BOND ELECTION

bonds, if adopted, are going to cost in increased taxation. The valuation of the District in 1937 was approximately $1,230,000. Assuming that the bonds will be paid off in fifteen years and that they will draw 3 1/2% interest, and local banking opinion is that they can be disposed of for less than that figure, the amount required to be raised yearly to retire the bonds and pay the interest over the fifteen year period would be approximately $2,600.00, or a levy based upon the present valuation of 2 1/4 mills. That would mean a cost to the taxpayer of 22 1/2 cents on each $100.00 of assessed valuation. For the past six or seven years the District has been accumulating a Building Fund at the rate of approximately $2,000.00 per year. With this program adopted, the necessity for that building fund will have past and that money can be applied to the payment of bonds and interest which would mean that the school tax would have to be increased only enough to provide an additional $600.00 per year. Some years ago, when the legislature adopted the free high school act it provided that rural schools should make an annual levy for the purpose of paying such free high school tuition. Since that time, the rural schools in this county have annually levied from 2.8 to 3 mills per annum for that purpose. This school district has never had to make such a levy because it has provided a high school but has profited therefrom in that numerous students from rural schools have attended this school whose districts have paid their tuition to this District at the legal rate. The adoption of this proposed program will enable this District to adequately care for all such free high school students desiring to attend school here and by reason of the adoption of vocational training in Agriculture, home economics, trades and industries and increased recreational and athletic facilities will attract additional students whose tuition will assist in defraying the expenses of the District. O'Neill is becoming an educational center. A large number of students who wish to go to school here are prevented because we do not have adequate facilities. This deprives these children of the right to attend the O'Neill school and accordingly loses to us the tuition these children would bring.

With the present school population and the prospects of a steady increase, it is merely a matter of time until the District will be compelled to obtain additional facilities. By accepting this proposition and voting these bonds, the District will be able to obtain an outright cash grant or donation from the Government of $38,250.00. In order to obtain this donation it must be accepted now and work must proceed within a specified limited time. It would seem to be good business on the part of the school district and its tax payers to vote these bonds and obtain this donation rather than delay the matter until such time as the entire cost will have to be borne by the District and its tax payers.

than the mill run of governors but has got a lot of credit for the pay-as-you-go policy which was set up in Nebraska by the constitutional convention. But Mr. Cochran is about as shrewd at the political game as any of them and is campaigning now on an "all-Nebraska vacation."

If I have been correctly informed as to the cost of the election supplies, $23 for each set, not including the ballots, it is costing Holt county $2.50 a vote for the primary in Swan precinct. The total cost for the precinct is just under $50. Out of a voting population of close to 100, just 15 republicans and 4 democrats voted. There are 43 polling places in the county. Adding the cost of the ballots the total for the county runs around $2,500. This is duplicated in November, so it costs us $5,000 to vote. Do away with the primary, simplify and reduce by half the election supplies and the cost of electing our officers could be reduced to a third of the present cost. Mugwumps, politically inclined women, reformers overburdened with ultra civic ideas are ready to hang anyone who lays profane hands on the sacred primary, but I challenge anyone to show where we are better in our government now than under the convention system.

I fell in with Jesse James and Fred Swingley a day last week and went to Burwell, which means we three sat it out together while the boys—and a few ladies—from the ranges of Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, Texas and Oklahoma exhibited their skill in the saddle. Long a prairie dweller I had acquired some proficiency at horsemanship in the days now gone, and Jesse himself having spent much of his earlier life aboard a saddle nag, supposed this sort of thing would hold more interest for us than for one like Fred who had spent nearly half a century in a bank but found him equally alert in noting the fine points of riding exhibitions. In my day, as old men are apt to say, if you stayed in the saddle at all, hung it out until your raw brone was ready to surrender if it took half an hour or half a day. The rodeo rider is required to stay with his mount 10 seconds. All but one at Burwell did so until they tackled the hump of the dun-colored steers when most of them were rolled at the opening of the chute. A Burwell rider made the first successful go of it with the Bramahs. Each time a Nebraska rider rode to a finish he was greeted with cheers. Several thousand were on the grounds and a more orderly, well behaved group of humanity, from concession people and performers to the kids who "sneaked" in, none could ask for.
