Members Of 4-H Clubs To Attend Ak-Sar-Ben

Eight 4-H members from this county will leave Saturday morning to show their 4-H baby beef calves at the Ak-Sar-Ben livestock show in Omaha next week.

Each member will exhibit and sell the baby beef steer which they have fed almost a year in their 4-H club work. These 4-H boys and girls have spent their time and money in an effort to learn how to become better feeders of baby beef cattle and the experience gained in showing at the largest Midwest show will help them achieve their goal.

Richard, Patricia and Shirley Faulhaber from Middlebranch, Jene and Bob Ramm from Stuart and Frank Spath, Irven and Roy Forbes of Amelia are those to be present when the show starts.

Approximately 1100 4-H boys and girls from Nebraska and Iowa will be competing for top honors in the show which will bring together the finest group of fat stock to be shown in the Midwest.

The opportunity to show at the Ak-Sar-Ben show is one that comparatively few people ever receive and the experience will be one that these 4-H boys and girls will always remember and of which local residents can be proud.
