Prices On Livestock Firm Receipts Light

Bad weather coupled with the annual holiday activity held back livestock receipts last Monday, but all divisions were fairly well represented and action was very good. Buyers were plentiful for so late in the season and prices ruled fully steady to stronger on all classes. Quality was mostly medium to good.

The best steer calves reached $13.40. This price was paid for a few outstanding individuals. Bulk of this class moved mostly from $11.75 to $12.75. Load lots of steer calves paid $12.35; their heifer mates cashed at $11.80.

Yearling steers paid upwards to $11.65 with the bulk going from $10.50 to $11.25. Heifers placed from $9.00 to $10.00.

Two year olds were scarce and looked about steady. However too few were here to make a quotable market.

Cows were plentiful and prices held fully 25c higher on the good kinds. The best young fat cows paid $8.50. Others sold from $7.50 to $8.00. Bulls showed considerable strength and reached $9.10.

A heavy run of hogs showed up and the market was very active. Butchers topped at $10.85 with the long end cashing at $10.75 and $10.80. Sows paid an extreme top of $9.80 with $9.60 to $9.70 catching the bulk. Pigs reached $13.75. The next auction will be held on Monday, January 5.

O'Neill Merchants Had Fine Holiday Business

Although the weather this fall was unseasonable, Indian summer weather being the rule until just before Christmas, O'Neill merchants report having had a splendid business during the holidays. Many of the stores of the city far exceeded their sales for 1940, despite the fine weather.

O'Neill is recognized as the trading center for the people of the counties of Holt, Boyd, Garfield, Rock, Keya Paha counties and the western half of Antelope and Knox and during the month of December there was hardly a day but what residents of these counties were in the city trading in our various mercantile establishments. Being the largest city in this section of the state, O'Neill has more and larger stores than any of our surrounding towns, so the people come here to trade, where they have a variety to pick from. Then too, the merchants of O'Neill have done more advertising this year than they have for several years, which helped to bring customers to their doors. Here's hoping that 1942 will be a better year for business men generally and in fact for all of us, than was 1941.

The body was brought to this city, arriving Wednesday morning and the funeral was held that morning at 10:30 at the Presbyterian church, Dr. Spencer officiating and the remains were taken to Grigory, S. D., for interment at the side of his parents.

Wallace McKim was a native of Dennison, Iowa. He came to this county something over twenty years ago and since that time has been ranching southeast of this city.

He was a bachelor and leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and one uncle. They are: Lee McKim, Gregory, S. D.; Carol McKim, Chicago; one uncle, Mount Kreger, Bloomfield, Nebr. His brothers were present at the funeral and had been at his bedside at the Omaha hospital for two weeks prior to his death.

Wallace was a genial and companionable man and had a host of friends in this city and vicinity where he was well known. About a year ago put in several months in an Omaha hospital, turning in the spring feeling fine and had enjoyed good health until about two months ago when he suffered another spell and was taken to Omaha for treatment. For a time he appeared to improve, but the disease from which he suffered had taken a firm grip and a couple of weeks ago it was known that he would not survive and he passed away peacefully Monday morning.

SPORT NOTES

Bystander

As long as this is the Christmas vacation and there are no basketball games this week, thought I would write today about the bowl games on New Year's day.

The biggest bowl game, the Rose Bowl, which has been played at Pasadena, California, for many years will not be played there on account of the war. The authorities don't want a large crowd of people because they would be in danger of bombing, so Duke, the team chosen by Oregon State, invited the Oregon State team and people to go to Durham, North Carolina, the home of Duke, and play the game there and Oregon State accepted. So, instead of playing at Pasadena the game will be played in North Carolina, before a crowd of 55,000 people. At Pasadena they would have played before a crowd of about 100,000. But the Oregon State people and the Rose Bowl officials can be grateful that Duke offered the use of their stadium. In this game I pick Duke to beat Oregon State, but it will be a very close game. I give the edge to Duke mainly on account of their playing at home and it makes a big difference.

In the Sugar Bowl there will be about 75,000 people watching the Fordham Rams play the Missouri Tigers. It will be a very good game and as the Missouri people rooted for Nebraska last fall when they played in the Rose Bowl and lost with a score of 13 to 21, to one of the best teams in this year, Stanford, Nebraskans this year will root for Missouri. The Rams have a better passing attack but Missouri, which was fourth in the nation in yards gained from the ground, will outplay Fordham and I give Missouri a slight edge, although this also will be a close game.

The next bowl game on our list is the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas, Texas, where Alabama vs. the Texas Aggies will contest. This will be a good game, but I will stay with Alabama because I think they have the better team.

In the Orange Bowl game at Miami, Florida, Georgia will play Texas Christian and I pick Georgia on account of their marvelous team based around All American Frank Sinkwink.

These are my predictions for the important Bowl games in the nation on New Year's Day. I have tried to pick them the best I can and am not saying that they will be all right, for nobody can do that. See you next week.

Mrs. Helen Simar spent Christmas at the home of her brother, W. L. Schultz in Atkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murphy spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ford in Atkinson.
