For That Prince of Good Fellows—YOUR DAD

That Dad of yours! Is he someone taken for granted... whom you see at meal times—or during an infrequent visit back home? Do you often feel a slight irritation because his clothes don't look like those shown in Esquire? Or wonder why the lines are deepening so rapidly about his mouth and eyes? How little do so many of us know of the worries and cares that make up Dad's week days. The coal bill must be paid... the monthly groceries and rent... taxes and insurance, doctor and dentist and—perhaps YOU! How little it takes sometimes to lighten this burden! A cheery word, a flashing smile, a slap on the back man fashion. What a glow it brings to know that somebody cares! And a personal gift be it ever so small often touches him with a feeling almost poignant for Dads are people. Remember then this Prince of Good Fellows—Your Dad—on Father's Day!
