

THE FRONTIER

VOL. LXII

O'NEILL, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, July 24, 1941

Number 11

SOUTHWESTERN BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders

It comes as somewhat of a shock to most of us that our resplendent army officers, far from being the honored heroes we have always thought them to be, are merely a group of henpecked husbands.

The dignity of stately surroundings received another shock when the chief executive announced from the White House that he was not going to "pull a Wheeler."

Our last heavy rain, preceded by violent wind, took a toll young turkeys, while lighting lay low a Holstein cow at the Tom Doolittle ranch. The benefit in moisture far outweighs the losses.

I understand the O'Neill quartet that went to the northern lakes expecting to get a change of diet out of the crystal waters at the head of the Mississippi were glad to get home and have a good Nebraska beefsteak.

Maybe we have this CIO all wrong. Maybe that's what we need out here. How come? Well, there's a citizen who employed a boy a day and a half working in the hot sun and then handed the boy two thin dimes—and hadn't give him a dinner.

Pete Duffy backed by the great state of Nebraska and the decree of our court, reached out an inexorable arm and laid hold on a young citizen at a nearby ranch and has placed him in storage in the reformatory at Lincoln. The young man fell into the somewhat popular, but precarious habit of receiving his own financial stringency by means of forged checks.

Wonder what the old hombros out around Ogallala think of a thing like that Triecounty dam run across miles of their range.

Atkinson is in the good graces of our chief down at the state house; appointments with attendant emoluments having fallen into the laps of two worthy citizens, and now we understand the governor is to further honor the metropolis of western Holt by his presence there hay days.

Perhaps Con Keys up just west of the county seat by the picturesque Elkhorn can tell how to take care of the shortage of farm help. Original in everything, Con has a way of his own of getting a hired man and he selects a tramp. Says he has good luck with them, identifying a tramp by the simple fact that they come up the street with a coat under an arm. The coats, Con used to say, served at night as a pillow or covering, according to weather.

Up at the county seat a recent Sunday night I thought to attend the evening services of one of the several churches but learned there were no such services. There was opportunity for eating and drinking, amusements and sports—nothing for the spiritual or intellectual. When life's shadows have begun to lengthen, when the low descending sun of this mortal pilgrimage hangs not far from the horizon, when the hair at your temples has faded to a dull grey and wrinkles have marked the passing of the years and life's outlook is focused on the sombre and inexorable realities, the fleeting things which once gratified and amused the senses have lost their charm and you reach out to lay hold on the things of enduring value. I wonder if there are not enough such at O'Neill to fill a few pews Sunday evening.

John Kerssenbrock, Mayor,

Mary M. Hancock

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church, Inman, Nebraska, for Mrs. Mary M. Hancock of Inman, at 10:00 A. M. July 21st. Services were conducted by the Rev. E. E. Maxcy of Inman, assisted by Rev. S. M. Ohmart of O'Neill. The favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by the Adult Choir of the Inman M. E. church. Interment in the Inman Cemetery. The pallbearers were A. N. Butler, Karl Keyes, Leon Tomkies, Earl Watson, John Sobotka and W. H. Chickens.

Mary Matilda Hancock, daughter of Lorenzo Dow Frantz and Christina Aherns was born February 12, 1859 at Burlton, Indiana, and died at Inman, Nebraska, July 19, 1941, at the age of 82 years, 5 months 7 days.

At the age of 2½ years her mother died, and her father soon thereafter enlisted in the Civil War. She then made her home with her grandmother and other relatives.

On January 11, 1876, she was united in marriage to Jonathan Perry Hancock, a soldier boy of the Civil War, at Burbon, Indiana. To this union seven children were born, the eldest a son, Ora Delbert, dying in infancy.

In 1879 they left Indiana by the covered wagon route and started for Nebraska to establish a home in the west, stopping at Selma, Iowa, where they resided about two years. They then came to Nebraska and for a few months lived at Arlington and Fremont. They homesteaded seven miles northeast of Inman for three years, after which they moved to Inman where they operated a hotel for a number of years. A few years were spent on a farm west of Inman, after which they moved to Inman, where she has since resided.

Mrs. Hancock was a woman of sterling qualities; she had strong religious convictions, and united with the Methodist Church while yet a young woman, and while she had been unable to attend church services was true to her faith as she saw it. She took a very keen interest in all civic and political affairs.

She was a devoted mother, and her family was always her first interest. She is survived by six children: Robinetta Malone, Inman; Claude P. Hancock, of Craig, Nebraska; Wilbur C. Hancock of O'Neill; John J. Cheyenne, Wyo.; Mrs. June Bowen, Waycross, Ga.; Mrs. Gladys Marsh, Enid Okla. She also leaves seventeen grandchildren, and eighteen great grandchildren; one half sister, Mrs. John Davids of Clara City, Minnesota, and a host of friends.

People from out of town attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hancock and son Marlin Craig; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hancock, Edmund Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Hull and Mrs. Vance Kline, all of O'Neill; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hancock and sons Jack and Bill of Cheyenne, Wyoming; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marsh, Enid Oklahoma; Miss Florence Malone, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spann, Mrs. Mary Spann, Atkinson; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hancock of Beatrice; Wayne Hancock, Tekamah; Mrs. Maggine Duhachek and daughter Blanche, Mrs. Vern Lyons and Miss Katherine Smith of Newman Grove and many other out-of-town friends.

CARD OF THANKS

Words can hardly express our appreciation to our Neighbors and many friends who did so much for us and who in such a great measure brought happiness to our beloved mother during her long illness, and who were so kind to us during her death and funeral and for the lovely floral offerings. Mrs. C. J. Malone and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hancock and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hancock and sons, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Bowen and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Marsh.

John Kerssenbrock, Mayor,

Names Of Members Of New FSA Council

Names of members of the new county FSA council and of the various committees working with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the local application of the Farm Security Administration program were announced today for Holt County by Gerald S. Graybiel, rehabilitation supervisor.

Names of members, as approved by the Department of Agriculture and addresses, follow: Lyndle R. Stout, O'Neill; Arthur E. Spittler, O'Neill; Joseph C. Stein, O'Neill; Edward M. Murray, O'Neill; and John W. Riege, Page.

The council membership overlaps the membership on other FSA committees. Some members are on the council only, some are on the council and on a committee, and some are on a committee only. Membership of the committees follow:

FSA farm debt adjustment committee: Joseph W. Rocke, Atkinson; Edward M. Murray, O'Neill; and John W. Riege, Page.

Rural rehabilitation advisory committee: Leon D. Putnam, O'Neill; Mrs. Ruth G. Rector, O'Neill; and John W. Riege, Page.

In a recent communication to Mr. Graybiel, county supervisor in this county, and to others, Carl A. Ward, regional FSA director, Lincoln, Nebraska, said: "Local citizens know their own problems much better than any outside officials could know them. The county FSA council of local substantial citizens with the interest of home farmers at heart and in sympathy with the self-rehabilitation program, can do much to help farm families develop local resources, build community cooperation and cooperatives where feasible and improve the general welfare and opportunities of farm families."

It is being emphasized in all FSA personnel meetings, Graybiel said that strong national defense depends on existence of large numbers of reasonably self-sufficient communities, and that neighborhoods cannot be self sufficient with many of their people subject to sub-standard living conditions. Rehabilitation is being regarded as a community responsibility because it involves adjustment of local debts, farm and home planning, cropping systems, soil conservation, livestock production, local government costs and taxes and other factors that have community-wide application.

The county council will meet at stated intervals and members will be reimbursed, through FSA, for their time and work. They will cooperate closely, it was stated, with the county land use planning committee, AAA committee and other community groups in problems as they affect low-income farm families. They will work with the FSA personnel in making the rehabilitation program effective locally and will assist in spreading knowledge of these problems and programs of work among the people of the county.

Council members will work with FSA personnel and other groups in encouraging group meetings and group discussions pertaining to all phases of agricultural and community life problems. Mr. Graybiel said community or group meetings would figure largely this coming year in the development of the rehabilitation program.

Edward Smolek

Edward Smolek died at the O'Neill General Hospital last Saturday morning following a heart attack after an illness of but a few hours. He was an employee of Felix Hendricks, northeast of this city when taken ill and was brought to the hospital here, but lived only a few hours. He was 57 years one month and 9 days of age at the time of his death. The body was taken to Verdigris by the Biglin ambulance Monday morning and the funeral was held there from the Z. C. B. J. hall at 2 o'clock that afternoon and burial in the Verdigris cemetery.

Deceased was born in Chicago on June 10, 1884, and came to Knox county with his parents 53 years ago. He had never married and spent his life time working on farms in Knox and Holt counties. It is said that he was a very good worker and a splendid citizen. He leaves five brothers and four sisters to mourn his passing, all of whom except two are residents of Knox county.

Dean Of Merchants Entertains Faculty Of St. Mary's Academy

Resplendent in full evening dress, the dean of O'Neill merchants, P. J. McManus, headed a group of four automobiles that pulled up at St. Mary's academy at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening to take Mother Virginia and fourteen sisters of the faculty of the academy to Mr. McManus' home on Everett and Fifth streets to see brought to full fruition a desire he had long entertained to show in a practical way his interest in the academy and expression of appreciation of the work the institution in doing in our midst.

Msgr. McNamara, Father Parr and John Sullivan, a brother of Mother Virginia, who early residents of O'Neill knew as Loretta Sullivan, were also among the guests. The group was entertained on the lawn, trim and green with a row of elms along the west border casting their grateful shadow. Band Master George led his company of juvenile musicians from the schools to participate in the evening's entertainment by rendering Irish melodies from the musical throats of 80 band instruments.

Nine tables topped with linen pieces were set on the lawn and the guests were served with ice cream and angel food cake. Nine young ladies Constance Biglin, Constance Golden, Virginia Coyne, Ellen McKenna, Dorothy Ryan, Alma Wallace, Bernadette Brennan and Mrs. F. N. Cronin, all dressed in white, served at the tables.

Mr. McManus had the happy thought to spend the two hours from 6 to 8, in an old fashion visit with his guests rather than a formal program functioning "after dinner" talks and his guests with hearty handshakes expressed sincere gratitude for the simple pleasures of the evening and departed with best wishes for their esteemed host.

O'Neill's New White Way In Operation

The sixteen new lights that have been installed in the four downtown blocks the past two weeks were turned on for the first time last evening and the central part of the city looks like a different place when the lights are turned on. A wonderful improvement.

Commodity Loans Now Available To Those Who Obeyed Orders

Commodity loans are now available to anyone who has not overplanted his depleting allotment. All bins for storing commodity grains should be in good repair and suitable for holding grain for at least two years. Farmers may assign their ACP payments for the purpose of purchasing and repair of storage facilities by calling at the Holt County AAA office and executing the necessary forms. All will mature on demand on April 30, 1942, and will be nonrecourse loans bearing 3% interest from date of loan. All taxes to be paid in full up to date before a loan can be granted.

Personal taxes may be deducted from the loan if desired by the producer. Insurance on all sealed grain must be provided by the producer. It must cover the face value of the note plus interest to July 1, 1942. Fees for operating expenses of the loan programs will be borne by the borrowers through the collection of service fees as follows:

Each applicant for a loan secured by collateral stored on the farm will pay a service fee of 1c per bushel on the net number of bushels placed under loan. This information applies to all commodity loans. The following information applies to each specified commodity:

Wheat: Loan rates on wheat have been established at 97c for No. 1 wheat; 96c for No. 2; 94c for No. 3; 91c for No. 4; and 88c for No. 5. A stroage payment of 7c per bushel can be earned by the producer if the wheat is delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation on or after April 30, 1942. Should the producer desire to build or repair storage facilities for the 1941 wheat crop, he may draw the 7c storage at the time the loan is made. Should he desire to pay off his loan and redeem his wheat anytime prior to April 30, 1942 the full amount of the storage advance plus interest thereon must be refunded to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Rye: The loan value on rye grading No. 3 or better is 50c per bushel with no storage allowance.

Barley: Eligible barley will have the following loan values: No. 1, 45c; No. 2, 44c; No. 3, 42c; No. 4, 39c; and No. 5, 35c. A discount of 2c bushel shall be made for mixed barley. No storage allowance will be made.

Must Get Permission

We wish to again remind every wheat producer that before either 1940 or 1941 wheat can be sold, he must obtain from the Holt County AAA office a wheat Marketing Card for presentation at the time of selling the wheat. If a wheat Marketing excess is determined, the producer has three ways of overcoming it: (1) he may pay the penalty of 49c per bushel; (2) he may deliver it to the Secretary of Agriculture; or (3) he may have it sealed or stored on his farm. Any one having any question regarding the wheat marketing quota should feel free to call at the Holt County AAA office and have it explained by the county committeemen.
