THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

Fifty-Five Years Ago

The Frontier, November 6, 1884
Bank up your houses and otherwise prepare for winter.

The stage in McCafferty's hall being erected by the band boys, will be, when completed, a very fine affair, and a credit to the hall, and altogether a credit to our town. Fred Herre was the designer, Mr. Borroughs and Sam Schram the painters.

Michael Dillon, one of the first settlers in this locality and a man highly esteemed by his neighbors, passed away last week.

The following professional people carried cards in this issue of The Frontier: N. Connally, physician and surgeon; C. D. B. Eisman, physician and surgeon; Cameron & Anglin, physicians and surgeons; A. H. Corbett, dentist; M. P. Kinkaid, attorney; G. M. Cleveland, attorney; Elias M. Lowe, attorney; Thomas Carlon, attorney; N. M. Uttley, attorney; Thos. N. J. Hynes, collection agent and notary public; Mrs. N. Fifty Years Ago

Frontier, November 7, 1889
The Frontier was full of roosters this week celebrating the outcome of the election. Republicans carry the county by 500, electing all candidates except county superintendent. Following are the winners: G. C. Hazlett, county clerk; Barrett Scott, treasurer; H. C. McEvony, sheriff; Dudley, democrat, county superintendent; H. R. Henry, register; E. M. Lowe, county judge; W. W. Page, surveyor; Dr. N. F. Fort, coroner. The vote on county division was as follows: For Victor county 940; against 1781. For Elkhorn county 844, against 1779.

Forty Years Ago

The Frontier, November 9, 1899
We met the enemy and we're their. The populists swept the county clean, with the exception of the office of clerk of the district court, which was won by John Skirving with a majority of 61. Other officers elected were: Leis, county clerk; Stewart, sheriff; Selah, county judge; Norvall, county superintendent; Henry, county treasurer.

Thirty Years Ago

The Frontier, November 11, 1909
R. H. Parker has a new motorcycle and is now able to get around fast enough to look after his growing real estate trade. Henry Grady has again taken up his duties as driver of rural route number one and will continue thereon until he enters upon his duties as sheriff next January. The dedicatory services of the Episcopal church were held last Sunday in the handsome little place of worship recently built here.

Twenty Years Ago

The Frontier, November 6, 1919
J. A. Donahoe of this city and John A. Davies of Butte, were elected delegates to the constitutional convention by the voters of Holt and Boyd counties at the special election held last Tuesday. Paul Sullivan, of the Michigan settlement, died at his home six miles northeast of this city last Friday morning at the age of 80 years. S. J. Weekes broke all records for the year on the O'Neill golf course when he made the rounds in thirty-nine. This is the second time the course has ever been played so low.

Ten Years Ago

The Frontier, November 7, 1929
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oppen of Creighton were here Tuesday visiting their sons and daughter, also attending the funeral of Henry Zimmerman. Henry J. Zimmerman, one of the pioneers of this city and one of the oldest cream buyers in Nebraska, passed away at the home of his son, Clarence, last Sunday morning. He was 78 years of age. Leo J. Mullen and Miss Winnard Shaughnessy were joined in holy wedlock Tuesday morning at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Monsignor Cassidy officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hiatt, of Boulder, Colo., who have been here visiting their sons and other relatives and friends, left Friday for their home.

Mrs. Leo Hauseman entertained eighteen ladies Tuesday evening, honoring Miss Freda Parr, whose marriage to Matt Beha is announced for November 14.

Dr. J. P. Brown, who attended the International Clinic in Chicago, Illinois, last week returned home on Saturday, Mrs. Brown driving to Sioux City to meet him.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grennan, of South Gate, California, who were here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Hiatt, left Friday for their home.

FOOLS

"No," said the woman, "we don't want any life insurance. If Bill died tomorrow, though I have no business training, I'm sure I could get a position paying as much as he makes. Someone would take care of the children, or they could go into a charity home. And the bank would wait for the mortgage."

"Of course, there would be bills but the merchants would wait for them. Our credit has always been good. Then, too, there would be only three to feed and that would be a saving."

"Children don't need education today. Young Jack would be glad to go to work at fourteen. I know he'd never amount to much but he'd be earning money. And Sally could work as a waitress somewhere."

"Bill and I don't need money for our old age; the government will be paying us big pensions by then. And even though the children have families of their own, they would be glad to take care of us. We'd find a nice home somewhere—old people always do."

"No," said the woman firmly, "you can see we're well taken care of. We don't want any life insurance."—Life Times.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Marron leave in the morning for Fort Dodge, Ia., where they will visit a sister of Mrs. Marron and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. McCarville. On Saturday morning they will go to Iowa City where they will witness the Notre Dame-Iowa football game. They will come home Monday.

L. G. Gillespie returned Tuesday night from his first official trip as head of the Odd Fellows Encampment. During this trip he visited fourteen camps, taking five days for the trip. During his term of office he expects to visit all of the camps in the state, which will take a good deal of his time during the next six months.

The Nebraska football team went down to a crushing defeat at the hands of Missouri last Saturday, thereby the Missourians blasted the hopes of Nebraskans of going through the season undefeated. Their defeat dropped the Cornhuskers from the tenth team in the nation to the class of the also rans. Their defeat also dropped them into third place in the contest for the championship of the Big Six, which was held by Nebraska teams for years, with two more Big Six games to play, one with Kansas and one with Oklahoma, which is now setting on the top of the heap.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Williams spent the week-end in Norfolk, visiting Mrs. Williams' brother, Allen Godkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Halva and family and Donald Bowen visited with friends and relatives at Ewing last Sunday.

GRIEVING over spent money is nowhere near as profitable as rejoicing over money banked
