and to make you want to be a happy validictorian. Immediately after the program had been concluded Tom Donohoe and Joe McNichols choose up sides for a ball game. But no one there ever dreamt of Tom being an old Irish Peeler and the way he landed the ball on the nose proved that he had lost none of his hitting ability. All hands enjoyed the feed, ice cream, and the ball seemed a little to lopsided for me. E. E.
