THE NEBRASKA SCENE

By the Lowell Service
Charley Bryan, in his pamphlet boosting tax exemption of homesteads, suggests four items to be subjected to taxation for replacement of the money lost thru homestead exemption. He lists the following:

1. State income tax on personal incomes and a state income tax on corporation gross receipts or net profits.

2. Place a tax on a considerable part of the tax-exempt securities that will be issued in this state.

3. The state should require all federal and state officials and federal and state employees in Nebraska to pay an income tax on the salaries they draw from the government.

4. A sales tax on luxuries, but not on food, clothing, seeds, or farm machinery.

Discussion of these methods for replacement taxation will cause plenty of debate, declare the politicians, in the campaign. Bryan is also lambasting bureaus, commissions and unnecessary agencies of government.

The Lancaster county levy for 1938 has been reduced to 3.75 mills by the county board of equalization. This is .75 of a mill less than that for 1937. Last year the amount brought in was estimated at $579,136.19, and it is estimated that the amount this year will be $483,678.36.

resigned at Scottsbluff to accept the post of executive secretary of the Nebraska State Teacher's association. He succeeds the late Charles Bowers, the post having been temporarily filled by Miss Neola Skala of Lincoln, assistant editor of the Nebraska Educational Journal, until a successor to Mr. Bowers could be found.

The transfer to general staff at Washington, D. C., of Major Walter A. Wood, jr., who has been teaching advanced engineering in the military department of the University of Nebraska for the last two years, has been announced by Colonel W. H. Oury, commandant. Major Wood, who with his family, has left Lincoln for Washington, is to be attached to the transportation and supply section on a four-year detail, effective on August 15. He will be replaced at the university by Captain Ralph E. Cruise, formerly on the harbors and rivers engineering staff at Los Angeles, Calif.

According to recent figures of the traffic bureau, the most dangerous hour to drive an automobile in Lincoln is between 5 and 6 o'clock p. m. Up to August 1, there have been fewer traffic accidents in 1938 than during the same period in 1937. There were 1,156 accidents during that period last year and but 989 this year. The 140 traffic accidents in Lincoln during July was one less than the number during June. Thirty-four days have been passed without a fatality.

A refund of 25 cents may be obtained at the county treasurer's office by any motorist who paid $1 for a renewal of his driver's license after December 1. The refund is being made since the Supreme court decided that the state could charge only 75 cents to all persons with old driver's licenses, even if they had not obtained new licenses before December 1. Pending decision on the question, county treasurers have set aside 25 cents out of each dollar collected on renewals.

A temporary restraining order has been granted by District Judge Polk to Bernard L. Knudson, preventing A. C. Tilley, head of the state highway department, R. W. Culwell, chief of the motor division of the roads department, and R. F. Weller, chief of the state highway patrol, from canceling, suspending, or revoking Knudson's driver's license. Knudson, who was fined $10 and costs in a court at Gibbon on a charge of driving while intoxicated, claims that the state department has no authority to go beyond the rulings of the court in administering the laws. August 11 has been set as the date for a hearing in regard to a permanent restraining order.

More fossil material has been discovered in 1938 by University of Nebraska diggers than in any other year, according to C. Bertrand Schultz, assistant director of the university museum, who has just returned to Lincoln from western Nebraska. He says that the huge bones of what may be the world's largest prehistoric camel are now being shipped to the museum and will soon be on display. Some very rare fossils have been discovered this summer. The scientists are being helped in their excavations by a crew of about seventy WPA workers.

Cloid J. Wilson, Omaha attorney, has colluded with the discipline committee of the Nebraska Bar association. In the Supreme court a motion was filed to disbar Wilson, the allegation being that he is the sole owner of the "Wholesale Credit Men's Association," and that he used this trade name as means to solicit collection business. In Lincoln, the committee that is supposed to discipline attorneys has been quiescent. Recently a verdict was entered against a firm of attorneys, finding constructive fraud. However, the members of the bar committee on legal discipline have paid no attention to the judgment of the court.

Election Commissioner Anton Tusa refused to let Walter Jurgensen cast a ballot at the primary election. County Attorney James English of Douglas county ruled that conviction of a felony deprived Jurgensen of the right of franchise. The jury found Jurgensen guilty of embezzlement. The attorney general started out proceedings, and Jurgensen was deprived of his office.

Governor Cochran, in answer to the protests against brake and light testing regulations, urged all the testing stations to use common sense in checking automobiles. The governor's views are embodied in a bulletin sent to all testing stations by R. F. Weller, chief of the state highway patrol. Complaints persist that some garage men are charging unholy prices for adjustments and replacements. "Bear in mind," states Weller, "that the inspection of motor vehicles is not intended to rule motor vehicles off the road, but to make safer vehicles on the highways."

State Engineer Tilley has announced that plans are to be filed for a flood control, irrigation and recreation project near South Bend. The project, with estimates ranging to two million dollars, would involve damming the Platte river, digging irrigation ditches, building a thousand air-conditioned cabins, and beautification of hundreds of scenic surroundings. The project is known as "the Ak-Sar-Ben District."

Mrs. Hemmingway informed us that a complete cure was promised with this operation.

The New Deal suffered a crushing defeat at the polls in Idaho last Tuesday when Senator Pope of that state, one of the leaders in new deal policies and the author of the new deal farm legislation, went down to defeat in the democratic primaries before Representative D. Worth Clark, who fought the government reorganization bill and various other White House measures, and was marked for defeat by the powers that be. Pope conceded his defeat Wednesday noon. One by one the roses fall.

In the afternoon, ice cream and cake were served, the guests departing for their homes at about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Ed Matousek, the genial chairman of the county board, was all smiles when in the city Wednesday. Ed was a candidate for renomination as supervisor from his district and was opposed by two other candidates and it was thought by some of Ed's friends that there would be a real battle. But Ed emerged victorious with a clear majority of 173 over both of his opponents, receiving 302 votes to 129 cast for his opponents. He will scrap it out this fall with Jesse James, who downed two opponents while winning the democratic nomination.

Robert Vierboom of Highland Falls, N. Y., arrived Monday evening for a couple of weeks visit with old friends in this city and county. As a boy Robert lived in the north-eastern part of the county, some forty-five years ago and attended O'Neill high school. For several years he has been a resident of the
