Now You See It—and Now You Don't

Here is a striking example of the ability of Uncle Sam's forces to camouflage cannon in the field. Battery E, 115th field artillery of the Blue army, can be seen easily from the working end of the field gun, but from above where soar the "enemy" scouting planes (see lower picture) it looks just like a field of grain.

George Washington Tied His Horse Here

Back in the days when Americans were fighting the British instead of helping them, George Washington came to Lexington, rallied the forces of the Revolution, and tied his horse to the elm tree outside the Munroe tavern. The tree flourished for over a century and a half, but today it months old, 61/2 inches tall, and gone, blown down by a big wind. It is shown above.

Two new destroyers, the U. S. S. Fitch and the U.S.S. Forrest, were launched within a few minutes of each other at Boston navy yard. Immediately after the launching, keels for two new ships were laid on the ways just vacated. The Fitch, shown above, was sponsored by Mrs. H. Walter Thomas of Salt Lake City, Utah, and was named in memory of her grand-uncle, commander Leroy

More Power to U. S. As Cuba Prepares for Defense Against Invaders

Boring In—at Rock of Gibraltar

There's intense activity at Gibraltar-gateway to the Mediterranean-as British troops seek to make it impregnable to modern weapons. At the left a Tommy is handling a drill in one of the many honeycombed portions of the Rock. Right: One of the huge caverns inside the Rock, with new tracks about to be laid. Inset: A huge defense gun, manned at all times, points out from the base of Gibraltar, a warning to the Nazis.

First Big Gun Practice in War Games

This photograph shows the first use of real ammunition in the Tennessee war games at Camp Forrest-the 155-mm. howitzers of the 123rd artillery using "the real stuff." The guns are shown booming behind a smoke camouflage. The 155-mm. howitzers throw a 95-pound shell some 12,800 yards, but effective range is limited to 10,000 yards.

Your Dreams May Tell Secrets About Yourself

"L UCKY that was just a dream," he thinks, "or I'd lose my job."

But he's wrong. No dream is "just a dream." Often it reveals something in yourself that you never knew—and perhaps should.

Dreams can really help when you take them to heart. You may dream of stains, inkspots, because you're feeling guilty about some-thing. Thinking out what it is might relieve you greatly.

Instead of lightly dismissing these dreams, use them to help solve your prob-lems. Our 32-page booklet gives the scientific explanations for several dreams—flying, falling off a cliff, running from wild animals and other typical dream situations. Tells why some dreams are "pro-phetic." For your copy send your
